WILL RACE NO MORE.

Lord Dunraven's Yacht Being Prepared for the Sea Trip.

QUICK WORK BY THE SEAMEN.

The English Newspapers Are All in Support of His Action.

AMERICAN METHODS DECRIED.

The Britishers Claim They Cannot Get Fair Play Over Here.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Valkyrie III. left her anchorage at Bay Ridge today and went to Erie Basin.

On arrival at the Basin the Valkyrie was hauled into a position between two steamers just outside the dry-dock, where she had several times been drifted out for cleaning and repairing purposes.

The crew, under the command of Captains Cranfield and Sycamore, were immediately set to work to strip the yacht and prepare for the voyage across the ocean home.

The sailors worked with their usual alacrity and effectiveness, and before 11 o'clock had lowered the topmast and removed the bowsprit gear.

The yacht will doubtless be ketch-rigged for the ocean voyage, as she was when she sailed from England for America.

WILL NOT RACE AGAIN.

Whatever doubt may have existed as to Lord Dunraven's intention of racing the Valkyrie in this country again was dispelled this morning by H. Maitland Kersey.

"When seen by a reporter he said "No, the Valkyrie will never race again on this side of the Atlantic. The races are over and that settles it. I have nothing more to say on that point."

"It was rumored last evening that Lord Dunraven intends to start for Niagara Falls today," said the reporter.

"If that is so the rumor is false. He may go to Newport in a day or two, when I cannot say."

Mr. Kersey, speaking of the offer of C. J. Taylor of Boston, said that as Lord Dunraven had decided not to race his yacht again in America it would be idle to discuss that or any other such offer.

JOHN BULL INDIGNANT.

The Britishers All Think That Dunraven Has Been Badly Treated.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—The conclusion of the International yacht races for the America's cup furnished a text for articles in all the London afternoon papers.

In general, the press upholds Lord Dunraven in his refusal to sail over the course yesterday without the guarantee it would be kept clear of excursion steamers and other craft.

In a leader the Pall Mall Gazette says the result is unfortunate and will be deplored quite as deeply by sportsmen in America and by the same class in England.

The article puts the whole blame for the fiasco upon the hindering steamers and concludes: "But no one is to blame who is worth blaming. We can only hope arrangements for future contests of this character will be under more satisfactory conditions."

In its yachting column the Pall Mall Gazette says: "While, in our opinion, the Defender, under fair conditions, would probably have beaten the Valkyrie in at least three out of the five races, we can not but regret the Valkyrie had no chance of sailing under fair conditions. To say the Defender worthily retained the cup would be ridiculous."

Further on, in the same article, the Gazette says: "We hope Earl Dunraven will consent to sail for the proposed cup off Marblehead, as all are anxious to see the comparative merits of the yachts tested and see the best boat win.

"Should the Valkyrie win, which we thing improbable, neither Lord Dunraven nor any one else would bother to challenge again for America's cup, which the new trophy would replace.

"Should the Valkyrie lose we know Lord Dunraven would take the beating like a sportsman. Thus the races of 1895 would be brought to a pleasant conclusion and a further challenge for the new cup would be only a matter of a few years.

"If Valkyrie III returns without the race it means the owner is convinced he did not get fair treatment at the hands of the committee and no contest for the cup is likely to occur, even though the committee decided in future it would be sailed where there was a certainty of a fair course."

The Sun, which throughout has made sneering comments upon Americans as sportsmen, says a feeling has grown up here that fair competition must not be looked for in the contest for the cup, but adds it does not sympathize with the view.

The Evening News says the whole business is in the highest degree discreditable to the reputation of Americans as good sportsmen.

The Westminster Gazette says: "Of course we all love our Americans very much, but our newspapers beg to assure them we all cordially support Lord Dunraven's retiring in disgust from the contest involving so much rowdyism and unfairness."

The St. James Gazette says: "Once again the great Anglo-American sporting contest has ended muddily in a fiasco and quarrel, a not unusual experience."

The Globe puts the entire blame upon the excursion steamers and thoroughly indorses Earl Dunraven's course, which "maintained to the full the high traditions of British sport."

LEFT OUT THE ADS.

The New York "World" Shows Enterprise After Its Fire.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Sept 13.—This morning the World was probably the only regular issue of a newspaper which contained not a line of advertising.

The flooding of the press room on account of the fire reduced the press capacity so it was possible to print only eight pages.

Eight solid pages of advertising were thrown away rather than cut the news.

In spite of the delays due to the fire itself and consequent upon it which included the stopping of all the type setting machines by the cutting off of gas, the paper went to press on time.

The World is receiving from newspapers throughout the country expressions of regret at its loss.

The World expresses gratitude for the cordial interest manifested, assuring its friends no serious damage has been done, owing to the fire-proof nature of the building.

A THINKER GONE.

Death of Dr. Wakefield, the Oldest Mason in the World.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 13.—Rev. Dr. Samuel Wakefield died today at West Newton.

Dr. Wakefield was said to be the oldest Mason and the oldest preacher in the Methodist Episcopal church, and likely the oldest of any denomination in the world.

He had been a member of the Masonic fraternity almost seventy-five years.

He published several books on theology and music when comparatively young, which made him widely known. "Wakefield's Theology" has become classic in the life time of the Methodist Episcopal church.

KEEPING OUT THE CHOLERA.

Strict Quarantine to Be Kept on the Pacific Coast.

Canada Joins Hands in the Efforts to Head Off the Disease.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Dr. Wyman, surgeon-general of the Marine Hospital service, speaking of the cholera in Honolulu, said today the quarantine service on the coast is in very good condition.

Every entry has been inspected by regular marine hospital officers and compliance with the treasury regulations is assured.

The Marine Hospital service has quarantine establishments at Port Townsend, Washington, San Diego, California; and a complete quarantine plant at San Francisco, with regular officers of the service in charge.

At Gray's Harbor, Washington, there is a sanitary inspector of the marine service and also one at Empire City, Oregon.

The Columbia River, which includes the ports of Portland and Astoria, Oregon, are in charge of state officers acting under special instructions issued by the Marine Hospital service.

At Eureka, California, there is a regular sanitary inspector.

A special regulation has been issued regarding the disinfection of all baggage from all ports of the Orient, including Hawaii.

The United States consul at Yokohama, has a physician to assist him in the inspection of vessels.

Dr. Wyman wrote to the chief quarantine officer of Canada to inquire what has been done regarding protecting the northern frontier from immigrants coming by way of British Columbia.

He was informed that the Canadian authorities had been forestalled by the steamship companies, who, as long ago as July, refused to bring Japanese immigrants, because of the detention in vessels.

A DOCTOR'S TROUBLE.

Ambrosemf Is Now Seeking a Writ of Habeas Corpus.

Dr. S. A. Ambrosemf objects to submitting his liberty to Mrs. Job Mack-Franklin's love caprices. When the lady married she asked to be released from the doctor's bond which was keeping him out of jail, he having been convicted of practicing medicine without having first obtained a certificate. Her request was granted and the doctor was marched into prison.

Now through his attorneys he intends asking the court by a writ of habaes corpus to order his release from durance vile on the grounds that he is still entitled to liberty by reason of his bond.

To Test an Ordinance.

A. L. Gould, the drayman who was arrested and found guilty in the Police Court for not complying with the law respecting draymen's licenses, was in the Police Court for sentence this morning.

He asked that the matter be postponed for one week as he intended testing the validity of the ordinance. He has seen his fellow draymen and they have arranged a meeting for Monday night at which they will bring their contributions for hiring an attorney and paying other expenses of the contest.

THE DRAIN OF GOLD.

Over Four and a Half Million Dollars' Worth Off to Europe.

THE TREASURY FUND EBBING.

It Is Believed the Syndicate Will Come to the Rescue.

NO MORE BONDS PROBABLE.

Senator Peffer Runs Up a War Flag Regarding the Matter.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The following announcements of gold shipments by tomorrow's steamers have been made; W. H. Crossman & Bro., $1,000,000; Hoskier, Wood & Co., $500,000; Hard & Rand, $200,000; Nesslage & Fowler, $100,000 Lazard Freres, $2,500,000; Handy & Harman, $150,000

Handy & Harman increased their shipment to $250,000, making the aggregate thus far $4,350,000.

Zimmerman & Forshay will forward £2000 English gold tomorrow.

The fact that Lazard Freres are important members of the government bond syndicate, increases the already great surprise regarding the gold shipments.

A member of the firm made the following statement to the Associated Press: "We believed that during the first of September a sufficient amount of grain and cotton and other bills would have been offering and the necessity of exporting this gold would thus be averted. Our shipment of gold is an imperative necessity in order to fulfill business obligations with Europe. We hope it will be a temporary expedient, and that within the next few weeks plenty of bills will be offering and everything come around all right."

The firm recites the low price ruling for our breadstuffs, the slow movement of cotton and the fair supply of that staple already in European hands as the causes for the shipment of gold.

BANKS TO THE RESCUE.

The Hanover National bank has deposited $500,000 at the sub-treasury in exchange for greenbacks.

The sum of $500,000 was withdrawn from the sub-treasury this morning. It is part of the engagements announced for shipment.

The National Park bank has deposited $1,500,000 gold at the sub-treasury in exchange for greenbacks.

The National Bank of Commerce and American Exchange National bank have each deposited in the sub-treasury $200,000 gold in exchange for greenbacks.

The National City bank will probably deposit between $500,000 and $1,000,000.

WHAT THE SYNDICATE SAYS.

J. Pierpont Morgan, the head of the government bond syndicate, when asked as to the rumors of the dissolution of the syndicate, replied: "The syndicate is still in the field. There has been no rupture. The syndicate will continue to do all it can to help maintain the treasury gold reserve at the $100,000,000 mark. The obligations of the syndicate expired, however, some time ago."

Morgan expressed surprise at the slow movement of the cotton crop and the present scarcity of bills against breadstuffs.

He said undoubtedly the offerings of those bills will be daily increased in the next few weeks and thus a safeguard against the exports will be made.

The president of a large down town bank said the syndicate was accumulating gold as fast as possible, and this would be turned over to the treasury.

The example of the Hanover National bank in depositing $500,000 this morning for greenbacks is expected to be followed this afternoon by a number of other New York banks.

EFFECT ON THE MARKET.

The engagements of gold at the sub-treasury up to 11 o'clock, aggregating $4,500,000 for export on tomorrow's steamers had a demoralizing effect on share speculation. The quotations at 11 o'clock were ⅛ to 2 per cent below final transactions yesterday. All the leading shares participated in a downward movement and there was no abatement of pressure at 11.

The tendency of prices continued downward until 11:30. Meanwhile declines had occurred ranging from ⅛@3¼ per cent, compared with last night's final figures. Sugar scored an extreme loss.

Later a firmer tone was evinced and rallies recorded amounting in sugar to 1½ per cent.

THE QUOTATIONS.

Money on call, 1 per cent. Silver certificates, 67⅛@67½c. Bar silver, 67c. Lead, $3.25.

THE TREASURY NOTIFIED.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The news that $4,500,000 had been withdrawn today from the sub-treasury at New York for export was received here with surprise and the announcement created for a moment something like a sensation in the treasury department.

This feeling, however, was shared by the high officials, who apparently regard the withdrawal as an incident to the speculative spirit that seems to pervade Wall street.

By some officials it is thought the withdrawals are made with the sole purpose of forcing another bond issue.

It can be stated, however, on excellent authority there will not be another issue of bonds and none will be needed.

Those cognizant of the fact state the Morgan-Belmont syndicate, under the terms of the contract, undoubtedly will protect the gold reserve against the inroads of speculators and will see to it that a reasonable balance is maintained.

No doubt is expressed that as soon as the grain shipments from the Northwest come in there will be an abundant supply of foreign bills on the market to meet every demand and the withdrawals it is thought must necessarily cease.

Today's statement of the condition of the treasury shows an available cash balance of $181,962,586 and a gold reserve of $99,568,374.

TO FIGHT MORE BONDS.

TOPEKA, Kan., Sept. 13.—Senator Peffer said today that if another issue of bonds be made without authority of Congress he will introduce in the Senate a resolution for their repudiation.

About a Hundred People Suffering From the Fireworks Disaster.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 13.—The unprecedented hospitality and good will in connection with the twenty-ninth encampment of the G. A. R. closes with sadness.

While the funerals of the five victims of Wednesday's explosion were in progress, fully 100 people were suffering from their injuries received at the collapse of the grand stand during the display of fire works last night.

In addition to the fifty names of injured given in these dispatches last night, Mrs. H. Hirschfield, who had her feet there are about fifty others who were taken to their homes in carriages by friends.

Only the names of those taken away in ambulances were available.

The hospitals are full of patients suffering from the effects of the heat and injuries received at the accident last night, mashed and hip dislocated, may not recover.

Edward Hoard, a musician of Springfield, Ohio, who was not on the grand stand but on the top of the sanitary booth that escaped during the fire works, is in a critical condition.

While the Ladies of the G. A. R. and the Woman's Relief Corps, as well as the national encampment proper, continued their sessions today, there was a special attraction for people who are not delegates to these assemblages.

At Wonder Park, the entire day was devoted to the greatest "old Kentucky barbecue" ever spread.

All day the street cars were overtaxed by the multitude en route to the great frolic of Blue and Gray, at which the former were the special guests.

His Resolution Calling for a Twenty-five Per Cent Cut Carried.

The Preparation of the New Schedule Is to Start at Once.

AN APPEAL TO BE TAKEN.

The Railroad Contends That Pledges Prejudged Its Case.

(Special to The Tribune).

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—Dr. Stanton has won his fight.

His resolution calling for a reduction of 25 per cent in the freight rates was adopted at the meeting of the Railroad Commission this afternoon.

La Rue and Stanton voted aye and Clark said no.

The preparation of a schedule cutting down the rates will at once commence for though the resolution does not call for an immediate reduction the new rating will be arranged very shortly.

The railroad will contest the matter in the courts.

In the first place it will claim that its case was prejudged by the platform pledges of Stanton and La Rue.

If this fails it will attack the constitutionality of the Railroad Commission.

POLICE COURT NEWS.

A Colored Picnic Case Called Before Judge Wood.

Judge Wood had a light calendar this morning. Two men, one Chinaman and a woman were the only dock ornaments. One of the men, Moses Alnick, was given thirty days for drunk. The woman was given ten days for the same offense and the Chinaman was the recipient of a pressing invitation to spend the next sixty days as the city's guest for petty larceny.

The case of Ah Wing the seller of Chinese lottery tickets was called for sentence. Mr. Bradley, his attorney, explained that the defendant was ill. He had not the proper physicians certificate necessary for a continuance and besides issuing an attachment for the offender the court declared the cash bail of $150 forfeited.

Herman De Bois, charged with battery, pleaded not guilty and had his trial set for the 20th.

Louis Housmith pleaded not guilty to disturbing the peace, and his trial was set for the 20th.

The colored society had celebrated Admission Day with a picnic at Pittsville. On the way home H. A. Smith, an "artist" with the razor and shears disturbed the peace and quiet of W. E. Roseboro, the conductor of the car on which the offender was riding. The conductor told how Smith had walked up and down the car aisle, talked in a loud voice, sat too close to a lady and smashed the hat of a fellow picnicker over his ears. The friends of the defendant said he had acted "jes jubly" and in strict accordance with rules of "returning-from-picnics etiquette." The court thought his behavior was about right and found him not guilty.

FELL FROM A WHARF.

Manuel Carria's Body Found Floating in the Estuary.

The body of Manuel Carria was found yesterday afternoon floating in the creek near the foot of Linden street by three lads who saw the body and reported it to Officer Kyte.

Carria was a six year old lad and lived with his widowed mother and sisters at 708 Franklin street. He was missing from his home since last Friday. On that day with two companions he went to play on the Webster street wharf. He was missed by his playmates when they were ready to return but they thought he had gone home without them.

PHILLIPS DENIES IT.

A Counter Affidavit Filed in the Reeder Case.

Officer Phillips has filed with the court a counter affidavit in which he strenuously denies the charges of A. L. Reeder that he fraudulently advised him to plead guilty, or that Reeder was "buncoed" into prison through him or his efforts.

He says that he was asked by Reeder what to plead and that he told him he knew nothing of the case; for him to plead guilty if he was guilty and not guilty if innocent. He further says however that he did tell Reeder if he demanded a jury trial it would be five or ten days before he could be tried and if they found him guilty the court would probably be more severe in its sentence because of bringing twenty-five or thirty men into court.

Judge Wood refused to rule this morning on Reeder's motion for a new trial and continued the case until tomorrow.

Thomas Moran Fights a Street Assessment Lien.

Thomas Moran does not propose to pay for his share of the cost of grading and macadamizing Eighth street from Market to Peralta street if he can avoid it. Moran has objected to the work and when the California Improvement Company, which had the contract, brought suit to foreclose the lien upon his property, he commenced to fight. Moran filed an answer today to the suit. He claims as justification for refusing to pay the lien that the work was not done in accordance with the specifications as required by the city. Moran will make a hard fight against paying, before he will allow judgment to be taken against him.

USES OF ARGON.

The New Gas May Be of Service in Several Industries.

The discovery has well been called "the triumph of the last place of decimals"—that is, of work so exact that the worker knew that the small difference in the figures he obtained must be due to the presence of an unknown substance rather than to an error in his results. The prediction based on his observation, the search for the disturbing substance, and its discovery, form an achievement which, in the history of science, has perhaps only been surpassed by the prediction of Neptune by Adams and Leverier, and its subsequent discovery by Galle. The elements of recent discovery have all been metals which occur in minute quantities in rare minerals. No non-metallic element has been discovered for nearly 70 years, and the existence of another element belonging to this group did not seem probable; still less likely did it appear that such an element could be present in our atmosphere.

Though unique in its chemical inactivity it would be premature to conclude that argon yet untried, and that it is an absolutely "idle" and useless thing. Prof. Roberts Austen suggests that it may possibly play a part in certain metallurgical operations in which air is largely employed. In making Bessemer steel, for instance, not less than 100,000 cubic feet of air are blown through each charge of metal for the purpose of removing the carbon, silicon, phosphorus and other impurities. In this air there must be over 100 cubic feet of argon. Now, Prof. Roberts-Austen has found by experiment that the nitrogen which can be pumped out of Bessemer blown metal, and which is twice the volume of the metal, contains little or no argon, and the question arises whether the argon may not have united with iron, as nitrogen undoubtedly does and confer upon Bessemer steel some of the peculiarities which distinguish it from other steel. It is, of course, possible, and perhaps more likely, that the argon passes through the molten metal without combining with it, but the suggestion is an interesting one, and well worth experimental examination.

Further, it may prove that argon is in some way taken up by plants, and contributes in an important manner to their nourishment and growth, although the attempts to extract argon from vegetable and animal substances have thus far yielded negative results. As is well known, plants are unable to take nitrogen directly from the air, but obtain it from nitrogenous compounds which are absorbed in solution by their roots. The air is, however, the original source of these compounds, as well as of all other naturally occurring nitrogenous substances, most of which are produced by the life activity of micro-organisms, and from the natural substances all chemical compounds containing nitrogen are prepared.—Popular Science Monthly.

Two Gentlemen and a Wheel.

Lawyer L. L. Harris has lost all faith in humanity—also a brand new bicycle.

Yesterday morning the attorney was engaged to defend a professional borrower before Justice Richardson at the Armory Police Court. In order to assure himself that no one could take liberties with his "bike" while conducting the case, Mr. Harris wheeled it into the general office and leaned it against the steam pipes. Then he tied a placard on the wheel as follows:

"This bicycle is the property of a legal gentleman, who will be back in 20 minutes."

Mr. Harris then entered the court room, and, after expounding the statute and pawing the air for half an hour, lost his case and his fee.

After pocketing his pride in lieu of his fee, the attorney returned to the office, but his "bike" was gone. In its place was another placard, upon which were these words:

"To the Legal Gentleman (?):

"Your wheel was taken by another gentleman who is a 'scorcher.' He won't be back at all."

Mr. Harris swore inwardly and howled outwardly, filed complaints with everybody and then swore out a warrant for John Doe.—Chicago Daily Inter Ocean.

DURRANT DOSED.

Testimony That Puts Him In a Very Bad Light.

HE TALKED AGAINST BLANCHE.

Unsavory Remarks When He Heard She Was Missing.

HER WEIGHT IS IN EVIDENCE.

It Would Be Easy Enough to Carry Her Up the Belfry

By Associated Press to the Tribune.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—This morning testimony in the Durrant case was good for the prosecution and evidence was introduced directly connecting the prisoner with the murder of Blanche Lamont.

The first witness was Richard Charlton, a grocer, who testified that he had weighed Blanche on an average of once a month during her stay in the city. The last time h weighed her was on March 27th or 28th. Then she weighed 118 pounds.

The greatest weight she attained was 121 pounds. Her average weight was 115 pounds.

This was considered a triumph for the prosecution, as showing that such a light weight could be easily carried or dragged up the belfry by Durrant.

The defense had tried to show her weight was 140 pounds.

Henry Shalmount, a conductor on the Sutter street car system, testified that on April 3d Durrant and Blanche Lamont had got on his car at the corner of Mission and Ninth streets.

Durrant sat with his arm on the top of the seat back of Blanche and seemed on very familiar terms with her.

The witness was an excellent one for the prosecution and of the Samuel Weller type.

He resisted all the efforts of the defense to break down his testimony.

He had all his time schedules so firmly fixed in his mind that no cross-examination could fluster him.

He said he identified Blanche by her picture published in the papers after her disappearance and had identified Durrant at the city hall and again saw him as a defendant now in court.

Durrant and Miss Lamont left his car at the corner of Sutter and Polk, taking a transfer to the Polk street cars.

He said Durrant and Blanche appeared to be very jolly together.

Herman J. Schledger, a medical student and classmate of Durrant testified he knew Durrant well.

He had seen him on the morning of April 13th.

He noticed him first at the corner of Ninth and Mission street.

He was accompanied by Blanche Lamont.

Durrant had previously told him the girl was Blanche Lamont.

He had frequently seen them together.

At the corner of Webster and Sutter witness got off the car to go to the medical college.

Afterwards Durrant asked witness if he remembered meeting him with Blanche on that day.

Durrant said at that time that Blanche had disappeared and he (Durrant) feared she had gone into a house of ill-fame.

Durrant had remarked that Blanche was an innocent girl and that he led her easily.

Witness answered all questions with a marked reluctance, evidently trying to protect his fellow-student as far as possible.

Several times in response to questions the witness seemed on the verge of a disclosure but always checked himself in time.

He was a good witness for the people, however, in spite of himself.

The next witness was S. W. Horton, a reporter, who testified he had interviewed Durrant on the night after his arrest.

Durrant told him he had taken a Sutter street car with Blanche Lamont.

Defendant's counsel had been shifting uneasily in their chairs and now said they would admit that Blanche and Durrant had been together on the day she disappeared.

Minnie Bell Edwards was the next witness.

She was a classmate of Blanche and after school boarded the same car at the corner of Powell and Clay streets.

Miss Edwards testified as follows: "When Blanche got on the car Durrant was with her. I went inside. They were outside on the east side of the dummy. Blanche carried school books and wore a black serge dress. I identify these books and dress as those carried and worn on that day."

The attorneys for the defense gave Miss Edwards a long and severe cross-examination but she stuck to her story without a break, positively identifying Durrant as the man accompanying Blanche on the afternoon of April 3rd.

She described minutely how she, how Blanche and how Durrant stood before boarding the car.

She told how Durrant wore his hat and every change of position he made.

She had identified Durrant's portrait when published in the papers and had also identified him at the city hall.

She did not know why she had been summoned as a witness.

She told her story to her school teacher and to no one else.

CAUSTIC COMMENTS.

What the London Press Says of the Cup Committee's Decision.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—While the tone of the best English newspapers, in commenting upon the decision of the cup committee sustaining the Defender's claim of a foul in Tuesday's race, continues to be moderate it must be admitted the committee's decision has produced a general feeling of irritation among the Englishmen.

Adverse comments are heard on all sides.

The Yachtsman says: "The first match could hardly be called a race owing to shameful interference by the excursion steamers. It seems clear that on Tuesday's race the Defender lost nothing by the accident, but was beaten on her merits in a beat to windward. With regard to the Defender's protest, it is impossible as yet to form an opinion, save it would not have been lodged by Valkyrie III had the cases been reversed."

The Sun, which throughout has maintained a tone hostile to America, says: "The Yankees evidently intend to keep the Cup. Possession is nine points of law in America."

The Evening News says: "The whole business savors of sharp practice. No one would quarrel with a decision ordering the race to be resailed, but we can not stomach a paper victory awarded the Defender."

The Pall Mall Gazette dilates upon British patience, good temper and the unquenchable love of justice, and continues: "It is not easy to accept the decision, but we hope we are taking it as sportsmen. It is hardly equitable, but according to the rules of game, we accept it and will try again. It turns out that Iselin is a sportsman with the best of us. We shall have another race."

The St. James Gazette also accepts as a fact the report that Iselin has offered to resail Tuesday's race. The Gazette says: "It is a most sportsmanlike offer. The decision seems clearly and demonstratively wrong, but was authoritative and should be accepted by all."

The Globe says: "The decision is received with the bitterest regret and disappointment. Still, it is the duty of Englishmen as true sportsmen to accept it without complaint or protest."

The Westminster Gazette says: "The decision certainly puts the good feeling of English and American sportsmen to a severe test."

TODAY'S EVENTS DISCUSSED.

The news of the Valkyrie's refusal to sail over the course off Sandy Hook today, was received here too late for comment of the evening papers.

The entire press of London, however, have long dwelt upon the crowding of the course by excursion steamers and have pretty generally taken the position it is impossible to have a fair yacht race in New York harbor.

The general talk this evening is an endorsement of the withdrawal of the Valkyrie.

The Yachtsman, in an issue today says: "Although it is impossible to conceive of such hysterical excitement here as there appears to be at New York, we may be sure if the Royal Yacht squadron found itself seriously hampered by the steamers, it would surely take the necessary steps toward securing a change of venue."

MERGED IN ONE.

The Alameda County Institute and the State Gathering Consolidated.

Dr. A. E. Winship of Boston, who had been engaged to conduct the Alameda County Institute, has telegraphed that owing to sickness, he will be unable to come to California this fall. The Institute will therefore be postponed to January 2d, 3d and 4th, 1896, and will be merged in the State Teachers' Association, which meets in January. This plan will give to the teachers of Alameda county a splendid programme, and also insure a large attendance at the Oakland meeting of the State Association.

DID ALL THEY CAN.

The Health Officials Have Quit on the Crematory Fight.

The Board of Health will hold a meeting tomorrow night. The members intend to do nothing more in the crematory matter. In speaking of it today Health Officer Mayon said that they considered they had done everything in their power to abate the garbage nuisance and they now felt that if any odium is connected with the matter it must be attached to the Council.

THE RATES ARE CUT.

Dr. Stanton's Eight Per Cent Resolution Is Adopted.

AN UNANIMOUS VOTE GIVEN.

The Twenty-Five Per Cent Reduction Is Opposed.

LA RUE SPEAKS AGAINST IT.

No Agreement Arrived at and the Matter Is Continued.

Special to The Tribune.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—At a meeting of the railroad commissioners this afternoon Dr. Stanton's resolution calling for a reduction of 8 per cent on the grain rates was unanimously adopted.

Stanton's resolution calling for a reduction of 25 per cent was next taken up.

Clark said he would not vote for it as he did not think it a fair proposition.

La Rue said he favored a more flexible schedule. He evidently did not want to vote for it.

Stanton refused to recede from his position and the matter went over until tomorrow.

POISONED WINE.

How a Colored Man Got Rid of a Favored Rival.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 12.—William A. Busby (colored) was arrested this morning as the man who sent a bottle of poisoned wine to James Gardner.

He appears to be the party wanted.

The wine fell into the hands of W. J. Thompson, station agent of the Santa Fe at Downey avenue, and O. L. Martin, a laborer.

Both drank of it and are dead.

The boy who was given 20 cents to carry the wine to the depot identifies Busby as the man who gave it to him.

Gardner is a Pullman porter and Busby was formerly.

Both have kept company with a colored belle named Scott, who has lately favored Gardner.

Busby refuses to talk.

The society comprises about 150 members and according to the treasurer's report is on a sound financial basis.

WATER FRONT NOTES.

A Gleaning of News From Down Where the Ships Come In.

A large wagon belonging to H. White essayed to cross the narrow gauge track at the foot of Webster street yesterday, but, being too heavily laden, it broke down, blocking both the local track and the Alameda electric car line. Jack screws were procured from the city wharfinger and the truck removed after delaying the train about fifteen minutes.

The city wharf is badly in need of repairs. It is covered with patches and many of the boards are loose, making the wharf unsafe in places. City Wharfinger Rutherford has petitioned the Board of Public Works, who promised to put the wharf in good repair soon.

Taylor's large new coal bunkers are rapidly nearing completion. They will be ready for use in a week or ten days. Mr. Taylor is also having his warehouse and office raised and a brick foundation built under it.

The timber for the Haywards bridge has arrived at the wharf from Mendocino. It will be sent by rail to Haywards before Saturday.

A Railroad Man Gone.

Under the auspices of the University Lodge, No. 144, I. O. O. F., the remains of Frederick L. Krag were bourne to their last resting place in Mountain View cemetery today. The funeral was held at the residence of the deceased at 858 Grove street. Mr. Krag was 59 years of age and for many years had been in the employ of the railroad.

ACTUAL WORK STARTS UP.

The Grand Army Encampment Holds a Business Session.

St. Paul Selected as the Place for the Next Annual Gathering.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 12.—The twenty-ninth encampment of the G. A. R. began business at its session at 10 A. M. today. The Women's Relief Corps and Ladies' Circle of the G. A. R. also met.

Those meetings were attended only by delegates.

Meantime the veterans met in corps, brigade and regimental reunion all over the city.

Camp fires with fire works and other demonstrations, continue every night during the week.

The army nurses were entertained today.

A gavel made of gold, silver and copper and studded with diamonds, rubies and sapphires, was presented to Commander Lawler by Senior Vice Commander O'Leary on behalf of the Montana division.

St. Paul was selected as the place for the next national encampment.

General I. N. Walker of Indianapolis was elected commander-in-chief.

MALOON GOT MAD.

His Favorite Yacht Impaled on a Buried Pile.

Henry Maloon, ex-license inspector, is the proud possessor of one of the best yachts that ever sailed the waters of the Oakland estuary. Every night, after a hard day's work, it is his wont to take a quiet sail up and down the creek, after which he carefully anchors his precious craft on the Alameda side, far from the reach of meddlesome small boys and thieving longshoremen.

Last week, after one of the most delightful excursions that ever Oaklander took, he anchored his "Daisy" and started for home, at peace with himself and the world. But had he known what cruel fate awaited his beloved pleasure boat his joy would have been turned to gall. With lack of his usual careful forethought he had anchored his vessel at high tide without sounding the water beneath her. If he had he would have found one of the sharpest-pointed, worm-eaten piles that stud the mud of the creek, waiting menacing below the shining keel of his boat.

But he did not, and as he wended his way home the tide fell and with it the boat, till by her own weight a large hole had been stove in her bottom and she was left half out of the water like a forlorn dove cote.

At the next high tide Mr. Maloon came for his customary sail and, noticing that his boat was filled with water, and attributing the cause to an inexperienced borrower, he forthwith procured a can and began to bail. Never did he work so hard inspecting licenses as he did bailing that boat, but as the tide was rising he seemed to make little progress. He called a friend and with two dippers they toiled until their perspiration mingled with the water of the creek, producing a calm for yards around. At last the tide turned and fell and with its fall rose the hopes of the marines, for now the effect of their arduous labors was plainly visible. Slowly and steadily the water left the boat, and just as they were about to cast aside their tin cans Mr. Maloon discovered that the boat was rather high out of the water. This led to further discoveries and then a lone pelican resting in the quiet of the gloaming heard such language that made it blush and fly down the creek, where it could rest undisturbed by the voice of civilization.

M'SWEENEY'S RETURN.

Elaborate Arrangements Are Being Made for His Reception.

The committee in charge of the proposed reception to Rev. Thomas McSweeney, pastor of St. Francis de Sales church, comprises Mrs. J. M. Driscoll, chairman, William Crabb, Daniel Crowley, B. McFadden, Neil Gallagher and J. Spencer.

This committee is now at work decorating the hall adjoining the church, where the exercises will take place.

The date of the reception will depend upon the time of the arrival of Father McSweeney in this city.

If he should reach here tomorrow the reception will be held tomorrow evening. If his arrival should be delayed until Saturday morning the welcome in behalf of the congregation will be extended next Saturday night.

The reception will be of a public character and the committee says that everybody will be welcome.

The main speech of welcome will be delivered by B. McFadden.

ROASTED ALIVE.

By Associated Press to the Tribune.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—The Bulletin will print a story this afternoon that General Florenard Bustamente, the refugee from San Salvodar, who was surrendered to the commander of Port la Libertad by the captain of the Pacific Mail steamer City of Sydney, was given up by order of United States Consular Agent Cooper.

It is said Cooper came aboard with the Salvador authorities and searched the ship for the refugee.

When found it is said Bustamente was seized by the maddened populace, saturated with oil and then roasted alive.

CHOICE CLOAKS.

A Splendid Collection at the Goldberg Suit House.

Messrs. S. and M. Goldberg, for many years dealers in cloaks and suits in Eastern cities, have opened an establishment on Thirteenth street, which fills a long-felt need in Oakland. It is under the management of a lady who has had charge of similar establishments in New York and other places, and who is thoroughly competent as to taste and judgment to occupy such a position. The goods they carry are the finest, being principally those which will be the prevailing styles this season, such as Scotch tweeds and English cheviots. Many of their cloaks and suits are imported, though they have their own tailors and will take orders. Their styles are the latest, among them coats in the Madame San Gene and Elite styles which, with the loose effects, are very dressy.

The popular materials for capes this season seem to be in velours, velvets and uncut plushes. They are dreams of chiffon, flowers and mouseline de soie. Added to the fact that their goods are the finest and their prices reasonable, their already extensive patronage should increase greatly.

FRIDAY.....SEPTEMBER 13, 1895

The news from Honolulu is that 37 deaths have occurred in that port from cholera, or from a disease greatly resembling it. It does not mitigate the evil that except in two instances, those attacked were natives. It is clear that the disease was brought from Asiatic ports by a passenger steamer. There is no cause for alarm here. As far as is known, not a case of cholera has been brought to this coast by any vessel coming from a foreign port. If it should prevail extensively at Honolulu it would greatly hinder Island commerce for a while.

The pardon of Liliukalani, ex-queen of Hawaii had been anticipated for some time. She had renounced all her rights as a sovereign and had promised to behave herself as a citizen. It is evident that the authorities had no fear of the woman. Her reign of mischief has closed. It is probable that some property concession may be made for her benefit. At this time the deposed sovereign appears to be one whom few respect who know her history, and none fear, unless it be a few simple-minded natives.

One of the papers read before the recent meeting of the Science Association was on the growth of cities. The principal point made was that the social and material forces now in operation would in time change the course of population from concentration to distribution. The Boston Herald makes these comments:

"We are in the midst of marvelous economic changes, produced by advances in science and invention, that must inevitably affect the world's great centers of population to an enormous extent. Improvements and revolutions in transit methods, systems of transportation and industrial operations will naturally profoundly modify the causes that have induced concentration of population in the presence of great urban aggregations. It is absolutely impossible to predict the nature of these changes, although it looks as if the great improvements in transit facilities that appear to be in prospect might operate to relieve the congestion of dense populations, and cause a more uniform distribution of population over the land—in other words, bring the country into the city and carry the city out over the country."

It is probable that the extension of electric roads may tend towards distribution. But at present this effect appears to be wholly of a suburban character, while the tendency to the concentration of population in cities was never stronger than it is now.

The Refuse of a City.

One of the most difficult sanitary questions of the day is about the disposal of garbage of a city. Where there is accessible tide water dumping has been made with the expectation that the tidal current would carry all the refuse out of sight. In New York, where the plan of carrying garbage out to sea has been folowed for many years, that method has become very unsatisfactory. The shores and beaches of the bay were lined with the refuse which wind and tides had brought back. New York is now trying the experiment of a crematory and expects to find in that a rational solution of the problem. If one crematory is satisfactory others will be erected.

Of course this waste is the solid matter. A considerable part of it will float on the water. That has been the trouble in disposing of waste matter in that way. The dumping grounds nearly everywhere become a nuisance. Even the ground filled in by that method is not satisfactory. It is not safe for house lots. The feculant matter is near the surface. Dumps are the primitive resort. The waste of the city must be disposed of in some way. Some objections have been raised to the cremating process. It is probably the best sanitary device now known. The smoke might be offensive. But in the improved crematories there is said to be no smoke.

Crude petroleum is now very cheap. It can probably be laid down in this city for one dollar a barrel and perhaps for less. That is the best inflammable substance known for destroying garbage. It would settle the question of smoke. The crematory process would not necessarily set aside covered dump carts. There would be the same amount of garbage to be transported to some particular spot to be consumed by fire.

The Cup and the Contest.

The international contest has resulted in disappointment to all parties. Never before had two yachts so well matched contended for the prize. What was expected was a contest to the finish that might possibly include five races. These, it was hoped, would be made in all weathers and all winds, so that in the end there could be no doubt as to which is the better boat. The reason assigned by the Englishman for withdrawing from the contest will not satisfy most people. The excursion boats of which he complained were as much in the way of the American yacht as the other. It was almost impossible to keep them at the regulation distance. But there is no published evidence that they actually hindered either yacht in making the race.

One can hardly escape the conviction that the Englishman had other reasons for throwing up the contest. He found on the first trial that the American had the better boat. If she could win in comparatively still water and with a light wind, it was morally certain that she could win in a half gale. In the second race the Defender, disabled as she was by the foul of the Valkyrie, was seen to be the better boat in the judgment of experts. It is clear that Dunraven had come to the same conclusion. It would sound better at home and be a sort of heart's ease to national pride to say that the Englishman withdrew because he could no have a fair trial. It softens the defeat, as it were.

It could not be certainly known which was the superior boat until at least one race had been sailed. That settled the question in the minds of experts. The best craft that British naval skill and science could devise had been matched against the best that American skill could construct. It does not change the result in this respect, that the Englishman withdrew before the final contest. He proceeded far enough to satisfy himself as to the difference in favor of the American yacht, and certainly did not want to accentuate his defeat by another trial. The disappointment is that the Englishman was not game to the last.

A Question of Pavements.

The old, rich and conservative city of Hartford is now agitating the question of asphalt pavements. The Courant states its position to this effect:

"We want the best. Block asphalt, very properly, has been given its opportunity. A like opportunity should be given to sheet asphalt, which has already a wider use as well as more friends. In selecting the asphalt to be used, we ought to have the very best and we ought to get that best at the best possible rate for Hartford rather than for the contractors. This seems a sound platform and a safe footing. But it is the misfortune of the whole asphalt industry that each sub-division of it has such very unpleasant things to say of others."

The two materials in competition are the Trinidad asphalt and the rock asphalt of California. Both may make very good or a very bad pavement. The California asphalt is now working its way into many of the Eastern cities. The best of this is probably the best in the world. There is a great deal of difference in the quality, even when taken from a single district. The best ought to contain not less than 10 per cent of oil not differing greatly from crude petroleum. If laid two inches thick on a concrete bed that has been well rolled it will make one of the best pavements known. If laid on a poor foundation it will not stand the crushing power of heavy loads.

These facts are well enough known here where the failures have been numerous. They are stated for the benefit of persons at a distance. There are millions of tons of asphalt rock in this State. If it can be converted into good pavements in Eastern cities, so much the better. It will all depend upon honest work, and not only that, but work done according to the best standard that has ever been adopted here for asphalt pavements.

Women as Preachers.

It is reported that the wife of the pastor of the Second Unitarian church in San Francisco has ceased to minister occasionally in that church because some dissatisfaction has been expressed on the part of the congregation with the employment of a woman as a preacher. This custom prevails to some extent in a few of the denominations. The more conservative ones have always refused to ordain women as ministers. They are never seen in that capacity in the pulpits of the Catholic church, nor in the Protestant Episcopal, Presbyterian and Congregational churches and are seldom fully commissioned in the Methodist churches.

The conservative feeling is still very strong that a woman ought not to assume the functions of an ordained minister. But the conservative feeling has been just as strong against the entrance of women into the professions of law and medicine. They have broken down the old barriers to some extent. In short, women physicians are now found in almost every State. Some of them are reaping large professional rewards.

Women have endowed hospitals and have created departments for themselves in medical colleges. The graduates increase from year to year. Women as lawyers have not made much of a figure at the bar, and it is doubtful if they ever will. When one appears in that profession the circumstance furnishes an item of news for the curious, but no assurance that any professional fame is to be won.

Perhaps in time some of the conservative opposition to the appearance of women in the pulpit may disappear. It is so strong now that there is little prospect that the leading denominations will confer ministerial orders upon women. Even if they were admitted to all the pulpits of the land they would be subject to the same discriminating and critical judgment that is at all times applied to men who fill the pulpits of the churches. There would be some who might preach to edification and some who would not. Some might draw audiences and others repel them. Great tragic actresses are not the less great on account of their sex. It may be that the time will come when a woman of talent will not be counted less desirable as a preacher because she is a woman. But it can hardly be said that that time has fully come.

The Sacramento Bee exploits the great celebration at Sacramento in a paper that will be memorable as signalizing a new era in that city. Sacramento has not only been well advertised at home, but it has been well done in papers at a distance. The See has done the handsome thing. Twenty-five years hence the local historian who writes about that city will find a great deal of good history in the local papers that have exploited the great celebration.

There is not a little speculation just now as to which political party will prevail in the coming election in Utah. The prospects seem to favor the Republicans. In 1892 Utah, which had a long time been Democratic, gave the Republican delegate to Congress a plurality of 2,806 votes. Last year the Republicans had an average plurality of 1,521 and they have elected delegates enough to control the Constitutional Convention. These facts, while not conclusive, indicate that the Republicans will have the upper hand at the next election.

Japan has recently contracted in England for five war vessels to cost an aggregate of $25,000,000. There is the color of extravagance in this expenditure. But then this is only a small part of the sum which Japan is to receive from China as a war indemnity. These ships are bought not from any fear of future trouble with China, Russia is the shadow that is looming up. Japan is comparatively a poor country; and it is not so rich now as it was before the war with China. A great armament will further impoverish the people.

NOTES AND EXCERPTS.

Kedesh, the city of Naphtali, where Barak and Deborah assembled the tribes of Israel, has been sought for by M. E. Gautier and not found. Two spots in the valley of the Orontes were supposed to be the place, a tumulus on a spur of Mount Lebanon, near the Lake of Homs and an island in the lake. Excavations were made in both, with the conclusion that neither is Kedesh. But on the island a series of interesting buildings one above the other was found, beginning with the Byzantine period and going back through the Greco-Phoenician to the bronze and stone ages.

Snaefell, on the Isle of Man, 2000 feet above the sea level, is now ascended by means of the first mountain electric road in Great Britain. The road is four and three-quarter miles long, with a continuous gradient of one foot in twelve.

French mutuals in France pay a tax to the State, and consequently a record of the bettings is kept. Last year Paris bet $27,800,000 in this form alone on horse races. There is no account of how much passed through the hands of the bookmakers and private agencies.

Father Kerr, who died recently in South Africa, was a grandson of the sixth Marquis of Lothian and served with distinction in the navy during the Crimean war. In 1867 he became a priest, and after acting as chaplain to the Marquis of Ripon when he was Governor-General of India, joined the Zambesi mission, where he died.

Living in the open air all summer has improved the Pope's health, which was never better than it is now. He is entirely free from the fainting spells that used to come upon him in the spring months and when pressed with business, Dr. Lapponi says: "If nothing unforeseen happens, the Holy Father's constitution is so sound that he may well attain his hundredth year."

Nail biting, acording to a French doctor, is hereditary. Almost one-third of the French school children bite their nails, and the girls are worse than the boys.

A queer Arabian Nights tale comes from the Punjab. A few weeks ago a party of weavers formed a marriage procession and started for a village in Ferozpore. The bridegroom was bald and blind of one eye, and his father feared the bride's parents would refuse him, so the weavers advised him to present a barber's boy who was with them as the groom. The barber was dressed in the groom's wedding garments and was accepted. When the marriage was over and they had returned home the weaver demanded his bride, but the barber refused to give her up, and now they have gone to law to settle the question.

An important linguistic expedition into Africa has just been completed by the Rev. Charles Robinson, who was sent out by the Haussa Association to find material for a Haussa dictionary. He first went to Tripoli and Tunis, where there are Haussa colonies and then by way of the Niger and the Benue reached Kano, the commercial center of Haussa land. In returning from Kano to Egga on the Niger, he traversed 425 miles where no European had been. He brought back 3000 new words for a dictionary, materials for a Haussa grammar and native manuscripts containing history and historical and religious songs. The Haussa is the most important language of northern Africa. The people who speak it extend from the Niger region across to Soudan, and cover a territory nearly a thousand miles square; they are very industrious and are the only nation that Mr. Stanley met that esteemed books.

Mrs. Nat Collins, the cattle queen of Montana, who has been up to Chicago disposing of a bunch of steers, is thus described by one of the newspapers of that city: "She is neither a new woman nor typical of the Wild West, but a big woman, motherly looking and kind hearted. She is probably well up into the fifties, darkly tanned and would tip the scale at 200 pounds. She wore a shiny black skirt yesterday of heavy silk, a blue shirt waist with mother of pearl cuff buttons, a black belt and changeable tie knotted in jaunty fashion. Instead of the traditional sailor hat a black open straw bonnet with nodding sprays of mignonette.

The most beautiful gown at the Vanderbilt ball was worn by the wife of Senator Brice of Ohio. The Vanderbilts, with all of their millions, didn't show up anything that touched it. A butting match between a white man who claimed to have the hardest head in town and a negro took place at St. Louis the other day. There was only one round, and then the white man was hauled off to a hospital with a broken nose and a fractured jaw. The negro got the purse and wasn't phased by the collision.

Some years ago an Indiana widower with a son married a widow with a daughter. The other day the stepbrother and stepsister were married at Madison and the neighbors made a great fuss about it, though they are no more kin than if one had been born in Patagonia and the other in Alaska.

The summer girl at Bar Harbor is feeling exceedingly melancholy. The swimming pool, which has been in the course of construction for two years or more, and which was to have been the finest of its kind in America, is to be sold this week at auction; that is, the pile of buildings which was to constitute the outer shell. The pool was to have been filled with hot sea water, as the water at Bar Harbor is far too cold for sea bathing, and besides there is no beach. Indeed, one would have to fall off the rocks to get into the surf, notwithstanding enterprising journals have been describing Mrs Potter Palmer's bathing suit all summer.

SUMNER IS SUSPENDED.

He Is Ordered Off the Rolls of the Navy for Six Months.

A Reprimand Is Also to Be Given Him for Dereliction of Duty.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The Navy Department today made public its action in the case of Captain Sumner late commander of the U. S. cruiser Columbia, tried by court-martial at Brooklyn navy yard on charges growing out of injury sustained by his vessel in docking at Southampton in July.

The first charge was culpable inefficiency in the performance of his duty.

The court-martial found him guilty in a less degree than charged, in that he did not have proper preparations made for docking.

The court ignored that portion of the charge alleging that as a consequence of that failure the boat was subjected to severe strains, causing damage to her hull and necessitating repairs costing about $1,000.

The captain was found guilty of suffering the vessel to be hazarded in violation of naval regulations.

He was found guilty of a third charge of neglect of duty and the specification that he paid the charge of docking without protest was proved.

The sentence of the court is as follows:

"To be suspended from duty only for a period of six months on waiting orders of pay and to be reprimanded by the honorable Secretary of the Navy."

ACMES VICTORIOUS.

They Carry Off Wrestling Honors at the Olympic Club.

At the Olympic wrestling tournament last night Gus La Rue and J. C. Williamson of the Acme Club won their respective bouts. They easily defeated Ambruster and Brill for which feat each was awarded a handsome $35 medal.

A large delegation of Acme men went to see the sport and were wild with delight at the excellent work of the fellow members.

Gus La Rue and E. P. Ambruster were billed for the first bout. Ambruster won the first throw but Gus knew what he was about and after letting the Olympian wind himself he threw him twice, winning the match.

Though ten pounds lighter than Brill, Williamson won from him in two straight downs.

After the games Joe Acton, the professional wrestler said that little La Rue would make a world beater in time.

THE RAIN RECORD.

Weather Clerk Sanborn Says It Will Be a Wet Season.

Sanborn the florist says that this is going to be a rainy season and the records to date bear out his assertion.

The season begins July 1st. On the 4th of that month there was a rainfall of .02 of an inch. There was then a dry spell, the next rain falling on the 10th of this month, when the precipitation was .17 of an inch.

Yesterday there was another downpour, the fall up to 1 o'clock in the afternoon amounting to .87 of an inch.

From that hour up to the time the storm ceased last night there was an additional fall of .07 on an inch, making a total for the season of 1.13 inches, as against .20 of an inch last year.

Milton Strong's Wife Deserted Him, But Never Told Why.

She Wrote Constantly for Money, But Declined to Return Home.

Milton G. Strong, a well-known butcher of Alameda who has resided in the Encinal City for twenty years past, was granted a divorce today by Judge Greene from his wife Emma L. Strong on the ground of desertion.

There is a rather strange story behind the case. The couple were married in 1870. They came to California and settled in Alameda, where their life was as happy as could be desired. Nothing occurred to mar the smooth and even tenor of the Strong household until nine years ago. Strong was doing well in his business at that time and a trip to the East was suggested. Mrs. Strong's father and mother resided in Illinois. Their daughter was anxious to visit them and finally the couple, in 1886, departed for Illinois on a visit.

Strong returned to Alameda in November of that year and it was understood that as soon as his wife desired to come home he would go back to Illinois for her. Letters passed between them, but strange to relate, after the third or fourth, Mrs. Strong failed to reply to her husband's frequent and anxious inquiries. She could not be induced to say when she would be ready to return. She never would discuss the question in any of her subsequent communications to her husband. These were mainly demands for money.

Strong waited a year and a half before breaking up the little home they had in Alameda. Finally he sold out some of the household effects and stored the remainder. He could stand it no longer.

Mrs. Strong began to travel. She went to Idaho with her parents and dwelt in various places. Strong sent her some money; $100 at one time was forwarded to be used in securing transportation to Alameda, but the coin was never used in that way. During the four years preceding the commencement of the suit he had sent his wife regularly $40 a month.

Mrs. Strong finally reached Washington, where she settled in Spokane Falls. The suit for divorce was filed a year ago or more. Efforts were made to serve a summons upon Mrs. Strong, but it was not successful as her exact whereabouts were unknown. As soon as the location was realized, the necessary publication of the commencement of the action was made. She did not heed the matter a great deal. When efforts were made by her attorneys to secure a disposition from her, word reached D. A. Sherman Jr. who had charge of her end of the case in Alameda, that she was mentally incompetent and unable to make oath to anything. She had hired two attorneys there, but they were not diligent in preparing their case.

In April of this year Strong was obliged to pay $100 to his wife of nine years ago for counsel fees, as she prepared no way to fight the case. But the delays have been interminable and Judge Greene finally decided to proceed with it. Several witnesses were called including Robert McDonald, D. W. Martin, James Daniel and the plaintiff. Their stories were fully corroborated by each other.

Responding to questions from his attorney George W. Reed, Strong said he could never get an explanation from his wife as to the cause of her desertion. She had never intimated that she was displeased with her position and Strong, who was gradually let into the secrets of her heart, found that she had no desire to return to her home and husband.

A MAGNANIMOUS ATTORNEY

Judge Gibson Allows a Default Judgment in His Favor Set Aside.

Judge E. M. Gibson is magnanimous. He secured a judgment by default a few days ago on a suit brought against Mrs. Mary Moss, widow of the late Franklin Moss, to recover $500 attorney's fees for services rendered the old man prior to his death. Mrs. Moss' attorneys, however, had a consultation with Judge Gibson today, which resulted in the default judgment being set aside. There was some oversight on the part of a clerk in the office of the attorneys which caused the default to be entered. Judge Gibson thinks, however, that he can afford to be easy with his antagonists as he believes he has a "sure thing" on the case. A stipulation was filed in the Superior Court this morning whereby the default was set aside on an order by Judge Ellsworth.

STEADILY RECOVERING.

Further Change for the Better in Richard Valentine's Condition.

Further improvement was noted today in the case of Richard P. Valentine, who has been lying at the receiving hospital since last Tuesday as a result of a collision with an electric car at Tenth and Jefferson streets. The physicians think he was recovering remarkably and it is believed he will be so far along by Sunday that he can be removed to his home. The injured man has gained considerable strength since yesterday and his general condition is as encouraging today as it was discouraging two days ago. Valentine has had the very best of treatment and care while at the hospital, and much has been due to the excellent service there rendered.

The Temperatures.

The following maximum temperatures were reported from stations in California yesterday:

Eureka 62, Red Bluff 86, Sacramento 74, San Francisco 63, Fresno 86, Independence 94, San Luis Obispo 86, Los Angeles 94, San Diego 82, Yuma 104.

WILL HOLD ON.

Welles Whitmore Defends the Franklin Street Franchise.

Welles Whitmore, to whom, with E. K. Alsip of Sacramento, was granted a franchise by the council to build an electric street railway from the corner of Fourteenth and Franklin street to Berkeley, says there is no danger that the rails laid under that franchise on Franklin street at the intersection of Fourteenth street will be pulled up and there is no probability either that the franchise in question will be declared forfeited by the council.

"I do not think," said Mr. Whitmore, "that the franchise will be declared forfeited by the council. Mr. Bassett has been saying a great deal about those two rails laid at Fourteenth and Franklin streets. He has been trying to make us a good deal of trouble, but it is all because we beat him in getting the franchise. Davie is behind him and he is mad also because we got the franchise. But we do not mind it. Those tracks will not be removed. The franchise has not yet expired. We have done all the work required to be done by us under the franchise. The rail at Fourteenth street were put down within the required limit in the franchise, namely, six months. The next work under the franchise is to be done within three years after the doing of the first work. Two years must yet elapse before we shall be required to do any more work on the road. The proposed line runs from Fourteenth and Franklin on Franklin to Twentieth to Webster, Broadway, College avenue and then turns around on certain streets in Berkeley."

FOUR MONTHS IN JAIL.

Frank Silva Escapes With a Rather Light Sentence.

Frank Silva, who had a desperate fight some months ago with Daniel Jones, a watchman at Market street wharf, in which the latter was shot, Silva, was sent to the county jail today by Judge Frick for four months. Silva was held to answer for trial on a charge of assault to commit murder. He pleaded guilty on Wednesday to assault with a deadly weapon. Judge Frick thought from the testimony given in the police court that Silva had acted under great provocation. He therefore made the judgment light.

LITERARY NOTES.

The Midland Monthly for September is an admirable number. The initial article is on "Grant and Galena" by Leigh Leslie and is aptly illustrated. Narcessa Macy Smith gives "Reminiscences of John Brown," and the Midland War Sketches by Col. A. G. Hatry this time furnish "Scenes and Incidents of the Battle of Chickamauga."

A new name of notable repute appears among the contributions to Donahue's Magazine in the September issue. Mgr. Charles de Harlez, the eminent professor of the University of Louvain, whose place among European scholars is in the front rank, gives the first instalment of an essay on "Buddhism and Christianity." The learned professor addresses himself to those critics of the religion of Christ, who put forth the absurd claim that the latter is only a copy and an offshoot of the Buddhist faith, and demonstrates the hollow fallacy of their theories in an article replete with interesting facts about Buddhism and fascinatingly written. Another article of timely import is that of Mabelle Justice on "The Passion Play in America." It will be new and interesting intelligence to many Americans that the sacred drama of The Crucifixion, popularly supposed to be indigenous and peculiar to Oberammergau, is enacted regularly on American soil as a religious exercise under the guidance of Jesuit missionaries, among certain Indian tribes of British Columbia.

F. M. Lupton, of 106 Reade street, New York, is doing something remarkable in the literary line. He is issuing in a cheap but complete series a dozen works such as Gulliver's Travels all in one binding for 25 cents. In the "Arm Chair Library" Edgar Allan Poe's "The Gold Bug," Stanley Weyman's "The Man in Black," and similar high class works of fiction retail for ten cents.

"Out of Due Season," which has just been issued by Appleton's Library, is described as "A Mezzotine by Adeline Sergeant." The authoress will be readily recalled by her "The Mistress of the Quest" and "The Story of a Penitent Soul," and her latest production more than sustains her reputation. It is a book that cannot be read without arousing strong emotions, for the chords of the heart are played on by a master hand. It is one of the most readable books of the season.

The American Magazine of Civics is keeping up its good work. The September number contains ably written essays on up to date political matters, a notable article being on "The Abolition of Poverty," by Whidden Graham. (New York, 38 Park Row, 25 cents.)

Music for September contains as a frontispiece an excellent portrait of Rubenstein, and also recollections of the great master by Julius Rodenberg. The recollections are all personal and one is brought in absolute contact with the great genius. Camille Saint Saens also contributes an article on the same subject.

The success of the Livre de Lecture et de Conversation, published a year ago by D. C. Heath & Co., of Boston, in their "Heath's Modern Language Series," has induced them and the author to furnish Lectures Courantes, a similar but more advanced book. Like the Livre de Lecture et de Conversation, this book is designed for female colleges, seminaries and high schools, and contains reading, conversation and composition for second year pupils, who in the first year have done the equivalent of the former book.

So many are the questions asked daily at the book counters of the large stores for a new cook book or a new book on the proper manner of serving that for the benefit of such inquirers it is mentioned that bright little monthly magazine, Table Talk, whose chief aim is to aid housekeepers over these rough places and is considered the American authority upon all subjects of interest in the home. It is published in Philadelphia, and a line to the office there, mentioning where you saw this notice, will secure a sample copy free. The September issue contains a valuable article by Marion Talbot, dean of Chicago University, on "Domestic Science in the Colleges." In addition to the regular departments, "The Housekeepers' Inquiries," "The New Bill of Fare," and "Fashionable Luncheon and Tea Toilets" there will be found articles on hardwood floors and their care, the lemon, mention of books for September reading, and so on.

Lloyd Osbourne, the stepson of Robert Louis Stevenson, has written for the October Scribner an account of "Mr. Stevenson's Home-life at Vailima." This is the first account by a member of Mr. Stevenson's own household and is the truest and most sympathetic that has yet appeared. It gives a remarkable account of Stevenson's attitude toward the native chiefs and the patriarchal life that he led among them.

Do you wish to wear the insignia, or the lapel button of an American Order, or Patriotic Hereditary Society of the United States? Then go. The Historical Register (which is the monthly gazette of these associations) for September and find out how you can do so. It gives the requirements for membership and eligibility rules of all the American patriotic societies whose membership is based upon American military or civil service of an ancestor. The frontispiece is the beautiful insignia of the Society of the War of 1812, done in proper colors and embossed. The usual space is devoted to American historical matters and contains a large amount of valuable information which cannot fail to be appreciated by the intelligent. Published by the Historical Register Publishing Company, Philadelphia. Subscription $3 a year.

The Southern number of The New Cycle comes to us well illustrated, well written and well printed—a credit to its publishers and to the women of the South who have contributed so largely to its attractive matter. Among the contributors are Mrs. Olivia H. Grosvenor of Memphis, Mrs. Fanny Ledyard Hudson and Katharine Nobles of New Orleans, Annie Bozeman Lytton of Mobile, Mrs. L. Crozier French of Knoxville, Mrs. Letitia H. Wrenshall of Baltimore, Mrs. M. L. McLendon and Mrs. E. G. McCabe, of Atlanta; Mary McNeil Scott of Mobile and many others.

The Atlantic Monthly for September contains the first installment of a three-part story by Charles Egbert Craddock, entitled "The Mystery of Witch-Face Mountain." The second of Dr. John Fiske's historical papers has for a subject John Smith in Virginia, in which he reopens vigorously the discussion in regard to this interesting character. Bradford Torrey contributes another Tennessee sketch, Chickamauga, which will be of special interest in view of this summer's memorable gathering at Lookout Mountain. The paper in the August issue by James Schouler upon President Polk's Diary is ably supplemented in this issue by "President Polk's Administration" by the same author.

George W. Smalley, for many years the London correspondent of the New York Tribune, enjoyed years of social intercourse with Professor Huxley in London and was his intimate friend. He has written for the October Scribner a most appreciative paper on Mr. Huxley.

Messrs. Houghton, Mifflin and Company announce to their correspondents and friends with deep regret the death, on the 25th inst., of the honored head of their house, Henry Oscar Houghton. For a year past Mr. Houghton's health has been seriously impaired, but he continued to give attention to details of business and was in his office but a few days before his death. His surviving associates will study to keep before themselves the same high aims which distinguished him in his long career as printer and publisher.

Lloyd Osbourne, in his account of Robert Louis Stevenson's home-life in Samoa in the October Scribner, says that Mr. Stevenson's family of Samoans generally consisted of from thirteen to twenty-one young men who were most loyal to their chief. He had a remarkable system of discipline that developed this household into one of extraordinary interest. "Unquestioning and absolute obedience was insisted upon. No order once given was ever altered or modified. Every man had his work outlined for him in advance and several even possessed type-written lists of their various duties. Little proclamations and notices were often posted up in order to correct petty irregularities."

Under the present management Romance steadily improves, and the September number offers a goodly variety to its readers. Among the best of the stories is "The Flowing Source," by Quiller-Couch, who stands in the front rank of modern English writers of fiction, and Jules Claretie, J. M. Barrie and Max Pemberton are represented by well selected tales. The cover is attractive and should aid in selling this readable little magazine.

PROTECTING HIS TREES.

G. G. Baker Hires an Officer to Watch His Grove of Redwoods.

The Glade Infested by Vandals Who Wield Their Hatchets Mercilessly.

George G. Baker, the real estate man, owns a tract of land between Piedmont and East Oakland of which he is very proud. Upon the property stands a natural grove of redwood trees. It is one of the very few in this section of the State and Baker is anxious to preserve the magnificent growth of forestry from destruction. Most of the trees are young. None of them are more than twenty-five or thirty feet high and there are some thousand or more on the tract.

Ever since Baker bought the property he has been greatly worried over the depredations of seekers for evergreen and foliage for decorating purposes. Many of the saplings have been chopped down, and the efforts made to prevent the destruction of the grove have been almost futile up to date.

Baker, however, is going to call upon the strong arm of the law to protect his prized trees. He sought Sheriff White today. Accompanying him was a stout young man who, Baker said, had been guardian of the grove for some time past, but had met with indifferent success because he was not clothed with the authority of the law. So Baker urged the sheriff to appoint the young man a deputy sheriff. The compensation for his services will be attended to by Baker.

"Why, do you know that church people go out to the grove," said Baker, angrily, "and chop the tops of the trees off for decorations. Many others have been there and not only carved off the foliage but have cut down the young trees and left them to die. Now that grove is too precious to be ruthlessly destroyed and I am going to protect those trees. It will be a sorry affair if, hereafter, my watchman apprehends any miscreants."

READY FOR PAYMENT.

The Great Mora Claim Is to Be Disposed of Tomorrow.

By Associated Press to the Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Methods for the payment of the Mora claim have been definitely arranged and the draft is prepared for transfer tomorrow.

It will call for an equivalent in English pounds sterling of $1,499,000, made payable to Secretary of State Olney.

The loss of $51,000 from the amount $1,500,000 originally agreed upon is due to the difference between the value of a Spanish peso and an American gold dollar.

INTERESTING TO SUFFERERS

Upon the wish of Mr. Henry Schrag, proprietor of the Club Livery Stables in this city, we the undersigned hereby testify that we have known him for years and know that he has been crippled and a great sufferer from rheumatism for the past six years, unable to attend to any business and unable to find any relief notwithstanding his constantly consulting physicians.

Since three weeks he has been treated by Dr. Wulff with electricity applied after a new method, the doctor's own invention, and the change in the man is something wonderful; he can walk straight again and attend daily to his business, which he had not done for years.

Signed by W. G. Palmanteer, president Central Bank; P. Pumyea, livery stable, Eighth and Alice streets; Alex Hirshberg, cigar dealer, 970 Broadway; J. M. Torrey of Torrey, Whitman & Gardiner, wholesale grocers; R. W. McSorley, livery stable, Fourteenth and Webster streets; Wm. Craib, coal dealer; Edw. N. Moore, attorney-at-law; H. C. Hapkins, with Torrey, Whitman & Gardiner.

DEATH DISMISSED IT.

Mrs. Annie Cameron's Appeal to the Supreme Court.

The death of Mrs. Annie L. Cameron has caused the dismissal of the appeal she took to the Supreme Court upon her conviction in connection with an altercation had some years ago with a leading real estate dealer. A remittitur from the Supreme Court dismissing the people "upon a suggestion of the death of the appellant," was filed with the county clerk today.

"Queena" at the Oakland.

"Queena" is still drawing large houses at the Oakland theater. It is a first-class play in every way and well worth the patronage of amusement-seekers.

MAKES GROSS CHARGES.

Charles Martin Throws Many Ugly Shadows Over His Wife.

A Divorce Case That Has Culminated In Very Revolting Evidence.

The divorce suit of Florence Martin against her husband Charles Martin from whom she is seeking a divorce on the ground of cruelty, has been awarded the first prize by Superior Court habitues for absolutely vile testimony.

The husband, who has entered a cross complaint in the case has occupied the witness stand for two days past in Judge Ellsworth's court where the case is on trial and his narrative of the domestic affairs of the Martin household has been without exception unutterably filthy. He has related to the minutest detail the habits of his wife and the methods of housekeeping and care of the family in a manner which has been almost revolting in its nastiness.

The trial has attracted a great crowd of curious and morbid spectators who have reveled in the disgusting details in a manner that sadly reflects upon their better tastes.

Mrs. Martin had her story told some days ago and her husband is now trying to offset her charges with a mass of testimony which is as unsavory as it is discreditable.

In many respects the case is without a parallel and or that reason has caused unusual attention to be drawn to it. Martin occupied the stand the entire morning and his examination had not been concluded when the noon recess was taken. His wife's attorney had a long cross examination in view and the case is likely to be prolonged for several days yet. The fight is very bitter. There are two young children, but no property interests at stake. The family troubles have been carried from the time the couple settled in Fruitvale and finally moved to Lorin. At the latter place most of the difficulties occurred.

A REMARKABLE CURE.

Case of Mr. Henry Schrag, Proprietor Club Livery Stables, Fourteenth and Webster Streets.

Oakland, Sept. 5th, 1895.

Six years ago I was taken suddenly ill with a lame back, and consulted Dr. Mayer and Dr. Simond of San Francisco, and later Dr. Williamson, Dr. J. W. Robertson, and Dr. Leo Newmark, all of San Francisco. Some of the doctors diagnosed my case as rheumatism, others as lumbago, but their treatment did not benefit me any. I then went to the Byron Hot Springs, remained there six weeks and still no relief. After this, having doctored for six long years, I tried, as a last resort, an electric chain invented by Dr. J. M. Wulff and now after having used same according to directions for about three weeks I feel that I finally found a remedy that has so far done me that much good that I can attend to my business, which I have not been able to do for years, and I have very little, if any, doubt that by conscientiously following the doctor's directions, I will ultimately get entirely cured. The relief I have so far, is far beyond what I ever expected. I know and feel that the treatment has done wonders for me.

Very truly,

HENRY SCHRAG.

J. M. Wulff, Oakland Dear Sir: I believe that your Endless Chain Battery will work wonders for rheumatism. It is applied immediately to the part affected and it looks to me like a practical and scientific method of applying electricity to the various diseases of the nervous system.

NATURE FOR THE STAGE.

A Charming Performance to Be Given at Sutro Heights.

"As You Like It" to Be Given by an Accomplished Company.

Shakespeare's pastoral comedy, "As You Like It," is always extraordinarily pleasing to the theater-goer who wishes for his entertainment a combination of the merry and the sad, the philosophical and the pastoral. It is a play full of good characterization and every character according to its humor indulges its inclinations to good and evil as the idea suggests itself. The incidents are not so much outward as inward and subjective. The humor and caprice of persons in their influence one upon another is the basis of the whole action and the cause at the same time of the fantastical character of the piece.

The great bard borrowed the whole plan of the piece from a pastoral romance by Thomas Lodge, called "Rosalynde," published about 1650, and at that time it was probably the nearest approach to opera known in that day, for in the original there were many songs and choruses introduced which in "As You Like It" are omitted, though Shakespeare either preserved or wrote four original numbers. Four of the important characters of the piece are unknown in Lodge's pastoral, to-wit: The Clown, Touchstone; Jacques, the melancholy William, the country clown and Audrey, the stupid goat herdress.

In the forthcoming performance of the most beautiful comedy on Sutro Heights the public will have an opportunity of witnessing a representation that has the dignity of the court, the fragrance of the country, the scent of the wood, the tone of solitude, and the sunshine and ripple of merry companionship. In fact, if he would like, the banished Duke, see

"Tongues in trees, books in the running brooks,
Sermons in stones and good in everything."

He must attend the performance on Saturday, 21st inst. Those in charge of the presentation of Shakespeare's beautiful comedy, "As You Like It" on Sutro Heights, which will be given on Saturday afternoon next promptly at 2 o'clock, have been making careful preparations, and there is every reason to believe that in the selection of the players and in the arrangement of the lawn at Sutro Heights most excellent facilities will be afforded for a perfect performance that will delight every one. It would be almost impossible to describe the beauty of such a performance. Wherever one has been given it has never failed to create the greatest enthusiasm.

The production is made under the auspices and for the benefit of the Channing Auxiliary and the Society for Christian Work. The ladies, however, do not ask patronage from the fact that it is to help their charity, but because an exceptionally excellent performance by professionals is an assured fact. A grand stand will be built to seat 5000 persons, and over thirty private boxes have been arranged for in full view of the stage.

The scenes will be particularly realistic, as the trees on the stage will be real and the disposition of the ground is such that an unobstructed view of the players may be had from all parts of the amphitheater and private boxes. A feature of the performance will be the singing by the University of California Glee Club, who have for some time past been rehearsing the songs, "What Shall He Have That Killed the Deer," "The Cuckoo Song" and others of the original music.

In the cast there will also be Mr. C. J. Reichman, the handsome, accomplished leading man of Lily Langtry's Company. The costumes have been made expressly for this production, and all the minor parts will be in the hands of thoroughly trained and well-known people. Of course Miss Rose Coghlan will be seen in her famous role as Rosalind, and Miss Pauline French, an exceedingly beautiful and exquisite actress, will make her debut as Celia.

The sale of reserved seats and boxes will begin at the Columbia theater on Monday morning September 16th, at 9 o'clock. Arrangements have also been made with Manager Vining of the railway company for special trains and cable cars for the accommodation of the public. As the performance will begin promptly at 2 o'clock the public are urged upon to be in their places early. A large force of assistants and ushers have been provided for to seat the audience as quickly as possible. Each row of seats on the grand stand being raised a few inches above the one before it, it thus affords a fine view of the players from every part of the lawn, with accommodations for over 5000 people.

A MASONIC MEETING.

There Will Be an Interesting Gathering Tonight at Berkeley.

Durant Lodge, No. 268, F. and A. M., of Berkeley will have an unusually important and interesting meeting this evening. Two brothers, Dr. J. Morrison of San Pablo and Hugh Morrison of Berkeley, will be raised to the degree of Master Mason.

Grand Master Stevens of the California jurisdiction, accompanied by a number of grand officers, will pay the lodge the first official visit of grand officers which has been made in eight years.

Grand Lecturer Harry C. Bush will give critical attention to the manner in which the degree work is administered. A banquet will follow the conferring of the degrees.

AS OTHERS SEE US.

Mrs. Katherine B. Fisher, who died in Oakland September 4th, had been so long and closely connected in various ways with our churches, and withal was so marked a character as a woman and a teacher, that these columns should not fail to make note of her departure. She was the daughter of a well-known and influential pastor, the Rev. Dr. Arms of Norwich, Conn., and a brother of hers, Rev. William F. Arms, is now pastor at Essex, Conn. She early became a teacher and pursued her calling in the South for a time. Her husband, with whom she has tarried these thirty-five or more years, has always been among the most faithful promoters of our church life. She herself became a member of the First church in this city under Mr. Lacy's ministry, and under the ministry of the present writer, both in the Oakland First church and in Plymouth avenue church, was often very helpful and inspiring. Her capabilities of helpfulness were very large. Hers was a mind that was, however, alert and inquiring. She did not like grooves out of which there were no or few deviations. The things she did not know were fascinating to her. She was sometimes drawn strongly toward the Episcopal church, in which, before her marriage, she had been confirmed. Again her intellect was very open toward ideas that were not hallowed by any historic traditions. Her love of literature was a passion. Her freshness of interest in her calling, especially as the head of the department of English literature in the Oakland High school, was a constant stimulus to her scholars, even though she had reached 67 years and had carried the routine of this service so long. She was buried from the church of her fathers, in the circle of which she had enjoyed so many friendships, and on the great and simple verities of which she had again and again come back to find her only real rest.—San Francisco Pacific.

DEATH AND DESTRUCTION.

The Eastern Coast Visited by a Terrible Storm.

Many Persons Struck by Lightning as the Tempest Raged.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK Sept. 13.—A heavy storm struck City Island last night. The display of lightning was terrifying.

Judge Van Cott and a kinswoman, Mme. Albert, were on the verandah of the judge's house at High Island while the clouds were gathering and the winds growing higher.

The judge went into his orchard to secure a tent that was flapping and Mme. Albert finally decided to go into the house.

Just as she arose from her chair a bolt of lightning struck her and she fell dead. The electricity burned off her eyebrows and eyelashes, tore her straw hat in tatters and melted the pins in her hair.

On the back porch of the same house sat Josph Alcolos, a veteran of the civil war. The same bolt knocked the pipe he was smoking out of his mouth.

It then jumped to a post three feet away and split it into splinters.

Alcolos was not hurt, but the walls of the cottage were scarred as if by red hot pokers.

The cyclone struck the village of Cape Vincent just as a large excursion homeward bound from the Jefferson county fair at Watertown was about to take the boat for Kingston, Ont.

The Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg railway station collapsed.

George Godfrey and Thomas Arnell of Cape Vincent received injuries from which they died.

A large number of persons were injured, several of whom it is feared will die.

The storm was particularly severe at the east end of Long Island.

Just before sunset the wind rose. Then there was a lull and it seemed as if the heavens had opened.

Rain came down in torrents while the sheets of blinding lightning frightened women and children and drove the bravest men indoors.

The wind, while it lasted had a hurricane's force.

Trees were leveled to the ground and telegraph and telephone wires were blown down in many places in the suburbs of New York. The lightning struck in several places.

At Roselyn Mrs. Oliver Bennet was outdoors when the storm broke. The lightning struck her and ran down her right side, leaving bluish-black streaks, but did not kill her.

Several farm houses near Watertown were struck by lightning and burned. The roads were washed out in places and fallen trees block the highway in many parts of the country. It was the most severe storm in years, although lasting only about an hour.

The storm was the severest of the season at Oyster Bay. Lightning struck and burned a barn owned by Thomas Young Jr., a New York broker, killed one of the horses and stunned the coachman, Thomas Palmer, who was unconscious for several hours.

At West Sayville Seymour Burr was struck by lightning and severely burned. His condition is critical. Telegraph and telephone wires and poles were broken down there and communication was cut off.

Telegraph wires and trees were blown down at Port Jefferson and the force of the wind smashed the plate glass windows in some of the shops.

The heavy cover of Dr. Jones' water tank was carried eight yards off, where it brought up against a fence, demolishing it.

Up the Hudson the storm took the form of a whirlwind. In Nyack many houses were flooded and the streets were turned into streams. Cross walks were swept away and deep ruts washed into the roads.

Haverstraw also suffered, many brickyards having been flooded.

CONFIDENCE RETURNING.

It Looks Now as if the Gold Drainage Will Soon Be Ended.

A Perceptible Growth of Public Trust Noted in the Markets.

Special Correspondence to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, September 7, 1895.

The course of the financial market is indicative of a steady growth of public trust. Each succeeding week the wave of confidence gains increased force and is steadily carrying before it all the obstructions of distrust. It is more and more recognized that the elements which are making for improvement stand a sound and natural footing while those which have been unsettling confidence have been connected with the mere instruments of commerce. It still remains a question whether the latter facts—especially the condition of the treasury and the silver agitation—can materially obstruct the great natural recuperative forces that are now asserting their influence from one end of the country to the other and through the entire range of our industry. Perhaps the best answer to this question is in the fact that, for the last six months, the recuperative forces have been steadily gaining ascendency over those tending to derangement and distrust.

A more positive argument for confidence than this fact affords could hardly be conceived. It implies a settled conviction in the public mind that, with a sound condition of the material interests of the country, the way will ere long be found for removing the fiscal and monetary conditions that now stand in the way to absolute confidence. And that conviction is a rational one. For although it may not be at the moment generally apparent exactly when or how these financial derangements will be readjusted, yet there is nothing like an impossibility or even a substantial difficulty in the way of that achievement.

The gold question is beset by no such serious difficulty as a substantial deficiency of supply. the trouble there lies simply in a departure from the usual distribution and reservoirs and circulation and use of the metal. That disarrangement has arisen from no uncontrollable cause, but simply from a mistaken course in the fiscal usages of the treasury which had the effect of depriving the banks of their customary receipts of gold from the government at the clearing house, thereby compelling them to almost entirely suspend gold payments and throwing the whole gold movement into suspension, to the detriment chiefly of the treasury itself. This confusion is susceptible of remedy the moment the treasury and the banks can be brought into confession with a view to the restoration of their old relations in this matter, with such modification or safeguards as, under the circumstances may appear advisable. In the meantime, the loan syndicate continues its valuable services to the government by supplying the treasury with gold as fast as it is taken from the reserve for export; and having persisted in that course to the extent they already have, it seems safe to assume that they will continue this support until the foreign exchanges have turned in our favor.

ARRANGING AN UNDERSTANDING.

The stage in affairs being reached, new possibilities will appear, favorable to the Syndicate crowning its remedial work by bringing the banks and Treasury to an understanding that will finally settle this embarrassing question. Judging from ordinary precedent, the current exports of gold may be expected to be followed within a moderate period, by imports of specie. Arguing from the way in which the Syndicate has been able to cont ol the exports of gold and the foreign exchanges for months past, it is reasonable to assume that, if it were desirable in order to achieve an important purpose, they could, under the present plethora of gold in the European banks, swell the efflux of it to this side of the Atlantic.

The result of these movements would appear in a material increase of the stock of gold at this center. This replacement of the specie in the city banks would remove the chief practical objection they have felt to a resumption of their former relations with the treasury. My information leads me to look forward to this approaching situation as the point at which the banks will return to the payment of customs duties chiefly in gold and to providing gold for export, the treasury at the same time settling its balances at the clearing house in gold; while the syndicate will retire from its services, leaving the circulation of gold restored to its normal condition.

The gold question having been thus settled, there need be little further fear about the silver agitation. The treasury reserve having been again place upon a safe foundation, the consequent recovery of confidence at home and abroad will produce a revival of business and a rise in all values which will annihilate the pretense that the depression of business and the fall in prices have been caused by the "demonetization of silver;" and the free coinage of that metal will be relegated to the dead issues of popular ignorance.

THE PROBLEM OF LIFE.

'Tis but a fleeting hour,
'Tis but a passing shower,
Till life and all its dreams have fled,
To mingle with the dying and the dead.

By some are honors most highly won,
By others are duties most bravely done;
But to all must Life end where it began
With the setting of this earthly sun.

'Tis true that all things must
To their native element return,
The bosom of the mother earth,
Shall be thy body's urn.

And so to the life eternal
Must thy spirit soul return,
For God, the Almighty Father,
Is surely thy spirit's urn.

For would you live this earthly life
Of vain regrets and daily strife,
Were it no, to reach that higher goal,
That life eternal, where dwells the soul?

HE ADVISES BLOODSHED.

A Prominent Alabama Populist on the Rights of Voters.

If the Opposition Is Not Recognized It Should Assert Itself

By Associated Press to The Tribune

BIRMINGHAM Ala Sept 12—Col D S Troy one of the leading lawyers of the State who recently joined the Populist party in the interest of honest elections and free silver as he said and whose plan for honest elections and a free silver convention to meet in Birmingham November 13th next was adopted by the Populists is out in a two column article in the State organ of the Populists which makes interesting reading

Colonel Troy endeavors to explain under what circumstances the use of force at voting places would be legal and justifiable

He regards the wilful refusal of the county officials to have in the board of election inspectors an intelligent representative of the opposition who never put it to do so as sufficient evidence of a fraudulent purpose to debauch the election franchise and an honest law abiding citizen he asserts has the same right to prevent the election being held by them as he has to prevent any other violation of the law in his presence

He thinks that under these circumstances whatever force is necessary to stop the elections should be used even though blood has to be shed

It Is Thought That Grover Intends Recognizing Cuba's Rebels.

By Associated Press to The Tribune

CHICAGO Sept 12—A special to a local paper from Washington says

Information as to the recent secret work in the Navy Department has leaked out and the result is sufficient to justify the belief that President Cleveland is meditating seriously the possibility of hostilities between Spain and the United States in the near future

Whether the dispatch is due to a desire to recognize the Cubans as belligerents or an intention to be in a position to enforce the Monroe doctrine is uncertain but it cannot be denied that the State and Navy Department have been unusually active in the last few weeks Certain branches of the Navy Department are now devoting their attention to the Cuban matter almost exclusively

Acting under recent orders from Secretary Herbert some of the officers have been working extra time securing data whose character is such as to indicate that the President and Secretary Olney recognize the necessity of preparing for active intervention in the affairs of Cuba

Exhaustive reports have been prepared for Secretary Herbert and the President on naval conditions in the West Indies on Cuba the question of transports and the facilities for landing troops on the island has been looked into thoroughly and the results filed with the Secretary of the Navy

TO GET THE BEST MEN.

Trials to Be Held for the Coming Championship Contests.

Crum Will Have to Beat Wefers Before He Can Compete.

By Associated Press to The Tribune

NEW YORK Sept 12—The publication of the official entries for the A A U championship meeting has caused a great deal of speculation among all those who are interested in the final make up of the international team

Outside of the sprints there is very little speculation because the first and second men who will wear the mercury foot colors are practically decided upon

But uncertainty prevails regarding the sprints

On Labor Day Crum defeated Lee Goodwin and Wefers and at Manhattan Field last week Wefers defeated Crum and Lee so that is a difficult matter to decide who are the two best men in America

Should Crum win both events on Saturday he is sure of a place on the team and those who have seen the speedy Westerner run predict a sure victory for him

On present form the contest should be between Crum and Wefers as Lee has fallen off perceptibly and is running yards behind his old form

Champion Burke is in very good form and the Boston man is said to have a very fair chance of winning the quarter mile Townsend Goodwin and Coombes are also fast men

The bicycle race will be the most representative class A event held in this section of the country this season Among the starters is Hughes of Syracuse who is a very fast man and may win Dawson and Dickey of the New York Athletic club and Rowe Hunter and Palmer of the New Jersey Athletic Club

Charles Kilpatrick the peerless half mile runner is in championship form and expects to think he will win Hipple and Remington will make a good run for second place All the cracks are entered in the hundred race Stephen Chase and Syms being among them

W P Rocks Bliss Sheldon Sweeney and others will contest in the broad jump The high jump promises to be a sensational affair Sweeney the world's record holder states that he will endeavor to break his record of five feet six inches

WILL RACE NO MORE.

Lord Dunraven's Yacht Being Prepared for the Sea Trip.

QUICK WORK BY THE SEAMEN.

The English Newspapers Are All In Support of His Action.

AMERICAN METHODS DECRIED.

The Britishers Claim They Cannot Get Fair Play Over Here.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Valkyrie III. left her anchorage at Bay Ridge today and went to Erie Basin.

On arrival at the Basin the Valkyrie was hauled into a position between two steamers just outside the dry-dock, where she had several times been drifted out for cleaning and repairing purposes.

The crew, under the command of Captains Cranfield and Sycamore, were immediately set to work to strip the yacht and prepare for the voyage across the ocean home.

The sailors worked with their usual alacrity and effectiveness, and before 11 o'clock had lowered the topmast and removed the bowsprit gear.

The yacht will doubtless be ketch-rigged for the ocean voyage, as she was when she sailed from England for America.

WILL NOT RACE AGAIN.

Whatever doubt may have existed as to Lord Dunraven's intention of racing the Valkyrie in this country again was dispelled this morning by H. Maitland Kersey.

"When seen by a reporter he said: "No, the Valkyrie will never race again on this side of the Atlantic. The races are over and that settles it. I have nothing more to say on that point."

"It was rumored last evening that Lord Dunraven intends to start for Niagara Falls today," said the reporter.

"If that is so the rumor is false. He may go to Newport in a day or two, when I cannot say."

Mr. Kersey, speaking of the offer of Col. Taylor of Boston, said that, as Lord Dunraven had decided not to race his yacht again in America it would be idle to discuss that or any other such offer.

JOHN BULL INDIGNANT.

The Britishers All Think That Dunraven Has Been Badly Treated.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—The conclusion of the international yacht races for the America's cup furnished a text for articles in all the London afternoon papers.

In general, the press upholds Lord Dunraven in his refusal to sail over the course yesterday without the guarantee it would be kept clear of excursion steamers and other craft.

In a leader the Pall Mall Gazette says the result is unfortunate and will be deplored quite as deeply by sportsmen in America and by the same class in England.

The article puts the whole blame for the fiasco upon the hindering steamers and concludes: "But no one is to blame who is worth blaming. We can only hope arrangements for future contests of this character will be under more satisfactory conditions."

In its yachting column the Pall Mall Gazette says: "While, in our opinion, the Defender, under fair conditions, would probably have beaten the Valkyrie in at least three out of the five races, we can not but regret the Valkyrie had no chance of sailing under fair conditions. To say the Defender worthily retained the cup would be ridiculous."

Further on, in the same article, the Gazette says: "We hope Earl Dunraven will consent to sail for the proposed cup off Marblehead, as all are anxious to see the comparative merits of the yachts tested and see the best boat win.

"Should the Valkyrie win, which we thing improbable, neither Lord Dunraven nor any one else would bother to challenge again for America's cup, which the new trophy would replace.

"Should the Valkyrie lose we know Lord Dunraven would take the beating like a sportsman. Thus the races of 1895 would be brought to a pleasant conclusion and a further challenge for the new cup would be only a matter of a few years.

"If Valkyrie III returns without the race it means the owner is convinced he did not get fair treatment at the hands of the committee and no contest for the cup is likely to occur, even though the committee decided in future it would be sailed where there was a certainty of a fair course."

The Sun, which throughout has made sneering comments upon Americans as sportsmen, says a feeling has grown up here that fair competition must not be looked for in the contest for the cup, but adds it does not sympathize with the view.

The Evening News says the whole business is in the highest degree discreditable to the reputation of Americans as good sportsmen.

The Westminster Gazette says: "Of course we all love our Americans very much, but our newspapers beg to assure them we all cordially support Lord Dunraven's retiring in disgust from the contest involving so much rowdyism and unfairness."

The St. James Gazette says: "Once again the great Anglo-American sporting contest has ended muddily in a fiasco and quarrel, a not unusual experience."

The Globe puts the entire blame upon the excursion steamers and thoroughly indorses Earl Dunraven's course, which "maintained to the full the high traditions of British sport."

The New York "World" Shows Enterprise After Its Fire.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Sept 13.—This morning the World was probably the only regular issue of a newspaper which contained not a line of advertising.

The flooding of the press room on account of the fire reduced the press capacity so it was possible to print only eight pages.

Eight solid pages of advertising were thrown away rather than cut the news.

In spite of the delays due to the fire itself and consequent upon it which included the stopping of all the type setting machines by the cutting off of gas, the paper went to press on time.

The World is receiving from newspapers throughout the country expressions of regret at its loss.

The World expresses gratitude for the cordial interest manifested, assuring its friends no serious damage has been done, owing to the fire-proof nature of the building.

A THINKER GONE.

Death of Dr. Wakefield, the Oldest Mason in the World.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 13.—Rev. Dr. Samuel Wakefield died today at West Newton.

Dr. Wakefield was said to be the oldest Mason and the oldest preacher in the Methodist Episcopal church, and likely the oldest of any denomination in the world.

He had been a member of the Masonic fraternity almost seventy-five years.

He published several books on theology and music when comparatively young, which made him widely known, "Wakefield's Theology" has become classic in the life time of the Methodist Episcopal church.

KEEPING OUT THE CHOLERA.

Strict Quarantine to Be Kept on the Pacific Coast.

Canada Joins Hands in the Efforts to Head Off the Disease.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Dr. Wyman, surgeon-general of the Marine Hospital service, speaking of the cholera in Honolulu, said today the quarantine service on the coast is in very good condition.

Every entry has been inspected by regular marine hospital officers and compliance with the treasury regulations is assured.

The Marine Hospital service has quarantine establishments at Port Townsend, Washington; San Diego, California; and a complete quarantine plant at San Francisco, with regular officers of the service in charge.

At Gray's Harbor, Washington, there is a sanitary inspector of the marine service and also one at Empire City, Oregon.

The Columbia River, which includes the ports of Portland and Astoria, Oregon, are in charge of state officers acting under special instructions issued by the Marine Hospital service.

At Eureka, California, there is a regular sanitary inspector.

A special regulation has been issued regarding the disinfection of all baggage from all ports of the Orient, including Hawaii.

The United States consul at Yokohama, has a physician to assist him in the inspection of vessels.

Dr. Wyman wrote to the chief quarantine officer of Canada to inquire what has been done regarding protecting the northern frontier from immigrants coming by way of British Columbia.

He was informed that the Canadian authorities had been forestalled by the steamship companies, who, as long ago as July, refused to bring Japanese immigrants, because of the detention in vessels.

A DOCTOR'S TROUBLE.

Ambrosemf Is Now Seeking a Writ of Habeas Corpus.

Dr. S. A. Ambrosemf objects to submitting his liberty to Mrs. Job Mack-Franklin's love caprices. When the lady married she asked to be released from the doctor's bond which was keeping him out of jail, he having been convicted of practicing medicine without having first obtained a certificate. Her request was granted and the doctor was marched into prison.

Now through his attorneys he intends asking the court by a writ of habaes corpus to order his release from durance vile on the grounds that he is still entitled to liberty by reason of his bond.

A. L. Gould, the drayman who was arrested and found guilty in the Police Court for not complying with the law respecting draymen's licenses, was in the Police Court for sentence this morning.

He asked that the matter be postponed for one week as he intended testing the validity of the ordinance. He has seen his fellow draymen and they have arranged a meeting for Monday night at which they will bring their contributions for hiring an attorney and paying other expenses of the contest.

THE DRAIN OF GOLD.

Over Four and a Half Million Dollars' Worth Off to Europe.

THE TREASURY FUND EBBING.

It Is Believed the Syndicate Will Come to the Rescue.

NO MORE BONDS PROBABLE.

Senator Peffer Runs Up a War Flag Regarding the Matter.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The following announcements of gold shipments by tomorrow's steamers have been made: W. H. Crossman & Bro., $1,000,000; Hoskier, Wood & Co., $500,000; Hard & Rand, $200,000; Nesslage & Fuller, $100,000; Lazard Freres, $2,500,000; Handy & Harmon, $150,000.

Handy & Harman increased their shipment to $250,000, making the aggregate thus far $4,550,000.

Zimmerman & Forshay will forward £3000 English gold tomorrow.

The fact that Lazard Freres are important members of the government bond syndicate, increases the already great surprise regarding the gold shipments.

A member of the firm made the following statement to the Associated Press: "We believed that during the first of September a sufficient amount of grain and cotton and other bills would have been offering and the necessity of exporting this gold would thus be averted. Our shipment of gold is an imperative necessity in order to fulfill business obligations with Europe. We hope it will be a temporary expedient, and that within the next few weeks plenty of bills will be offering and everything come around all right."

The firm recites the low prices ruling for our breadstuffs, the slow movement of cotton and the fair supply of that staple already in European hands as the causes for the shipment of gold.

BANKS TO THE RESCUE.

The Hanover National bank has deposited $700,000 at the sub-treasury in exchange for greenbacks.

The sum of $500,000 was withdrawn from the sub-treasury this morning. It is part of the engagements announced for shipment.

The National Park bank has deposited $1,500,000 gold at the sub-treasury in exchange for greenbacks.

The National Bank of Commerce and American Exchange National bank have each deposited in the sub-treasury $200,000 gold in exchange for greenbacks.

The National City bank will probably deposit between $500,000 and $1,000,000.

WHAT THE SYNDICATE SAYS.

J. Pierpont Morgan, the head of the government bond syndicate, when asked as to the rumors of the dissolution of the syndicate, replied: "The syndicate is still in the field. There has been no rupture. The syndicate will continue to do all it can to help to maintain the treasury gold reserve at the $100,000,000 mark. The obligations of the syndicate expired, however, some time ago."

Morgan expressed surprise at the slow movement of the cotton crop and the present scarcity of bills against breadstuffs.

He said undoubtedly the offerings of those bills will be daily increased in the next few weeks and thus a safeguard against the exports will be made.

The president of a large down town bank said the syndicate was accumulating gold as fast as possible, and this would be turned over to the treasury.

The example of the Hanover National bank in despositing $500,000 this morning for greenbacks is expected to be followed this afternoon by a number of other New York banks.

EFFECT ON THE MARKET.

The engagements of gold at the sub-treasury up to 11 o'clock, aggregating $4,500,000 for export on tomorrow's steamers had a demoralizing effect on share speculation. The quotations at 11 o'clock were ⅛ to 2 per cent below final transactions yesterday. All the leading shares participated in a downward movement and there was no abatement of pressure at 11.

The tendency of prices continued downward until 11:30. Meanwhile declines had occurred ranging from ⅛@3¼ per cent, compared with last night's final figures. Sugar scored an extreme loss.

Later a firmer tone was evinced and rallies recorded amounting in sugar to 1½ per cent.

THE QUOTATIONS.

Money on call, 1 per cent. Silver certificates, 67¾@67½c. Bar silver, 67c. Lead, $3.25.

THE TREASURY NOTIFIED.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The news that $4,500,000 had been withdrawn today from the sub-treasury at New York for export was received here with surprise and the announcement created for a moment something like a sensation in the treasury department.

This feeling, however, was shared by the high officials, who apparently regard the withdrawal as an incident to the speculative spirit that seems to pervade Wall street.

By some officials it is thought the withdrawals are made with the sole purpose of forcing another bond issue.

It can be stated, however, on excellent authority there will not be another issue of bonds and none will be needed.

Those cognizant of the fact state the Morgan-Belmont syndicate, under the terms of the contract, undoubtedly will protect the gold reserve against the inroads of speculators and will see to it that a reasonable balance is maintained.

No doubt is expressed that as soon as the grain shipments from the Northwest come in there will be an abundant supply of foreign bills on the market to meet every demand and the withdrawals it is thought must necessarily cease.

Today's statement of the condition of the treasury shows an available cash balance of $181,062,586 and a gold reserve of $99,568,374.

TO FIGHT MORE BONDS.

TOPEKA, Kan., Sept. 13.—Senator Peffer said today that if another issue of bonds be made without authority of Congress he will introduce in the Senate a resolution for their repudiation.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 13.—The unprecedented hospitality and good will in connection with the twenty-ninth encampment of the G. A. R. closes with sadness.

While the funerals of the five victims of Wednesday's explosion were in progress, fully 100 people were suffering from their injuries received at the collapse of the grand stand during the display of fire works last night.

In addition to the fifty names of injured given in these dispatches last night, Mrs. H. Hirschfield, who had her feet there are about fifty others who were taken to their homes in carriages by friends. Only the names of those taken away in ambulances were available.

The hospitals are full of patients suffering from the effects of the heat and injuries received at the accident last night. mashed and hip dislocated, may not recover.

Edward Hoard, a musician of Springfield, Ohio, who was not on the grand stand but on the top of the sanitary booth that escaped during the fire works, is in a critical condition.

The Railroad Contends That Pledges Prejudged Its Case.

(Special to The Tribune).

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—Dr. Stanton has won his fight.

His resolution calling for a reduction of 25 per cent in the freight rates was adopted at the meeting of the Railroad Commission this afternoon.

La Rue and Stanton voted aye and Clark said no.

The preparation of a schedule cutting down the rates will at once commence for though the resolution does not call for an immediate reduction the new rating will be arranged very shortly.

The railroad will contest the matter in the courts.

In the first place it will claim that its case was prejudged by the platform pledges of Stanton and La Rue.

If this fails it will attack the constitutionality of the Railroad Commission.

POLICE COURT NEWS.

A Colored Picnic Case Called Before Judge Wood.

Judge Wood had a light calendar this morning. Two men, one Chinaman and a woman were the only dock ornaments. One of the men, Moses Alback, was given thirty days for drunk. The woman was given ten days for the same offense and the Chinaman was the recipient of a pressing invitation to spend the next sixty days as the city's guest for petty larceny.

The case of Ah Wing the seller of Chinese lottery tickets was called for sentence. Mr. Bradley, his attorney, explained that the defendant was ill. He had not the proper physicians certificate necessary for a continuance and besides issuing an attachment for the offender the court declared the cash bail of $150 forfeited.

Herman De Brig, charged with battery, pleaded not guilty and had his trial set for the 16th.

Louis Hounsmith pleaded not guilty to disturbing the peace, and his trial was set for the 20th.

The colored society had celebrated Admission Day with a picnic at Plittsville. On the way home H. A. Smith, an "artist" with the razor and shears disturbed the peace and quiet of W. E. Roseboro, the conductor of the car on which the offender was riding. The conductor told how Smith had walked up and down the car aisle, talked in a loud voice, sat too close to a lady and smashed the hat of a fellow picnicker over his ears. The friends of the defendant said he had acted "jes lubly" and in strict accordance with rules of returning-from-picnics etiquette. The court thought his behavior was about right and found him not guilty.

Manuel Carria's Body Found Floating in the Estuary.

The body of Manuel Carria was found yesterday afternoon floating in the creek near the foot of Linden street by three lads who saw the body and reported it to Officer Kyte.

Carria was a six year old lad and lived with his widowed mother and sisters at 708 Franklin street. He was missing from his home since last Friday. On that day with two companions he went to play on the Webster street wharf. He was missed by his playmates when they were ready to return but they thought he had gone home without them.

PHILLIPS DENIES IT.

A Counter Affidavit Filed in the Reeder Case.

Officer Phillips has filed with the court a counter affidavit in which he strenuously denies the charges of A. L. Reeder that he fraudulently advised him to plead guilty, or that Reeder was "buncoed" into prison through him or his efforts.

He says that he was asked by Reeder what to plead and that he told him he knew nothing of the case; for him to plead guilty if he was guilty and not guilty if innocent. He further says however that he did tell Reeder if he demanded a jury trial it would be five or ten days before he could be tried and if they found him guilty the court would probably be more severe in its sentence because of bringing twenty-five or thirty men into court.

Judge Wood refused to rule this morning on Reeder's motion for a new trial and continued the case until tomorrow.

Moran has objected to the work and when the California Improvement Company, which had the contract, brought suit to foreclose the lien upon his property, he commenced to fight. Moran will make a hard fight against paying, before he will allow judgment to be taken against him.

USES OF ARGON.

The New Gas May Be of Service in Several Industries.

The discovery has well been called "the triumph of the last place of decimals"—that is, of work so exact that the worker knew that the small difference in the figures he obtained must be due to the presence of an unknown substance rather than to an error in his results. The prediction based on his observation, the search for the disturbing substance, and its discovery, form an achievement which, in the history of science, has perhaps only been surpassed by the prediction of Neptune by Adams and Leverier, and its subsequent discovery by Galle. The elements of recent discovery have all been metals which occur in minute quantities in rare minerals. No non-metallic element has been discovered for nearly 70 years, and the existence of another element belonging to this group did not seem probable; still less likely did it appear that such an element could be present in our atmosphere.

Though unique in its chemical inactivity it would be premature to conclude that argon yet untried, and that it is an absolutely "idle" and useless thing. Prof. Roberts-Austen suggests that it may possibly play a part in certain metallurgical operations in which air is largely employed. In making Bessemer steel, for instance, not less than 160,000 cubic feet of air are blown through each charge of metal for the purpose of removing the carbon, silicon, phosphorus and other impurities. In this air there must be over 100 cubic feet of argon. Now, Prof. Roberts-Austen has found by experiment that the nitrogen which can be pumped out of Bessemer blown metal, and which is twice the volume of the metal, contains little or no argon, and the question arises whether the argon may not have united with iron, as nitrogen undoubtedly does and confer upon Bessemer steel some of the peculiarities which distinguish it from other steel. It is, of course, possible, and perhaps more likely, that the argon passes through the molten metal without combining with it, but the suggestion is an interesting one, and well worth experimental examination.

Further, it may prove that argon is in some way taken up by plants, and contributes in an important manner to their nourishment and growth, although the attempts to extract argon from vegetable and animal substances have thus far yielded negative results. As is well known, plants are unable to take nitrogen directly from the air, but obtain it from nitrogenous compounds which are absorbed in solution by their roots. The air is, however, the original source of these compounds, as well as of all other naturally occurring nitrogenous substances, most of which are produced by the life activity of microorganisms, and from the natural substances all chemical compounds containing nitrogen are prepared.—Popular Science Monthly.

Two Gentlemen and a Wheel.

Lawyer L. L. Harris has lost all faith in humanity—also a brand new bicycle.

Yesterday morning the attorney was engaged to defend a professional borrower before Justice Richardson at the Armory Police Court. In order to assure himself that no one could take liberties with his "bike" while conducting the case, Mr. Harris wheeled it into the general office and leaned it against the steam pipes. Then he tied a placard on the wheel as follows:

"This bicycle is the property of a legal gentleman, who will be back in 20 minutes."

Mr. Harris then entered the court room, and, after expounding the statute and pawing the air for half an hour, lost his case and his fee.

After pocketing his pride, in lieu of his fee, the attorney returned to the office, but his "bike" was gone. In its place was another placard, upon which were these words:

"To the Legal Gentleman (?):

"Your wheel was taken by another gentleman who is a "scorcher." He won't be back at all."

Mr. Harris swore inwardly and howled outwardly, filed complaints with everybody and then swore out a warrant for John Doe.—Chicago Daily Inter Ocean.

A PLEASANT PLACE.

That is what we have tried to make our new store. We have had fresco artists, wood and metal workers, and glassmen to help us till our place is one of the handsomest.

Then we want it comfortable. There is a cosy ladies' waiting room on one side, and the right kind of a soda fountain on the other. Down the center is the BRANCH POSTOFFICE, where you can get stamps, money orders, etc., and register letters.

We want your trade. You can depend on us always for right dealing and right prices.

DURRANT DOSED.

Testimony That Puts Him in a Very Bad Light.

HE TALKED AGAINST BLANCHE.

Unsavory Remarks When He Heard She Was Missing.

HER WEIGHT IS IN EVIDENCE.

It Would Be Easy Enough to Carry Her Up the Belfry

By Associated Press to the Tribune.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—This morning testimony in the Durrant case was good for the prosecution and evidence was introduced directly connecting the prisoner with the murder of Blanche Lamont.

The first witness was Richard Charlton, a grocer, who testified that he had weighed Blanche on an average of once a month during her stay in the city. The last time he weighed her was on March 27th or 28th. Then she weighed 118 pounds.

The greatest weight she attained was 121 pounds. Her average weight was 115 pounds.

This was considered a triumph for the prosecution, as showing that such a light weight could be easily carried or dragged up the belfry by Durrant.

The defense had tried to show her weight was 140 pounds.

Henry Shalmount, a conductor on the Sutter street car system, testified that on April 3d Durrant and Blanche Lamont had got on his car at the corner of Mission and Ninth streets.

Durrant sat with his arm on the top of the seat back of Blanche and seemed on very familiar terms with her.

The witness was an excellent one for the prosecution and of the Samuel Weller type.

He resisted all the efforts of the defense to break down his testimony.

He had all his time schedules so firmly fixed in his mind that no cross-examination could fluster him.

He said he identified Blanche by her picture published in the papers after her disappearance and had identified Durrant at the city hall and again saw him as a defendant now in court.

Durrant and Miss Lamont left his car at the corner of Sutter and Polk, taking a transfer to the Polk street cars.

He said Durrant and Blanche appeared to be very jolly together.

Herman J. Schledger, a medical student and classmate of Durrant testified he knew Durrant well.

He had seen him on the morning of April 13th.

He noticed him first at the corner of Ninth and Mission street.

He was accompanied by Blanche Lamont.

Durrant had previously told him the girl was Blanche Lamont.

He had frequently seen them together.

At the corner of Webster and Sutter witness got off the car to go to the medical college.

Afterwards Durrant asked witness if he remembered meeting him with Blanche on that day.

Durrant said at that time that Blanche had disappeared and he (Durrant) feared she had gone into a house of ill-fame.

Durrant had remarked that Blanche was an innocent girl and that he led her easily.

Witness answered all questions with a marked reluctance, evidently trying to protect his fellow-student as far as possible.

Several times in response to questions the witness seemed on the verge of a disclosure but always checked himself in time.

He was a good witness for the people, however, in spite of himself.

The next witness was S. W. Horton, a reporter, who testified he had interviewed Durrant on the night after his arrest.

Durrant told him he had taken a Sutter street car with Blanche Lamont.

Defendant's counsel had been shifting uneasily in their chairs and now said they would admit that Blanche and Durrant had been together on the day she disappeared.

Minnie Bell Edwards was the next witness.

She was a classmate of Blanche and after school boarded the same car at the corner of Powell and Clay streets.

Miss Edwards testified as follows: "When Blanche got on the car Durrant was with her. I went inside. They were outside on the east side of the dummy. Blanche carried school books and wore a black serge dress. I identify these books and dress as those carried and worn on that day."

The attorneys for the defense gave Miss Edwards a long and severe cross-examination but she stuck to her story without a break, positively identifying Durrant as the man accompanying Blanche on the afternoon of April 3rd.

She described minutely how she, how Blanche and how Durrant stood before boarding the car.

She told how Durrant wore his hat and every change of position he made.

She had identified Durrant's portrait when published in the papers and had also identified him at the city hall.

She did not know why she had been summoned as a witness.

She told her story to her school teacher and to no one else.

Dr. Milton Refuses to Certify to Mrs. Stephens' Death.

Dr. Milton today refused to sign the death certificate of Mrs. Christiana Johanna Stephens.

Mrs. Stephens died yesterday and at her death no physician was in attendance. Undertaker Evers called in Dr. Milton.

The autopsy showed that pleurisy had caused death but under the circumstances the doctor preferred to give the results of his examination to the coroner's jury than to attach it to a death certificate.

Mrs. Stephens died at 163 Second street. She was 42 years of age and had resided in Oakland for the past twelve years.

CAUSTIC COMMENTS.

What the London Press Says of the Cup Committee's Decision.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—While the tone of the best English newspapers, in commenting upon the decision of the cup committee sustaining the Defender's claim of a foul in Tuesday's race, continues to be moderate, it must be admitted the committee's decision has produced a general feeling of irritation among the Englishmen.

Adverse comments are heard on all sides.

The Yachtsman says: "The first match could hardly be called a race owing to shameful interference by the excursion steamers. It seems clear that in Tuesday's race the Defender lost nothing by the accident, but was beaten on her merits in a beat to windward. With regard to the Defender's protest, it is impossible as yet to form an opinion, save it would not have been lodged by Valkyrie III had the cases been reversed."

The Sun, which throughout has maintained a tone hostile to America, says: "The Yankees evidently intend to keep the cup. Possession is nine points of law in America."

The Evening News says: "The whole business savors of sharp practice. No one would quarrel with a decision ordering the race to be resailed, but we can not stomach a paper victory awarded the Defender."

The Pall Mall Gazette dilates upon British patience, good temper and the unquenchable love of justice, and continues: "It is not easy to accept the decision, but we hope we are taking it as sportsmen. It is hardly equitable, but according to the rules of game, we accept it and will try again. It turns out that Iselin is a sportsman with the best of us. We shall have another race."

The St. James Gazette also accepts as a fact the report that Iselin has offered to resail Tuesday's race. The Gazette says: "It is a most sportsmanlike offer. The decision seems clearly and demonstratively wrong, but was authoritative and should be accepted by all."

The Globe says: 'The decision is received with the bitterest regret and disappointment. Still, it is the duty of Englishmen as true sportsmen to accept it without complaint or protest."

The Westminster Gazette says: "The decision certainly puts the good feeling of English and American sportsmen to a severe test."

TODAY'S EVENTS DISCUSSED.

The news of the Valkyrie's refusal to sail over the course off Sandy Hook today, was received here too late for comment of the evening papers.

The entire press of London, however, have long dwelt upon the crowding of the course by excursion steamers and have pretty generally taken the position it is impossible to have a fair yacht race in New York harbor.

The general talk this evening is an endorsement of the withdrawal of the Valkyrie.

The Yachtsman, in an issue today says: "Although it is impossible to conceive of such hysterical excitement here as there appears to be at Nek Yoak, we may be sure if the Royal Yacht squadron found itself seriously hampered by the steamers, it would surely take the necessary steps toward securing a change of venue."

MERCED IN ONE.

The Alameda County Institute and the State Gathering Consolidated.

Dr. A. E. Winship of Boston, who had been engaged to conduct the Alameda County Institute, has telegraphed that owing to sickness, he will be unable to come to California this fall. The Institute will therefore be postponed to January 2d, 3d and 4th, 1896, and will be merged in the State Teachers' Association, which meets in January. This plan will give to the teachers of Alameda county a splendid programme, and also insure a large attendance at the Oakland meeting of the State Association.

THE RATES ARE CUT.

Dr. Stanton's Eight Per Cent Resolution Is Adopted.

AN UNANIMOUS VOTE GIVEN.

The Twenty-Five Per Cent Reduction Is Opposed.

LA RUE SPEAKS AGAINST IT.

No Agreement Arrived at and the Matter Is Continued.

Special to The Tribune.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—At a meeting of the railroad commissioners this afternoon Dr. Stanton's resolution calling for a reduction of 8 per cent on the grain rates was unanimously adopted.

Stanton's resolution calling for a reduction of 25 per cent was next taken up.

Clark said he would not vote for it as he did not think it a fair proposition.

La Rue said he favored a more flexible schedule. He evidently did not want to vote for it.

Stanton refused to recede from his position and the matter went over until tomorrow.

POISONED WINE.

How a Colored Man Got Rid of a Favored Rival.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 12.—William A. Busby (colored) was arrested this morning as the man who sent a bottle of poisoned wine to James Gardner.

He appears to be the party wanted.

The wine fell into the hands of W. J. Thompson, station agent of the Santa Fe at Downey avenue, and O. L. Martin, a laborer.

Both drank of it and are dead.

The boy who was given 20 cents to carry the wine to the depot identifies Busby as the man who gave it to him.

Gardner is a Pullman porter and Busby was formerly.

Both have kept company with a colored belle named Scott, who has lately favored Gardner.

Busby refuses to talk.

The society comprises about 150 members and according to the treasurer's report is on a sound financial basis.

WATER FRONT NOTES.

A Gleaning of News From Down Where the Ships Come In.

A large wagon belonging to H. White essayed to cross the narrow gauge track at the foot of Webster street yesterday, but, being too heavily laden, it broke down, blocking both the local track and the Alameda electric car line. Jack screws were procured from the city wharfinger and the truck removed after delaying the train about fifteen minutes.

The city wharf is badly in need of repairs. It is covered with patches and many of the boards are loose, making the wharf unsafe in places. City Wharfinger Rutherford has petitioned the Board of Public Works, who promised to put the wharf in good repair soon.

Taylor's large new coal bunkers are rapidly nearing completion. They will be ready for use in a week or ten days. Mr. Taylor is also having his warehouse and office raised and a brick foundation built under it.

The timber for the Haywards bridge has arrived at the wharf from Mendocino. It will be sent by rail to Haywards before Saturday.

A Railroad Man Gone.

Under the auspices of the University Lodge, No. 144, I. O. O. F., the remains of Frederick L. Krag were bourn to their last resting place in Mountain View cemetery today. The funeral was held at the residence of the deceased at 658 Grove street. Mr. Krag was 59 years of age and for many years had been in the employ of the railroad.

MALOON GOT MAD.

His Favorite Yacht Impaled on a Buried Pile.

Henry Maloon, ex-license inspector, is the proud possessor of one of the best yachts that ever sailed the waters of the Oakland estuary. Every night, after a hard day's work, it is his wont to take a quiet sail up and down the creek, after which he carefully anchors his precious craft on the Alameda side, far from the reach of meddlesome small boys and thieving longshoremen.

Last week, after one of the most delightful excursions that ever Oaklander took, he anchored his "Daisy" and started for home, at peace with himself and the world. But had he known what cruel fate awaited his beloved pleasure boat his joy would have been turned to gall. With lack of his usual careful forethought he had anchored his vessel at high tide without sounding the water beneath her. If he had he would have found one of the sharpest-pointed, worm-eaten piles that stud the mud of the creek, waiting menacing below the shining keel of his boat.

But he did not, and as he wended his way home the tide fell and with it the boat, till by her own weight a large hole had been stove in her bottom and she was left half out of the water like a forlorn dove cote.

At the next high tide Mr. Maloon came for his customary sail and, noticing that his boat was filled with water, and attributing the cause to an inexperienced borrower, he forthwith procured a can and began to bale. Never did he work so hard inspecting licenses as he did baling that boat, but as the tide was rising he seemed to make little progress. He called a friend and with two dippers they toiled until their perspiration mingled with the water of the creek, producing a calm for yards around. At last the tide turned and fell and with its fall rose the hopes of the marines, for now the effect of their arduous labors was plainly visible. Slowly and steadily the water left the boat, and just as they were about to cast aside their tin cans Mr. Maloon discovered that the boat was rather high out of the water. This led to further discoveries and then a lone pelican resting in the quiet of the gloaming heard such language that made it blush and fly down the creek, where it could rest undisturbed by the voice of civilization.

M'SWEENEY'S RETURN.

Elaborate Arrangements Are Being Made for His Reception.

The committee in charge of the proposed reception to Rev. Thomas McSweeney, pastor of St. Francis de Sales church, comprises Mrs. J. M Driscoll, chairman; William Craib, Daniel Crowley, B. McFadden, Neil Gallagher and J. Spencer.

This committee is now at work decorating the hall adjoining the church, where the exercises will take place.

The date of the reception will depend upon the time of the arrival of Father McSweeney in this city.

If he should reach here tomorrow the reception will be held tomorrow evening. If his arrival should be delayed until Saturday, morning the welcome in behalf of the congregation will be extended next Saturday night.

The reception will be of a public character and the committee says that everybody will be welcome.

The main speech of welcome will be delivered by B. McFadden.

ROASTED ALIVE.

By Associated Press to the Tribune.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—The Bulletin will print a story this afternoon that General Florenard Bustamente, the refugee from San Salvodar, who was surrendered to the commander of Port la Libertad by the captain of the Pacific Mail steamer City of Sydney, was given up by order of United States Consular Agent Cooper.

It is said Cooper came aboard with the Salvador authorities and searched the ship for the refugee.

When found it is said Bustamente was seized by the maddened populace, saturated with oil and then roasted alive.

CHOICE CLOAKS.

A Splendid Collection at the Goldberg Suit House.

Messrs. S. and M. Goldberg, for many years dealers in cloaks and suits in Eastern cities, have opened an establishment on Thirteenth street, which fills a long-felt need in Oakland. It is under the management of a lady who has had charge of similar establishments in New York and other places, and who is thoroughly competent as to taste and judgment to occupy such a position. The goods they carry are the finest, being principally those which will be the prevailing styles this season, such as Scotch tweeds and English cheviots. Many of their cloaks and suits are imported, though they have their own tailors and will take orders. Their styles are the latest, among them coats in the Madame San Gene and Elite styles which, with the loose effects, are very dressy.

The popular materials for capes this season seem to be in velours, velvets and uncut plushes. They are dreams of chiffon, flowers and mouselline de soie. Added to the fact that their goods are the finest and their prices reasonable, their already extensive patronage should increase greatly.

MEDIUMS.

ADVICE AND ASSISTANCE FOR all.—Secure a charm and wear diamonds; his parlors are always filled with anxious people seeking reliable information, and every reply is most gratifying. All are pleased. Professor Eugene gives advice on business, speculations, investments, love, courtship, marriage and divorce, settles lovers' quarrels, reunites the separated and causes a speedy and happy marriage with the one of your choice; he locates mines and buried treasures, tells you of your friends and enemies, removes evil influences, gives advice pertaining to lawsuits, locates and recovers old estates. Developing mediums a specialty. The troubled and unfortunate should seek his counsel. Thousands of families long separated have been reunited by his efforts; thousands of hearts made glad through his truthful predictions; he is the only clairvoyant on earth recognized by the profession as their brightest star; all persons unsuccessful in business, who seem to be unlucky, should visit him, seek his aid, and start aright. Thousands have become wealthy through his advice; he is ever ready to assist those with capital to find a safe and good-paying investment. Young men starting in business will find it greatly to their advantage to consult him on all matters of financial interest to themselves. Professor Eugene should not be classed with the many cheap pretenders who infest cities and bring disrepute to the profession. His past successes in matters of great import are a positive guarantee of his powers to perform the wonders that have made him famous. All are invited to call. Hours 9 A. M. to 8 P. M. WILL RACE NO MORE.

Lord Dunraven's Yacht Being Prepared for the Sea Trip.

QUICK WORK BY THE SEAMEN.

The English Newspapers Are All In Support of His Action.

AMERICAN METHODS DECRIED.

The Britishers Claim They Cannot Get Fair Play Over Here.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Valkyrie III. left her anchorage at Bay Ridge today and went to Erie Basin.

On arrival at the Basin the Valkyrie was hauled into a position between two steamers just outside the dry-dock, where she had several times been hauled out for cleaning and repairing purposes.

The crew, under the command of Captains Cranfield and Sycamore, were immediately set to work to strip the yacht and prepare for the voyage across the ocean home.

The sailors worked with their usual alacrity and effectiveness, and before 11 o'clock had lowered the topmast and removed the bowsprit gear.

The yacht will doubtless be ketch-rigged for the ocean voyage, as she was when she sailed from England for America.

WILL NOT RACE AGAIN.

Whatever doubt may have existed as to Lord Dunraven's intention of racing the Valkyrie in this country again was dispelled this morning by H. Maitland Kersey.

"When seen by a reporter he said "No, the Valkyrie will never race again on this side of the Atlantic. The races are over and that settles it. I have nothing more to say on that point."

"It was rumored last evening that Lord Dunraven intends to start for Niagara Falls today," said the reporter.

"If that is so the rumor is false. He may go to Newport in a day or two, when I cannot say."

Mr. Kersey, speaking of the offer of Col. Taylor of Boston, said that, as Lord Dunraven had decided not to race his yacht again in America it would be idle to discuss that or any other such offer.

JOHN BULL INDIGNANT.

The Britishers All Think That Dunraven Has Been Badly Treated.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—The conclusion of the international yacht races for the America's cup furnished a text for articles in all the London afternoon papers.

In general, the press upholds Lord Dunraven in his refusal to sail over the course yesterday without the guarantee it would be kept clear of excursion steamers and other craft.

In a leader the Pall Mall Gazette says the result is unfortunate and will be deplored quite as deeply by sportsmen in America and by the same class in England.

The article puts the whole blame for the fiasco upon the hindering steamers and concludes, "But no one is to blame who is worth blaming. We can only hope arrangements for future contests of this character will be under more satisfactory conditions."

In its yachting column the Pall Mall Gazette says: "While, in our opinion, the Defender, under fair conditions, would probably have beaten the Valkyrie in at least three out of the five races, we can not but regret the Valkyrie had no chance of sailing under fair conditions. To say the Defender worthily retained the cup would be ridiculous."

Further on, in the same article, the Gazette says: "We hope Earl Dunraven will consent to sail for the proposed cup off Marblehead, as all are anxious to see the comparative merits of the yachts tested and see the best boat win.

"Should the Valkyrie win, which we thing improbable, neither Lord Dunraven nor any one else would bother to challenge again for America's cup, which the new trophy would replace.

"Should the Valkyrie lose we know Lord Dunraven would take the beating like a sportsman. Thus the races of 1895 would be brought to a pleasant conclusion and a further challenge for the new cup would be only a matter of a few years.

"If Valkyrie III returns without the race it means the owner is convinced he did not get fair treatment at the hands of the committee and no contest for the cup is likely to occur, even though the committee decided in future it would be sailed where there was a certainty of a fair course."

The Sun, which throughout has made sneering comments upon Americans as sportsmen, says a feeling has grown up here that fair competition must not be looked for in the contest for the cup, but adds it does not sympathize with the view.

The Evening News says the whole business is in the highest degree discreditable to the reputation of Americans as good sportsmen.

The Westminster Gazette says: "Of course we all love our Americans very much, but our newspapers beg to assure them we all cordially support Lord Dunraven's retiring in disgust from the contest involving so much rowdyism and unfairness."

The St. James Gazette says: "Once again the great Anglo-American sporting contest has ended muddily in a fiasco and quarrel, a not unusual experience."

The Globe puts the entire blame upon the excursion steamers and thoroughly indorses Earl Dunraven's course, which "maintained to the full the high traditions of British sport."

LEFT OUT THE ADS.

The New York "World" Shows Enterprise After Its Fire.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Sept 13.—This morning the World was probably the only regular issue of a newspaper which contained not a line of advertising.

The flooding of the press room on account of the fire reduced the press capacity so it was possible to print only eight pages.

Eight solid pages of advertising were thrown away rather than cut the news.

In spite of the delays due to the fire itself and consequent upon it which included the stopping of all the type setting machines by the cutting off of gas, the paper went to press on time.

The World is receiving from newspapers throughout the country expressions of regret at its loss.

The World expresses gratitude for the cordial interest manifested, assuring its friends no serious damage has been done, owing to the fire-proof nature of the building.

A THINKER GONE.

Death of Dr. Wakefield, the Oldest Mason in the World.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

PITTSBURG, Sept 13.—Rev. Dr. Samuel Wakefield died today at West Newton.

Dr. Wakefield was said to be the oldest Mason and the oldest preacher in the Methodist Episcopal church, and likely the oldest of any denomination in the world.

He had been a member of the Masonic fraternity almost seventy-five years.

He published several books on theology and music when comparatively young which made him widely known. "Wakefield's Theology" has become classic in the life time of the Methodist Episcopal church.

KEEPING OUT THE CHOLERA.

Strict Quarantine to Be Kept on the Pacific Coast.

Canada Joins Hands in the Efforts to Head Off the Disease.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Sept 13.—Dr. Wyman, surgeon-general of the Marine Hospital service, speaking of the cholera in Honolulu, said today the quarantine service on the coast is in very good condition.

Every entry has been inspected by regular marine hospital officers and compliance with the treasury regulations is assured.

The Marine Hospital service has quarantine establishments at Port Townsend, Washington; San Diego, California; and a complete quarantine plant at San Francisco, with regular officers of the service in charge.

At Gray's Harbor, Washington, there is a sanitary inspector of the marine service and also one at Empire City, Oregon.

The Columbia River, which includes the ports of Portland and Astoria, Oregon, are in charge of state officers acting under special instructions issued by the Marine Hospital service.

At Eureka, California, there is a regular sanitary inspector.

A special regulation has been issued regarding the disinfection of all baggage from all ports of the Orient, including Hawaii.

The United States consul at Yokohama, has a physician to assist him in the inspection of vessels.

Dr. Wyman wrote to the chief quarantine officer of Canada to inquire what has been done regarding protecting the northern frontier from immigrants coming by way of British Columbia.

He was informed that the Canadian authorities had been forestalled by the steamship companies, who, as long ago as July, refused to bring Japanese immigrants, because of the detention in vessels.

A DOCTOR'S TROUBLE.

Ambrosemf Is Now Seeking a Writ of Habeas Corpus.

Dr. S. A. Ambrosemf objects to submitting his liberty to Mrs. Job Mack-Franklin's love caprices. When the lady married she asked to be released from the doctor's bond which was keeping him out of jail, he having been convicted of practicing medicine without having first obtained a certificate. Her request was granted and the doctor was marched into prison.

Now through his attorneys he intends asking the court by a writ of habaes corpus to order his release from durance vile on the grounds that he is still entitled to liberty by reason of his bond.

To Test an Ordinance.

A. L. Gould, the drayman who was arrested and found guilty in the Police Court for not complying with the law respecting draymen's licenses, was in the Police Court for sentence this morning.

He asked that the matter be postponed for one week as he intended testing the validity of the ordinance. He has seen his fellow draymen and they have arranged a meeting for Monday night at which they will bring their contributions for hiring an attorney and paying other expenses of the contest.

THE DRAIN OF GOLD.

Over Four and a Half Million Dollars' Worth Off to Europe.

THE TREASURY FUND EBBING.

It Is Believed the Syndicate Will Come to the Rescue.

NO MORE BONDS PROBABLE.

Senator Peffer Runs Up a War Flag Regarding the Matter.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Sept 13.—The following announcements of gold shipments by tomorrow's steamers have been made: W. H. Crossman & Bro., $1,000,000; Hoskier, Wood & Co., $700,000; Hard & Rand, $200,000; Nesslage & Fuller, $100,000; Lazard Freres, $2,500,000; Handy & Harman, $250,000.

Handy & Harman increased their shipment to $250,000, making the aggregate thus far $1,550,000.

Zimmerman & Forshay will forward $3000 English gold tomorrow.

The fact that Lazard Freres are important members of the government bond syndicate, increases the already great surprise regarding the gold shipments.

A member of the firm made the following statement to the Associated Press: "We believed that during the first of September a sufficient amount of grain and cotton and other bills would have been offering and the necessity of exporting this gold would thus be averted. Our shipment of gold is an imperative necessity in order to fulfill business obligations with Europe. We hope it will be a temporary expedient, and that within the next few weeks plenty of bills will be offering and everything come around all right."

The firm recites the low prices ruling for our breadstuffs, the slow movement of cotton and the fair supply of that staple already in European hands as the causes for the shipment of gold.

BANKS TO THE RESCUE.

The Hanover National bank has deposited $500,000 at the sub-treasury in exchange for greenbacks.

The sum of $500,000 was withdrawn from the sub-treasury this morning. It is part of the engagements announced for shipment.

The National Park bank has deposited $1,500,000 gold at the sub-treasury in exchange for greenbacks.

The National Bank of Commerce and American Exchange National bank have each deposited in the sub-treasury $200,000 gold in exchange for greenbacks.

The National City bank will probably deposit between $500,000 and $1,000,000.

WHAT THE SYNDICATE SAYS.

J. Pierpont Morgan, the head of the government bond syndicate, when asked as to the rumors of the dissolution of the syndicate, replied "The syndicate is still in the field. There has been no rupture. The syndicate will continue to do all it can to help to maintain the treasury gold reserve at the $100,000,000 mark. The obligations of the syndicate expired, however, some time ago."

Morgan expressed surprise at the slow movement of the cotton crop and the present scarcity of bills against breadstuffs.

He said undoubtedly the offerings of those bills will be daily increased in the next few weeks and thus a safeguard against the exports will be made.

The president of a large down town bank said the syndicate was accumulating gold as fast as possible, and this would be turned over to the treasury.

The example of the Hanover National bank in depositing $500,000 this morning for greenbacks is expected to be followed this afternoon by a number of other New York banks.

EFFECT ON THE MARKET.

The engagements of gold at the sub-treasury up to 11 o'clock, aggregating $4,500,000 for export on tomorrow's steamers had a demoralizing effect on share speculation. The quotations at 11 o'clock were ⅛ to 2 per cent below final transactions yesterday. All the leading shares participated in a downward movement and there was no abatement of pressure at 11.

The tendency of prices continued downward until 11:30. Meanwhile declines had occurred ranging from ⅛@3¼ per cent, compared with last night's final figures. Sugar scored an extreme loss.

Later a firmer tone was evinced and rallies recorded amounting in sugar to 1½ per cent.

THE QUOTATIONS.

Money on call, 1 per cent. Silver certificates, 67¼@67½c. Bar silver, 67c. Lead, $3.25.

THE TREASURY NOTIFIED.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The news that $4,500,000 had been withdrawn today from the sub-treasury at New York for export was received here with surprise and the announcement created for a moment something like a sensation in the treasury department.

This feeling, however, was shared by the high officials, who apparently regard the withdrawal as an incident to the speculative spirit that seems to pervade Wall street.

By some officials it is thought the withdrawals are made with the sole purpose of forcing another bond issue.

It can be stated, however, on excellent authority there will not be another issue of bonds and none will be needed.

Those cognizant of the fact state the Morgan-Belmont syndicate, under the terms of the contract, undoubtedly will protect the gold reserve against the inroads of speculators and will see to it that a reasonable balance is maintained.

No doubt is expressed that as soon as the grain shipments from the Northwest come in there will be an abundant supply of foreign bills on the market to meet every demand and the withdrawals it is thought must necessarily cease.

Today's statement of the condition of the treasury shows an available cash balance of $181,962,586 and a gold reserve of $99,568,574.

TO FIGHT MORE BONDS.

TOPEKA, Kan., Sept. 13.—Senator Peffer said today that if another issue of bonds be made without authority of Congress he will introduce in the Senate a resolution for their repudiation.

About a Hundred People Suffering From the Fireworks Disaster.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 13.—The unprecedented hospitality and good will in connection with the twenty-ninth encampment of the G. A. R. closes with sadness.

While the funerals of the five victims of Wednesday's explosion were in progress, fully 100 people were suffering from their injuries received at the collapse of the grand stand during the display of fire works last night.

In addition to the fifty names of injured given in these dispatches last night, Mrs. H. Hirschfield, who had her feet there are about fifty others who were taken to their homes in carriages by friends.

Only the names of those taken away in ambulances were available.

The hospitals are full of patients suffering from the effects of the heat and injuries received at the accident last night, mashed and hip dislocated, may not recover.

Edward Hoard, a musician of Springfield, Ohio, who was not on the grand stand but on the top of the sanitary booth that escaped during the fire works, is in a critical condition.

While the Ladies of the G. A. R. and the Woman's Relief Corps, as well as the national encampment proper, continued their sessions today, there was a special attraction for people who are not delegates to these assemblages.

At Wonder Park, the entire day was devoted to the greatest "old Kentucky barbecue" ever spread.

AN APPEAL TO BE TAKEN.

The Railroad Contends That Pledges Prejudged Its Case.

(Special to The Tribune).

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—Dr. Stanton has won his fight.

His resolution calling for a reduction of 25 per cent in the freight rates was adopted at the meeting of the Railroad Commission this afternoon.

La Rue and Stanton voted aye and Clark said no.

The preparation of a schedule cutting down the rates will at once commence for though the resolution does not call for an immediate reduction the new rating will be arranged very shortly.

The railroad will contest the matter in the courts.

In the first place it will claim that its case was prejudged by the platform pledges of Stanton and La Rue.

If this fails it will attack the constitutionality of the Railroad Commission.

POLICE COURT NEWS.

A Colored Picnic Case Called Before Judge Wood.

Judge Wood had a light calendar this morning. Two men, one Chinaman and a woman were the only dock ornaments. One of the men, Moses Allnack, was given thirty days for drunk. The woman was given ten days for the same offense and the Chinaman was the recipient of a pressing invitation to spend the next sixty days as the city's guest for petty larceny.

The case of Ah Wing the seller of Chinese lottery tickets was called for sentence, Mr. Bradley, his attorney, explained that the defendant was ill. He had not the proper physicians certificate necessary for a continuance and besides issuing a attachment for the offender the court declared the cash bail of $50 forfeited.

Herman De Ruig, charged with battery, pleaded not guilty and had his trial set for the 16th.

Louis Housmith pleaded not guilty to disturbing the peace, and his trial was set for the 20th.

The colored society had celebrated Admission Day with a picnic at Pleasants. On the way home H. A. Smith, an "Ethiop" with the razor and shears disturbed the peace and quiet of W. E. Rosebaro, the conductor of the car on which the offender was riding. The conductor told how Smith had walked up and down the car aisle, talked in a loud voice, sat too close to a lady and smashed the hat of a fellow picnicker over his ears. The friends of the defendant said he had acted "jes bubbly" and in strict accordance with rules of returning-from-picnics etiquette. The court thought his behavior was about right and found him not guilty.

FELL FROM A WHARF.

Manuel Carria's Body Found Floating in the Estuary.

The body of Manuel Carria was found yesterday afternoon floating in the creek near the foot of Linden street by three lads who saw the body and reported it to Officer Kyte.

Carria was a six year old lad and lived with his widowed mother and sisters at 708 Franklin street. He was missing from his home since last Friday. On that day with two companions he went to play on the Webster street wharf. He was missed by his playmates when they were ready to return but they thought he had gone home without them.

PHILLIPS DENIES IT.

A Counter Affidavit Filed in the Reeder Case.

Officer Phillips has filed with the court a counter affidavit in which he strenuously denies the charges of A. L. Reeder that he fraudulently advised him to plead guilty, or that Reeder was "bunco'ed" into prison through him or his efforts.

He says that he was asked by Reeder what to plead and that he told him he knew nothing of the case; for him to plead guilty if he was guilty and not guilty if innocent. He further says however that he did tell Reeder if he demanded a jury trial it would be five or ten days before he could be tried and if they found him guilty the court would probably be more severe in its sentence because of bringing twenty-five or thirty men into court.

Judge Wood refused to rule this morning on Reeder's motion for a new trial and continued the case until tomorrow.

Thomas Moran Fights a Street Assessment Lien.

Thomas Moran does not propose to pay for his share of the cost of grading and macadamizing Eighth street from Market to Peralta street if he can avoid it. Moran has objected to the work and when the California Improvement Company, which had the contract, brought suit to foreclose the lien upon his property, he commenced to fight. Moran filed an answer today to the suit. He claims as justification for refusing to pay the lien that the work was not done in accordance with the specifications as required by the city. Moran will make a hard fight against paying, before he will allow judgment to be taken against him.

USES OF ARGON.

The New Gas May Be of Service in Several Industries.

The discovery has well been called "the triumph of the last place of decimals"—that is, of work so exact that the worker knew that the small difference in the figures he obtained must be due to the presence of an unknown substance rather than to an error in his results. The prediction based on this observation, the search for the disturbing substance, and its discovery, form an achievement which, in the history of science, has perhaps only been surpassed by the prediction of Neptune by Adams and Leverrier, and its subsequent discovery by Galle. The elements of recent discovery have all been metals which occur in minute quantities in rare minerals. No non-metallic element has been discovered for nearly 70 years, and the existence of another element belonging to this group did not seem probable; still less likely did it appear that such an element could be present in our atmosphere.

Though unique in its chemical inactivity it would be premature to conclude that argon yet unified, and that it is an absolutely "idle" and useless thing. Prof. Roberts-Austen suggests that it may possibly play a part in certain metallurgical operations in which air is largely employed, in making Bessemer steel, for instance, not less than 100,000 cubic feet of air are blown through each charge of metal for the purpose of removing the carbon, silicon, phosphorus and other impurities. In this air there must be over 100 cubic feet of argon. Now, Prof. Roberts-Austen has found by experiment that the nitrogen which can be pumped out of Bessemer blown metal, and which is twice the volume of the metal, contains little or no argon, and the question arises whether the argon may not have united with iron, as nitrogen undoubtedly does and confer upon Bessemer steel some of the peculiarities which distinguish it from other steel. It is, of course, possible, and perhaps more likely, that the argon passes through the molten metal without combining with it, but the suggestion is an interesting one, and well worth experimental examination.

Further, it may prove that argon is in some way taken up by plants, and contributes in an important manner to their nourishment and growth, although the attempts to extract argon from vegetable and animal substances have thus far yielded negative results. As is well known, plants are unable to use nitrogen directly from the air, but obtain it from nitrogenous compounds which are absorbed in solution by their roots. The air is, however, the original source of these compounds, as well as of all other naturally occurring nitrogenous substances, most of which are produced by the life activity of microorganisms, and from the natural substances all chemical compounds containing nitrogen are prepared.—Popular Science Monthly.

Two Gentlemen and a Wheel.

Lawyer L. L. Harris has lost all faith in humanity—also a brand new bicycle.

Yesterday morning the attorney was engaged to defend a professional harpooner before Justice Richardson at the Armory Police Court, in order to assure himself that no one could take his rides with his "bike" while conducting the case, Mr. Harris wheeled it into the general office and leaned it against the steam pipes. Then he tied a placard on the wheel as follows:

This bicycle is the property of a legal gentleman, who will be back in 20 minutes."

Mr. Harris then entered the court room, and, after expounding the statutes and pawing the air for half an hour, lost his case and his fee.

After pocketing his pride in lieu of his fee, the attorney returned to the office, but his "bike" was gone. In its place was another placard, upon which were these words:

"To the Legal Gentleman (?):

"Your wheel was taken by another gentleman who is a "scorcher." He won't be back at all."

Mr. Harris swore inwardly and howled outwardly, filed complaints with everybody and then swore out a warrant for John Doe.—Chicago Daily Inter Ocean.

FRIDAY.....SEPTEMBER 13, 1895.

The news from Honolulu is that 35 deaths have occurred in that port from cholera, or from a disease greatly resembling it. It does not mitigate the evil that except in two instances, those attacked were natives. It is clear that the disease was brought from Asiatic ports by a passenger steamer. There is no cause for alarm here. As far as is known, not a case of cholera has been brought to this coast by any vessel coming from a foreign port. If it should prevail extensively at Honolulu it would greatly hinder Island commerce for a while.

The pardon of Liliukalani, ex-queen of Hawaii, had been anticipated for some time. She had renounced all her rights as a sovereign and had promised to behave herself as a citizen. It is evident that the authorities had no fear of the woman. Her reign of mischief has closed. It is probable that some property concession may be made for her benefit. At this time the deposed sovereign appears to be one whom few respect who know her history, and none fear, unless it be a few simple-minded natives.

One of the papers read before the recent meeting of the Science Association was on the growth of cities. The principal point made was that the social and material forces now in operation would in time change the course of population from concentration to distribution. The Boston Herald makes these comments:

"We are in the midst of marvelous economic changes, produced by advances in science and invention, that must inevitably affect the world's great centers of population to an enormous extent. Improvements and revolutions in transit methods, systems of transportation and industrial operations will naturally profoundly modify the causes that have induced concentration of population in the presence of great urban aggregations. It is absolutely impossible to predict the nature of these changes, although it looks as if the great improvements in transit facilities that appear to be in prospect might operate to relieve the congestion of dense populations, and cause a more uniform distribution of population over the land—in other words, bring the country into the city and carry the city out over the country."

It is probable that the extension of electric roads may tend towards distribution. But at present this effect appears to be wholly of a suburban character, while the tendency to the concentration of population in cities was never stronger than it is now.

The Refuse of a City.

One of the most difficult sanitary questions of the day is about the disposal of garbage of a city. Where there is accessible tide water dumping has been made with the expectation that the tidal current would carry all the refuse out of sight. In New York, where the plan of carrying garbage out to sea has been folowed for many years, that method has become very unsatisfactory. The shores and beaches of the bay were lined with the refuse which wind and tides had brought back. New York is now trying the experiment of a crematory and expects to find in that a rational solution of the problem. If one crematory is satisfactory others will be erected.

Of course this waste is the solid matter. A considerable part of it will float on the water. That has been the trouble in disposing of waste matter in that way. The dumping grounds nearly everywhere become a nuisance. Even the ground filled in by that method is not satisfactory. It is not safe for house lots. The feculant matter is near the surface. Dumps are the primitive resort. The waste of the city must be disposed of in some way. Some objections have been raised to the cremating process. It is probably the best sanitary device now known. The smoke might be offensive. But in the improved crematories there is said to be no smoke.

Crude petroleum is now very cheap. It can probably be laid down in this city for one dollar a barrel and perhaps for less. That is the best inflammable substance known for destroying garbage. It would settle the question of smoke. The crematory process would not necessarily set aside covered dump carts. There would be the same amount of garbage to be transported to some particular spot to be consumed by fire.

The Cup and the Contest.

The international contest has resulted in disappointment to all parties. Never before had two yachts so well matched contended for the prize. What was expected was a contest to the finish that might possibly include five races. These, it was hoped, would be made in all weathers and all winds, so that in the end there could be no doubt as to which is the better boat. The reason assigned by the Englishman for withdrawing from the contest will not satisfy most people. The excursion boats of which he complained were as much in the way of the American yacht as the other. It was almost impossible to keep them at the regulation distance. But there is no published evidence that they actually hindered either yacht in making the race.

One can hardly escape the conviction that the Englishman had other reasons for throwing up the contest. He found on the first trial that the American had the better boat. If she could win in comparatively still water and with a light wind, it was morally certain that she could win in a half gale. In the second race the Defender, disabled as she was by the foul of the Valkyrie, was seen to be the better boat in the judgment of experts. It is clear that Dunraven had come to the same conclusion. It would sound better at home and be a sort of heart's ease to national pride to say that the Englishman withdrew because he could no have a fair trial. It softens the defeat, as it were.

It could not be certainly known which was the superior boat until at least one race had been sailed. That settled the question in the minds of experts. The best craft that British naval skill and science could devise had been matched against the best that American skill could construct. It does not change the result in this respect, that the Englishman withdrew before the final contest. He proceeded far enough to satisfy himself as to the difference in favor of the American yacht, and certainly did not want to accentuate his defeat by another trial. The disappointment is that the Englishman was not game to the last.

A Question of Pavements.

The old, rich and conservative city of Hartford is now agitating the question of asphalt pavements. The Courant states its position to this effect:

"We want the best. Block asphalt, very properly, has been given its opportunity. A like opportunity should be given to sheet asphalt, which has already a wider use as well as more friends. In selecting the asphalt to be used, we ought to have the very best, and we ought to get that best at the best possible rate for Hartford rather than for the contractors. This seems a sound platform and a safe footing. But it is the misfortune of the whole asphalt industry that each sub-division of it has such very unpleasant things to say of others."

The two materials in competition are the Trinidad asphalt and the rock asphalt of California. Both may make very good or a very bad pavement. The California asphalt is now working its way into many of the Eastern cities. The best of this is probably the best in the world. There is a great deal of difference in the quality, even when taken from a single district. The best ought to contain not less than 10 per cent of oil not differing greatly from crude petroleum. If laid two inches thick on a concrete bed that has been well rolled it will make one of the best pavements known. If laid on a poor foundation it will not stand the crushing power of heavy loads.

These facts are well enough known here where the failures have been numerous. They are stated for the benefit of persons at a distance. There are millions of tons of asphalt rock in this State. If it can be converted into good pavements in Eastern cities, so much the better. It will all depend upon honest work, and not only that, but work done according to the best standard that has ever been adopted here for asphalt pavements.

Women as Preachers.

It is reported that the wife of the pastor of the Second Unitarian church in San Francisco has ceased to minister occasionally in that church because some dissatisfaction has been expressed on the part of the congregation with the employment of a woman as a preacher. This custom prevails to some extent in a few of the denominations. The more conservative ones have always refused to ordain women as ministers. They are never seen in that capacity in the pulpits of the Catholic church, nor in the Protestant Episcopal, Presbyterian and Congregational churches and are seldom fully commissioned in the Methodist churches.

The conservative feeling is still very strong that a woman ought not to assume the functions of an ordained minister. But the conservative feeling has been just as strong against the entrance of women into the professions of law and medicine. They have broken down the old barriers to some extent. In short, women physicians are now found in almost every State. Some of them are reaping large professional rewards.

Women have endowed hospitals and have created departments for themselves in medical colleges. The graduates increase from year to year. Women as lawyers have not made much of a figure at the bar, and it is doubtful if they ever will. When one appears in that profession the circumstance furnishes an item of news for the curious, but no assurance that any professional fame is to be won.

Perhaps in time some of the conservative opposition to the appearance of women in the pulpit may disappear. It is so strong now that there is little prospect that the leading denominations will confer ministerial orders upon women. Even if they were admitted to all the pulpits of the land they would be subject to the same discriminating and critical judgment that is at all times applied to men who fill the pulpits of the churches. There would be some who might preach to edification and some who would not. Some might draw audiences and others repel them. Great tragic actresses are not the less great on account of their sex. It may be that the time will come when a woman of talent will not be counted less desirable as a preacher because she is a woman. But it can hardly be said that that time has fully come.

The Sacramento Bee exploits the great celebration at Sacramento in a paper that will be memorable as signalizing a new era in that city. Sacramento has not only been well advertised at home, but it has been well done in papers at a distance. The Bee has done the handsome thing. Twenty-five years hence the local historian who writes about that city will find a great deal of good history in the local papers that have exploited the great celebration.

There is not a little speculation just now as to which political party will prevail in the coming election in Utah. The prospects seem to favor the Republicans. In 1892 Utah, which had a long time been Democratic, gave the Republican delegate to Congress a plurality of 2,806 votes. Last year the Republicans had an average plurality of 1,821 and they have elected delegates enough to control the Constitutional Convention. These facts, while not conclusive, indicate that the Republicans will have the upper hand at the next election.

Japan has recently contracted in England for five war vessels to cost an aggregate of $25,000,000. There is the color of extravagance in this expenditure. But then this is only a small part of the sum which Japan is to receive from China as a war indemnity. These ships are bought not from any fear of future trouble with China. Russia is the shadow that is looming up. Japan is comparatively a poor country; and it is not so rich now as it was before the war with China. A great armament will further impoverish the people.

NOTES AND EXCERPTS.

Kedesh, the city of Naphtali, where Barak and Deborah assembled the tribes of Israel, has been sought for by M. E. Gautier and not found. Two spots in the valley of the Orontes were supposed to be the place, a tumuli on a spur of Mount Lebanon, near the Lake of Homs and an island in the lake. Excavations were made in both, with the conclusion that neither is Kedesh. But on the island a series of interesting buildings one above the other was found, beginning with the Byzantine period and going back through the Greco-Phoenician to the bronze and stone ages.

Snaefell, on the Isle of Man, 2600 feet above the sea level, is now ascended by means of the first mountain electric road in Great Britain. The road is four and three-quarter miles long, with a continuous gradient of one foot in twelve.

French mutuals in France pay a tax to the State, and consequently a record of the bettings is kept. Last year Paris bet $37,800,000 in this form alone on horse races. There is no account of how much passed through the hands of the bookmakers and private agencies.

Father Kerr, who died recently in South Africa, was a grandson of the sixth Marquis of Lothian and served with distinction in the navy during the Crimean war. In 1867 he became a priest, and after acting as chaplain to the Marquis of Ripon when he was Governor-General of India, joined the Zambesi mission, where he died.

Living in the open air all summer has improved the Pope's health, which was never better than it is now. He is entirely free from the fainting spells that used to come upon him in the spring months and when pressed with business. Dr. Lapponi says: "If nothing unforeseen happens, the Holy Father's constitution is so sound that he may well attain his hundredth year."

Nail biting, acording to a French doctor, is hereditary. Almost one-third of the French school children bite their nails, and the girls are worse than the boys.

A queer Arabian Nights tale comes from the Punjab. A few weeks ago a party of weavers formed a marriage procession and started for a village in Ferozpore. The bridegroom was bald and blind of one eye, and his father feared the bride's parents would refuse him, so the weavers advised him to present a barber's boy who was with them as the groom. The barber was dressed in the groom's wedding garments and was accepted. When the marriage was over and they had returned home the weaver demanded his bride, but the barber refused to give her up, and now they have gone to law to settle the question.

An important linguistic expedition into Africa has just been completed by the Rev. Charles Robinson, who was sent out by the Haussa Association to find material for a Haussa dictionary. He first went to Tripoli and Tunis, where there are Haussa colonies, and then by way of the Niger and the Benue reached Kano, the commercial center of Haussa land. In returning from Kano to Egga on the Niger, he traversed 423 miles where no European had been. He brought back 3000 new words for a dictionary, materials for a Haussa grammar and native manuscripts containing history and historical and religious songs. The Haussa is the most important language of northern Africa. The people who speak it extend from the Niger region across to Soudan, and cover a territory nearly a thousand miles square; they are very industrious and are the only nation that Mr. Stanley met that esteemed books.

Mrs. Nat Collins, the cattle queen of Montana, who has been up to Chicago disposing of a bunch of steers, is thus described by one of the newspapers of that city: "She is neither a new woman nor typical of the Wild West, but a big woman, motherly looking and kind hearted. She is probably well up into the fifties, darkly tanned and would tip the scale at 200 pounds. She wore a shiny black skirt yesterday of heavy silk, a blue shirt waist with mother of pearl cuff buttons, a black belt and changeable tie knotted in jaunty fashion. Instead of the traditional sailor hat a black open straw bonnet with nodding sprays of mignonette.

The most beautiful gown at the Vanderbilt ball was worn by the wife of Senator Brice of Ohio. The Vanderbilts, with all of their millions, didn't show up anything that touched it. A butting match between a white man who claimed to have the hardest head in town and a negro took place at St. Louis the other day. There was only one round, and then the white man was hauled off to a hospital with a broken nose and a fractured jaw. The negro got the purse and wasn't phased by the collision.

Some years ago an Indiana widower with a son married a widow with a daughter. The other day the stepbrother and stepsister were married at Madison and the neighbors made a great fuss about it, though they are no more kin than if one had been born in Patagonia and the other in Alaska.

The summer girl at Bar Harbor is feeling exceedingly melancholy. The swimming pool, which has been in the course of construction for two years or more, and which was to have been the finest of its kind in America, is to be sold this week at auction; that is, the pile of buildings which was to constitute the outer shell. The pool was to have been filled with hot sea water, as the water at Bar Harbor is far too cold for sea bathing, and besides there is no beach. Indeed, one would have to fall off the rocks to get into the surf, notwithstanding enterprising journals have been describing Mrs. Potter Palmer's bathing suit all summer.

SUMNER IS SUSPENDED.

He Is Ordered Off the Rolls of the Navy for Six Months.

A Reprimand Is Also to Be Given Him for Dereliction of Duty.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The Navy Department today made public its action in the case of Captain Sumner, late commander of the U. S. cruiser Columbia, tried by court-martial at Brooklyn navy yard on charges growing out of injury sustained by his vessel in docking at Southampton in July.

The first charge was culpable inefficiency in the performance of his duty.

The court-martial found him guilty in a less degree than charged, in that he did not have proper preparations made for docking.

The court ignored that portion of the charge alleging that as a consequence of that failure the boat was subjected to severe strains, causing damage to her hull and necessitating repairs costing about $1,000.

The captain was found guilty of suffering the vessel to be hazarded in violation of naval regulations.

He was found guilty of a third charge of neglect of duty and the specification that he paid the charge of docking without protest was proved.

The sentence of the court is as follows:

"To be suspended from duty only for a period of six months on waiting orders of pay and to be reprimanded by the honorable Secretary of the Navy."

ACMES VICTORIOUS.

They Carry Off Wrestling Honors at the Olympic Club.

At the Olympic wrestling tournament last night Gus La Rue and J. C. Williamson of the Acme Club won their respective bouts. They easily defeated Ambruster and Brill for which feat each was awarded a handsome $35 medal.

A large delegation of Acme men went to see the sport and were wild with delight at the excellent work of the fellow members.

Gus La Rue and E. P. Ambruster were billed for the first bout. Ambruster won the first throw but Gus knew what he was about and after letting the Olympian wind himself he threw him twice, winning the match.

Though ten pounds lighter than Brill, Williamson won from him in two straight downs.

After the games Joe Acton, the professional wrestler said that little La Rue would make a world beater in time.

THE RAIN RECORD.

Weather Clerk Sanborn Says It Will Be a Wet Season.

Sanborn the florist says that this is going to be a rainy season and the records to date bear out his assertion.

The season begins July 1st. On the 4th of that month there was a rainfall of .02 of an inch. There was then a dry spell, the next rain falling on the 10th of this month, when the precipitation was .17 of an inch.

Yesterday there was another downpour, the fall up to 1 o'clock in the afternoon amounting to .87 of an inch.

From that hour up to the time the storm ceased last night there was an additional fall of .07 on an inch, making a total for the season of 1.13 inches, as against .20 of an inch last year.

Milton Strong's Wife Deserted Him, But Never Told Why.

She Wrote Constantly for Money, But Declined to Return Home.

Milton G. Strong, a well-known butcher of Alameda who has resided in the Encinal City for twenty years past, was granted a divorce today by Judge Greene from his wife Emma L. Strong on the ground of desertion.

There is a rather strange story behind the case. The couple were married in 1870. They came to California and settled in Alameda, where their life was as happy as could be desired. Nothing occurred to mar the smooth and even tenor of the Strong household until nine years ago. Strong was doing well in his business at that time and a trip to the East was suggested. Mrs. Strong's father and mother resided in Illinois. Their daughter was anxious to visit them and finally the couple, in 1886, departed for Illinois on a visit.

Strong returned to Alameda in November of that year and it was understood that as soon as his wife desired to come home he would go back to Illinois for her. Letters passed between them, but strange to relate, after the third or fourth, Mrs. Strong failed to reply to her husband's frequent and anxious inquiries. She could not be induced to say when she would be ready to return. She never would discuss the question in any of her subsequent communications to her husband. These were mainly demands for money.

Strong waited a year and a half before breaking up the little home they had in Alameda. Finally he sold out some of the household effects and stored the remainder. He could stand it no longer.

Mrs. Strong began to travel. She went to Idaho with her parents and dwelt in various places. Strong sent her some money; $100 at one time was forwarded to be used in securing transportation to Alameda, but the coin was never used in that way. During the four years preceding the commencement of the suit he had sent his wife regularly $40 a month.

Mrs. Strong finally reached Washington, where she settled in Spokane Falls. The suit for divorce was filed a year ago or more. Efforts were made to serve a summons upon Mrs. Strong, but it was not successful as her exact whereabouts were unknown. As soon as the location was realized, the necessary publication of the commencement of the action was made. She did not heed the matter a great deal. When efforts were made by her attorneys to secure a disposition from her, word reached E. A. Sherman Jr., who had charge of her end of the case in Alameda, that she was mentally incompetent and unable to make oath to anything. She had hired two attorneys there, but they were not diligent in preparing their case.

In April of this year Strong was obliged to pay $100 to his wife of nine years ago for counsel fees, as she prepared no way to fight the case. But the delays have been interminable and Judge Greene finally decided to proceed with it. Several witnesses were called, including Robert McDonald, D. W. Martin, James Daniel and the plaintiff. Their stories were fully corroborated by each other.

Responding to questions from his attorney, George W. Reed, Strong said he could never get an explanation from his wife as to the cause of her desertion. She had never intimated that she was displeased with her position and Strong, who was gradually let into the secrets of her heart, found that she had no desire to return to her home and husband.

A MAGNANIMOUS ATTORNEY

Judge Gibson Allows a Default Judgment in His Favor Set Aside.

Judge E. M. Gibson is magnanimous. He secured a judgment by default a few days ago on a suit brought against Mrs. Mary Moss, widow of the late Franklin Moss, to recover $500 attorney's fees for services rendered the old man prior to his death. Mrs. Moss' attorneys, however, had a consultation with Judge Gibson today, which resulted in the default judgment being set aside. There was some oversight on the part of a clerk in the office of the attorneys which caused the default to be entered. Judge Gibson thinks, however, that he can afford to be easy with his antagonists as he believes he has a "sure thing" on the case. A stipulation was filed in the Superior Court this morning whereby the default was set aside on an order by Judge Ellsworth.

STEADILY RECOVERING.

Further Change for the Better in Richard Valentine's Condition.

Further improvement was noted today in the case of Richard P. Valentine, who has been lying at the receiving hospital since last Tuesday as a result of a collision with an electric car at Tenth and Jefferson streets. The physicians think he was recovering remarkably and it is believed he will be so far along by Sunday that he can be removed to his home. The injured man has gained considerable strength since yesterday and his general condition is as encouraging today as it was discouraging two days ago. Valentine has had the very best of treatment and care while at the hospital, and much has been due to the excellent service there rendered.

WILL HOLD ON.

Welles Whitmore Defends the Franklin Street Franchise.

Welles Whitmore, to whom, with E. K. Alsip of Sacramento, was granted a franchise by the council to build an electric street railway from the corner of Fourteenth and Franklin street to Berkeley, says there is no danger that the rails laid under that franchise on Franklin street at the intersection of Fourteenth street will be pulled up and there is no probability either that the franchise in question will be declared forfeited by the council.

"I do not think," said Mr. Whitmore, "that the franchise will be declared forfeited by the council. Mr. Bassett has been saying a great deal about those two rails laid at Fourteenth and Franklin streets. He has been trying to make us a good deal of trouble, but it is all because we beat him in getting the franchise. Davie is behind him and he is mad also because we got the franchise. But we do not mind it. Those tracks will not be removed. The franchise has not yet expired. We have done all the work required to be done by us under the franchise. The rails at Fourteenth street were put down within the required limit in the franchise, namely, six months. The next work under the franchise was to be done within three years after the doing of the first work. Two years must yet elapse before we shall be required to do any more work on the road. The proposed line runs from Fourteenth and Franklin on Franklin to Twentieth, to Webster, Broadway, College avenue and then turns around on certain streets in Berkeley."

FOUR MONTHS IN JAIL.

Frank Silva Escapes With a Rather Light Sentence.

Frank Silva, who had a desperate fight some months ago with Daniel Jones, a watchman at Market street wharf, in which the latter was shot by Silva, was sent to the county jail today by Judge Frick for four months. Silva was held to answer for trial on a charge of assault to commit murder. He pleaded guilty on Wednesday to assault with a deadly weapon. Judge Frick thought from the testimony given in the police court that Silva had acted under great provocation. He therefore made the judgment light.

LITERARY NOTES.

The Midland Monthly for September is an admirable number. The initial article is on "Grant and Galena" by Leigh Leslie and is aptly illustrated. Narcessa Macy Smith gives "Reminiscences of John Brown," and the Midland War Sketches by Col. A. G. Harry this time furnish "Scenes and Incidents of the Battle of Chickamauga."

A new name of notable repute appears among the contributions to Donahoe's Magazine in the September issue, Mgr. Charles de Harlez, the eminent professor of the University of Louvain, whose place among European scholars is in the front rank, gives the first instalment of an essay on "Buddhism and Christianity." The learned professor addresses himself to those critics of the religion of Christ, who put forth the absurd claim that the latter is only a copy and an offshoot of the Buddhist faith, and demonstrates the hollow fallacy of their theories in an article replete with interesting facts about Buddhism and fascinatingly written. Another article of timely import is that of Mabelle Justice on "The Passion Play in America." It will be new and interesting intelligence to many Americans that the sacred drama of The Crucifixion, popularly supposed to be indigenous and peculiar to Oberammergau, is enacted regularly on American soil as a religious exercise under the guidance of Jesuit missionaries, among certain Indian tribes of British Columbia.

F. M. Lupton, of 106 Reade street, New York, is doing something remarkable in the literary line. He is issuing in a cheap but complete series a dozen works such as Gulliver's Travels all in one binding for 25 cents. In the "Arm Chair Library" Edgar Allan Poe's "The Gold Bug," Stanley Weyman's "The Man in Black," and similar high class works of fiction retail for ten cents.

"Out of Due Season," which has just been issued by Appleton's Library, is described as "A Mezzotine by Adeline Sergeant." The authoress will be readily recalled by her "The Mistress of the Quest" and "The Story of a Penitent Soul," and her latest production more than sustains her reputation. It is a book that cannot be read without arousing strong emotions, for the chords of the heart are played on by a master hand. It is one of the most readable books of the season.

The American Magazine of Civics is keeping up its good work. The September number contains ably written essays on up to date political matters, a notable article being on "The Abolition of Poverty," by Whidden Graham. (New York, 38 Park Row, 25 cents.)

Music for September contains as a frontispiece an excellent portrait of Rubenstein, and also recollections of the great master by Julius Rodenberg. The recollections are all personal and one is brought in absolute contact with the great genius. Camille Saint Saens also contributes an article on the same subject.

The success of the Livre de Lecture et de Conversation, published a year ago by D. C. Heath & Co., of Boston, in their "Heath's Modern Language Series," has induced them and the author to furnish Lectures Courantes, a similar but more advanced book. Like the Livre de Lecture et de Conversation, this book is designed for female colleges, seminaries and high schools, and contains reading, conversation and composition for second year pupils, who in the first year have done the equivalent of the former book.

So many are the questions asked daily at the book counters of the large stores for a new cook book or a new book on the proper manner of serving that for the benefit of such inquirers it is mentioned that bright little monthly magazine, Table Talk, whose chief aim is to aid housekeepers over these rough places and is considered the American authority upon all subjects of interest in the home. It is published in Philadelphia, and a line to the office there, mentioning where you saw this notice, will secure a sample copy free. The September issue contains a valuable article by Marion Talbot, dean of Chicago University, on "Domestic Science in the Colleges." In addition to the regular departments, "The Housekeepers' Inquiries," "The New Bill of Fare," and "Fashionable Luncheon and Tea Toilets" there will be found articles on hardwood floors and their care, the lemon, mention of books for September reading, and so on.

Lloyd Osbourne, the stepson of Robert Louis Stevenson, has written for the October Scribner an account of "Mr. Stevenson's Home-life at Vailima." This is the first account by a member of Mr. Stevenson's own household and is the truest and most sympathetic that has yet appeared. It gives a remarkable account of Stevenson's attitude toward the native chiefs and the patriarchal life that he led among them.

Do you wish to wear the insignia, or the lapel button of an American Order, or Patriotic Hereditary Society of the United States? Then get The Historical Register (which is the monthly gazette of these associations) for September and find out how you can do so. It gives the requirements for membership and eligibility rules of all the American patriotic societies whose membership is based upon American military or civil service of an ancestor. The frontispiece is the beautiful insignia of the Society of the War of 1812, done in proper colors and embossed. The usual space is devoted to American historical matters and contains a large amount of valuable information which cannot fail to be appreciated by the intelligent. Published by the Historical Register Publishing Company, Philadelphia. Subscription $3 a year.

The Southern number of The New Cycle comes to us well illustrated, well written and well printed—a credit to its publishers and to the women of the South who have contributed so largely to its attractive matter. Among the contributors are Mrs. Olivia H. Grosvenor of Memphis, Mrs. Fanny Ledyard Hudson and Katharine Nobles of New Orleans, Annie Bozeman Lytton of Mobile, Mrs. L. Crozier French of Knoxville, Mrs. Letitia H. Wrenshall of Baltimore, Mrs. M. L. McLendon and Mrs. E. G. McCabe, of Atlanta; Mary McNeil Scott of Mobile and many others.

The Atlantic Monthly for September contains the first installment of a three-part story by Charles Egbert Craddock, entitled "The Mystery of Witch-Face Mountain." The second of Dr. John Fiske's historical papers has for a subject John Smith in Virginia, in which he reopens vigorously the discussion in regard to this interesting character. Bradford Torrey contributes another Tennessee sketch, Chickamauga, which will be of special interest in view of this summer's memorable gathering at Lookout Mountain. The paper in the August issue by James Schouler upon President Polk's Diary is ably supplemented in this issue by "President Polk's Administration" by the same author.

George W. Smalley, for many years the London correspondent of the New York Tribune, enjoyed years of social intercourse with Professor Huxley in London and was his intimate friend. He has written for the October Scribner a most appreciative paper on Mr. Huxley.

Messrs. Houghton, Mifflin and Company announce to their correspondents and friends with deep regret the death, on the 25th inst., of the honored head of their house, Henry Oscar Houghton. For a year past Mr. Houghton's health has been seriously impaired, but he continued to give attention to details of business and was in his office but a few days before his death. His surviving associates will study to keep before themselves the same high aims which distinguished him in his long career as printer and publisher.

Lloyd Osbourne, in his account of Robert Louis Stevenson's home-life in Samoa in the October Scribner, says that Mr. Stevenson's family of Samoans generally consisted of from thirteen to twenty-one young men who were most loyal to their chief. He had a remarkable system of discipline that developed this household into one of extraordinary interest. "Unquestioning and absolute obedience was insisted upon. No order once given was ever altered or modified. Every man had his work outlined for him in advance and several even possessed type-written lists of their various duties. Little proclamations and notices were often posted up in order to correct petty irregularities."

Under the present management Romance steadily improves, and the September number offers a goodly variety to its readers. Among the best of the stories is "The Flowing Source," by Quiller-Couch, who stands in the front rank of modern English writers of fiction, and Jules Claretie, J. M. Barrie and Max Pemberton are represented by well selected tales. The cover is attractive and should aid in selling this readable little magazine.

PROTECTING HIS TREES.

G. G. Baker Hires an Officer to Watch His Grove of Redwoods.

The Glade Infested by Vandals Who Wield Their Hatchets Mercilessly.

George G. Baker, the real estate man, owns a tract of land between Piedmont and East Oakland of which he is very proud. Upon the property stands a natural grove of redwood trees. It is one of the very few in this section of the State and Baker is anxious to preserve the magnificent growth of forestry from destruction. Most of the trees are young. None of them are more than twenty-five or thirty feet high and there are some thousand or more on the tract.

Ever since Baker bought the property he has been greatly worried over the depredations of seekers for evergreen and foliage for decorating purposes. Many of the saplings have been chopped down, and the efforts made to prevent the destruction of the grove have been almost futile up to date.

Baker, however, is going to call upon the strong arm of the law to protect his prized trees. He sought Sheriff White today. Accompanying him was a stout young man who, Baker said, had been guardian of the grove for some time past, but had met with indifferent success because he was not clothed with the authority of the law. So Baker urged the sheriff to appoint the young man a deputy sheriff. The compensation for his services will be attended to by Baker.

"Why, do you know that church people go out to the grove," said Baker, angrily, "and chop the tops of the trees off for decorations. Many others have been there and not only carved off the foliage but have cut down the young trees and left them to die. Now that grove is too precious to be ruthlessly destroyed and I am going to protect those trees. It will be a sorry affair if, hereafter, my watchman apprehends any miscreants."

READY FOR PAYMENT.

The Great Mora Claim Is to Be Disposed of Tomorrow.

By Associated Press to the Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Methods for the payment of the Mora claim have been definitely arranged and the draft is prepared for transfer tomorrow.

It will call for an equivalent in English pounds sterling of $1,499,000, made payable to Secretary of State Olney.

The loss of $51,000 from the amount $1,500,000 originally agreed upon is due to the difference between the value of a Spanish peso and an American gold dollar.

INTERESTING TO SUFFERERS

Upon the wish of Mr. Henry Schrag, proprietor of the Club Livery Stables in this city, we the undersigned hereby testify that we have known him for years and know that he has been crippled and a great sufferer from rheumatism for the past six years, unable to attend to any business and unable to find any relief notwithstanding his constantly consulting physicians.

Since three weeks he has been treated by Dr. Wulff with electricity applied after a new method, the doctor's own invention, and the change in the man is something wonderful; he can walk straight again and attend daily to his business, which he had not done for years.

DEATH DISMISSED IT.

Mrs. Annie Cameron's Appeal to the Supreme Court.

The death of Mrs. Annie L. Cameron has caused the dismissal of the appeal she took to the Supreme Court upon her conviction in connection with an altercation had some years ago with a leading real estate dealer. A remittitur from the Supreme Court dismissing the people "upon a suggestion of the death of the appellant," was filed with the county clerk today.

MAKES GROSS CHARGES.

Charles Martin Throwing Many Ugly Shadows Over His Wife.

A Divorce Case That Has Culminated in Very Revolting Evidence.

The divorce suit of Florence Martin against her husband Charles Martin from whom she is seeking a divorce on the ground of cruelty, has been awarded the first prize by Superior Court habitues for absolutely vile testimony.

The huband, who has entered a cross complaint in the case has occupied the witness stand for two days past in Judge Ellsworth's court where the case is on trial and his narrative of the domestic affairs of the Martin household has been without exception unutterably filthy. He has related to the minutest detail the habits of his wife and the methods of housekeeping and care of the family in a manner which has been almost revolting in its nastiness.

The trial has attracted a great crowd of curious and morbid spectators who have reveled in the disgusting details in a manner that sadly reflects upon their better tastes.

Mrs. Martin had her story told some days ago and her husband is now trying to offset her charges with a mass of testimony which is as unsavory as it is discreditable.

In many respects the case is without a parallel and for that reason has caused unusual attention to be drawn to it. Martin occupied the stand the entire morning and his examination had not been concluded when the noon recess was taken. His wife's attorney had a long cross examination in view and the case is likely to be prolonged for several days yet. The fight is very bitter. There are two young children, but no property interests at stake. The family troubles have been carried from the time the couple settled in Fruitvale and finally moved to Lorin. At the latter place most of the difficulties occurred.

A REMARKABLE CURE.

Case of Mr. Henry Schrag, Proprietor Club Livery Stables, Fourteenth and Webster Streets.

Oakland, Sept. 5th, 1895.

Six years ago I was taken suddenly ill with a lame back, and consulted Dr. Mayer and Dr. Simond of San Francisco, and later Dr. Williamson, Dr. J. W. Robertson, and Dr. Leo Newmark, all of San Francisco. Some of the doctors diagnosed my case as rheumatism, others as lumbago, but their treatment did not benefit me any. I then went to the Byron Hot Springs, remained there six weeks and still no relief. After this, having doctored for six long years, I tried, as a last resort, an electric chain invented by Dr. J. M. Wulff and now after having used same according to directions for about three weeks I feel that I finally found a remedy that has so far done me that much good that I can attend to my business, which I have not been able to do for years, and I have very little, if any, doubt that by conscientiously following the doctor's directions, I will ultimately get entirely cured. The relief I have so far, is far beyond what I ever expected. I know and feel that the treatment has done wonders for me.

Very truly,

HENRY SCHRAG.

DURRANT DOSED.

Testimony That Puts Him In a Very Bad Light.

HE TALKED AGAINST BLANCHE.

Unsavory Remarks When He Heard She Was Missing.

HER WEIGHT IS IN EVIDENCE.

It Would Be Easy Enough to Carry Her Up the Belfry

By Associated Press to the Tribune.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept 12.—This morning testimony in the Durrant case was good for the prosecution and evidence was introduced directly connecting the prisoner with the murder of Blanche Lamont

The first witness was Richard Charlton, a grocer, who testified that he had weighed Blanche on an average of once a month during her stay in the city The last time he weighed her was on March 27th or 28th. Then she weighed 118 pounds.

The greatest weight she attained was 121 pounds. Her average weight was 115 pounds.

This was considered a triumph for the prosecution, as showing that such a light weight could be easily carried or dragged up the belfry by Durrant.

The defense had tried to show her weight was 140 pounds.

Henry Shalmount a conductor on the Sutter street car system, testified that on April 3d Durrant and Blanche Lamont had got on his car at the corner of Mission and Ninth streets.

Durrant sat with his arm on the top of the seat back of Blanche and seemed on very familiar terms with her.

The witness was an excellent one for the prosecution and of the Samuel Weller type.

He resisted all the efforts of the defense to break down his testimony

He had all his time schedules so firmly fixed in his mind that no cross-examination could fluster him.

He said he identified Blanche by her picture published in the papers after her disappearance and had identified Durrant at the city hall and again saw him as a defendant now in court.

Durrant and Miss Lamont left his car at the corner of Sutter and Polk, taking a transfer to the Polk street cars.

He said Durrant and Blanche appeared to be very jolly together.

Herman J. Schledger, a medical student and classmate of Durrant testified he knew Durrant well.

He had seen him on the morning of April 13th.

He noticed him first at the corner of Ninth and Mission street.

He was accompanied by Blanche Lamont.

Durrant had previously told him the girl was Blanche Lamont.

He had frequently seen them together.

At the corner of Webster and Sutter witness got off the car to go to the medical college.

Afterwards Durrant asked witness if he remembered meeting him with Blanche on that day.

Durrant said at that time that Blanche had disappeared and he (Durrant) feared she had gone into a house of ill-fame.

Durrant had remarked that Blanche was an innocent girl and that he led her easily.

Witness answered all questions with a marked reluctance, evidently trying to protect his fellow-student as far as possible.

Several times in response to questions the witness seemed on the verge of a disclosure but always checked himself in time.

He was a good witness for the people, however, in spite of himself.

The next witness was S. W. Horton, a reporter, who testified he had interviewed Durrant on the night after his arrest.

Durrant told him he had taken a Sutter street car with Blanche Lamont.

Defendant's counsel had been shifting uneasily in their chairs and now said they would admit that Blanche and Durrant had been together on the day she disappeared.

Minnie Bell Edwards was the next witness.

She was a classmate of Blanche and after school boarded the same car at the corner of Powell and Clay streets.

Miss Edwards testified as follows: "When Blanche got on the car Durrant was with her. I went inside. They were outside on the east side of the dummy. Blanche carried school books and wore a black serge dress. I identify these books and dress as those carried and worn on that day."

The attorneys for the defense gave Miss Edwards a long and severe cross-examination but she stuck to her story without a break, positively identifying Durrant as the man accompanying Blanche on the afternoon of April 3rd.

She described minutely how she, how Blanche and how Durrant stood before boarding the car.

She told how Durrant wore his hat and every change of position he made.

She had identified Durrant's portrait when published in the papers and had also identified him at the city hall.

She did not know why she had been summoned as a witness.

She told her story to her school teacher and to no one else.

MUST HOLD AN INQUEST.

Dr. Milton Refuses to Certify to Mrs. Stephens' Death.

Dr. Milton today refused to sign the death certificate of Mrs. Christiana Johanna Stephens.

Mrs. Stephens died yesterday and at her death no physician was in attendance. Undertaker Evers called in Dr. Milton.

The autopsy showed that pleurisy had caused death but under the circumstances the doctor preferred to give the results of his examination to the coroner's jury than to attach it to a death certificate.

Mrs. Stephens died at 163 Second street. She was 72 years of age and had resided in Oakland for the past twelve years.

CAUSTIC COMMENTS.

What the London Press Says of the Cup Committee's Decision.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

LONDON, Sept 12.—While the tone of the best English newspapers, in commenting upon the decision of the cup committee sustaining the Defender's claim of a foul in Tuesday's race, continues to be moderate, it must be admitted the committee's decision has produced a general feeling of irritation among the Englishmen.

Adverse comments are heard on all sides.

The Yachtsman says: "The first match could hardly be called a race owing to shameful interference by the excursion steamers. It seems clear that in Tuesday's race the Defender lost nothing by the accident, but was beaten on her merits in a beat to windward. With regard to the Defender's protest, it is impossible as yet to form an opinion, save it would not have been lodged by Valkyrie III had the cases been reversed."

The Sun which throughout has maintained a tone hostile to America, says: "The Yankees evidently intend to keep the cup. Possession is nine points of law in America."

The Evening News says: "The whole business savors of sharp practice. No one would quarrel with a decision ordering the race to be resailed, but we can not stomach a paper victory awarded the Defender."

The Pall Mall Gazette dilates upon British patience, good temper and the unquenchable love of justice, and continues: "It is not easy to accept the decision, but we hope we are taking it as sportsmen. It is hardly equitable, but according to the rules of game, we accept it and will try again. It turns out that Iselin is a sportsman with the best of us. We shall have another race."

The St. James Gazette also accepts as a fact the report that Iselin has offered to resail Tuesday's race. The Gazette says "It is a most sportsmanlike offer. The decision seems clearly and demonstratively wrong, but was authoritative and should be accepted by all."

The Globe says: The decision is received with the bitterest regret and disappointment Still, it is the duty of Englishmen as true sportsmen to accept it without complaint or protest."

The Westminster Gazette says: 'The decision certainly puts the good feeling of English and American sportsmen to a severe test."

TODAY'S EVENTS DISCUSSED

The news of the Valkyrie's refusal to sail over the course off Sandy Hook today, was received here too late for comment of the evening papers.

The entire press of London, however, have long dwelt upon the crowding of the course by excursion steamers and have pretty generally taken the position it is impossible to have a fair yacht race in New York harbor.

The general talk this evening is an endorsement of the withdrawal of the Valkyrie

The Yachtsman, in an issue today says 'Although it is impossible to conceive of such hysterical excitement here as there appears to be at Nek Yoak, we may be sure if the Royal Yacht squadron found itself seriously hampered by the steamers, it would surely take the necessary steps toward securing a change of venue."

MERCED IN ONE.

The Alameda County Institute and the State Gathering Consolidated.

Dr. A. E. Winship of Boston, who had been engaged to conduct the Alameda County Institute, has telegraphed that owing to sickness, he will be unable to come to California this fall. The Institute will therefore be postponed to January 2d, 3d and 4th, 1896, and will be merged in the State Teachers' Association, which meets in January. This plan will give to the teachers of Alameda county a splendid programme, and also insure a large attendance at the Oakland meeting of the State Association.

DID ALL THEY CAN.

THE RATES ARE CUT.

Dr. Stanton's Eight Per Cent Resolution Is Adopted.

AN UNANIMOUS VOTE GIVEN.

The Twenty-Five Per Cent Reduction Is Opposed.

LA RUE SPEAKS AGAINST IT.

No Agreement Arrived at and the Matter Is Continued.

Special to The Tribune.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—At a meeting of the railroad commissioners this afternoon Dr. Stanton's resolution calling for a reduction of 8 per cent on the grain rates was unanimously adopted.

Stanton's resolution calling for a reduction of 25 per cent was next taken up.

La Rue said he favored a more flexible schedule. He evidently did not want to vote for it.

Stanton refused to recede from his position and the matter went over until tomorrow.

POISONED WINE.

How a Colored Man Got Rid of a Favored Rival.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

LOS ANGELES Sept. 12—William A. Busby (colored) was arrested this morning as the man who sent a bottle of poisoned wine to James Gardner.

He appears to be the party wanted.

The wine fell into the hands of W. J. Thompson, station agent of the Santa Fe at Downey avenue, and O. L. Martin, a laborer.

Both drank of it and are dead.

The boy who was given 20 cents to carry the wine to the depot identifies Busby as the man who gave it to him.

Gardner is a Pullman porter and Busby was formerly.

Both have kept company with a colored belle named Scott, who has lately favored Gardner.

Busby refuses to talk.

WATER FRONT NOTES.

A Gleaning of News From Down Where the Ships Come In.

A large wagon belonging to H White essayed to cross the narrow gauge track at the foot of Webster street yesterday, but, being too heavily laden, it broke down, blocking both the local track and the Alameda electric car line. Jack screws were procured from the city wharfinger and the truck removed after delaying the train about fifteen minutes.

The city wharf is badly in need of repairs. It is covered with patches and many of the boards are loose, making the wharf unsafe in places. City Wharfinger Rutherford has petitioned the Board of Public Works, who promised to put the wharf in good repair soon

Taylor's large new coal bunkers are rapidly nearing completion. They will be ready for use in a week or ten days. Mr. Taylor is also having his warehouse and office raised and a brick foundation built under it.

The timber for the Haywards bridge has arrived at the wharf from Mendocino. It will be sent by rail to Haywards before Saturday.

MALOON GOT MAD.

His Favorite Yacht Impaled on a Buried Pile.

Henry Maloon, ex-license inspector, is the proud possessor of one of the best yachts that ever sailed the waters of the Oakland estuary. Every night, after a hard day's work, it is his wont to take a quiet sail up and down the creek, after which he carefully anchors his precious craft on the Alameda side, far from the reach of meddlesome small boys and thieving longshoremen

Last week, after one of the most delightful excursions that ever Oaklander took, he anchored his "Daisy" and started for home, at peace with himself and the world. But had he known what cruel fate awaited his beloved pleasure boat his joy would have been turned to gall. With lack of his usual careful forethought he had anchored his vessel at high tide without sounding the water beneath her. If he had he would have found one of the sharpest-pointed, worm-eaten piles that stud the mud of the creek, waiting, menacing below the shining keel of his boat.

But he did not, and as he wended his way home the tide fell and with it the boat, till by her own weight a large hole had been stove in her bottom and she was left half out of the water like a forlorn dove cote.

At the next high tide Mr. Maloon came for his customary sail and, noticing that his boat was filled with water, and attributing the cause to an inexperienced borrower, he forthwith procured a can and began to bale. Never did he work so hard inspecting licenses as he did bailing that boat, but as the tide was rising he seemed to make little progress He called a friend and with two dippers they toiled until their perspiration mingled with the water of the creek, producing a calm for yards around At last the tide turned and fell and with its fall rose the hopes of the marines, for now the effect of their arduous labors was plainly visible Slowly and steadily the water left the boat, and just as they were about to cast aside their tin cans Mr. Maloon discovered that the boat was rather high out of the water This led to further discoveries and then a lone pelican resting in the quiet of the gloaming heard such language that made it blush and fly down the creek, where it could rest undisturbed by the voice of civilization.

If he should reach here tomorrow the reception will be held tomorrow evening. If his arrival should be delayed until Saturday morning the welcome in behalf of the congregation will be extended next Saturday night

The reception will be of a public character and the committee says that everybody will be welcome.

ROASTED ALIVE.

By Associated Press to the Tribune.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—The Bulletin will print a story this afternoon that General Florenard Bustamente, the refugee from San Salvador, who was surrendered to the commander of Port la Libertad by the captain of the Pacific Mail steamer City of Sydney, was given up by order of United States Consular Agent Cooper.

It is said Cooper came aboard with the Salvador authorities and searched the ship for the refugee

When found it is said Bustamente was seized by the maddened populace, saturated with oil and then roasted alive.

CHOICE CLOAKS.

A Splendid Collection at the Goldberg Suit House.

Messrs. S and M. Goldberg, for many years dealers in cloaks and suits in Eastern cities, have opened an establishment on Thirteenth street, which fills a long-felt need in Oakland. It is under the management of a lady who has had charge of similar establishments in New York and other places, and, who is thoroughly competent as to taste and judgment to occupy such a position The goods they carry are the finest, being principally those which will be the prevailing styles this season, such as Scotch tweeds and English cheviots. Many of their cloaks and suits are imported, though they have their own tailors and will take orders. Their styles are the latest, among them coats in the Madame San Gene and Eiffe styles which, with the loose effects, are very dressy.

The popular materials for capes this season seem to be in velours, velvets and uncut plushes. They are dreams of chiffon, flowers and mousseline de soie. Added to the fact that their goods are the finest and their prices reasonable, their already extensive patronage should increase greatly.

Opening Twenty-fourth Avenue.

A mass meeting has been called for this evening in the Centennial Presbyterian church Seventeenth and Twenty-fourth avenue to take steps toward the opening of Twenty-fourth avenue from Latham Terrace to Fourteenth st, and for the re-numbering of the same. The spontaneous movement seems to be mutual and without opposition and promises to lead to the gr

NATURE FOR THE STAGE.

A Charming Performance to Be Given at Sutro Heights.

"As You Like It" to Be Given by an Accomplished Company.

Shakespeare's pastoral comedy, "As You Like It," is always extraordinarily pleasing to the theater-goer who wishes for his entertainment a combination of the merry and the sad, the philosophical and the poetical. It is a play full of good characterization, and every character according to its humor indulges its inclinations to good and evil, as the idea suggests itself. The incidents are not so much outward as inward and subjective. The humor and caprice of persons in their influence one upon another is the basis of the whole action and the cause at the same time of the fantastical character of the piece.

The great bard borrowed the whole plan of the piece from a pastoral romance by Thomas Lodge, called "Rosalynde," published about 1590, and at that time it was probably the nearest approach to opera known in that day, for in the original there were many songs and choruses introduced which in "As You Like It" are omitted, though Shakespeare either preserved or wrote four original numbers. Four of the important characters of the piece are unknown in Lodge's pastoral, to-wit: The Clown, Touchstone, Jacques, the melancholy William, the country clown and Audrey, the stupid goat herdress.

In the forthcoming performance of the most beautiful comedy on Sutro Heights the public will have an opportunity of witnessing a representation that has the dignity of the court, the fragrance of the country, the scent of the wood, the tone of solitude, and the sunshine and ripple of merry companionship. In fact, if he would like, the banished Duke, see

"Tongues in trees, books in the running brooks,
Sermons in stones and good in everything,"

He must attend the performance on Saturday, 21st inst. Those in charge of the presentation of Shakespeare's beautiful comedy, "As You Like It" on Sutro Heights, which will be given on Saturday afternoon next promptly at 2 o'clock, have been making careful preparations, and there is every reason to believe that in the selection of the players and in the arrangement of the lawn at Sutro Heights most excellent facilities will be afforded for a perfect performance that will delight every one. It would be almost impossible to describe the beauty of such a performance. Wherever one has been given it has never failed to create the greatest enthusiasm.

The production is made under the auspices and for the benefit of the Channing Auxiliary and the Society for Christian Work. The ladies, however, do not ask patronage from the fact that it is to help their charity, but because an exceptionally excellent performance by professionals is an assured fact. A grand stand will be built to seat 5000 persons, and over thirty private boxes have been arranged for in full view of the stage.

The scenes will be particularly realistic, as the trees on the stage will be real and the disposition of the ground is such that an unobstructed view of the players may be had from all parts of the amphitheater and private boxes. A feature of the performance will be the singing by the University of California Glee Club, who have for some time past been rehearsing the songs, "What Shall He Have That Killed the Deer," "The Cuckoo Song" and others of the original music.

In the cast there will also be Mr. C. J. Reichman, the handsome, accomplished leading man of Lily Langtry's Company. The costumes have been made expressly for this production, and all the minor parts will be in the hands of thoroughly trained and well-known people. Of course Miss Rose Coghlan will be seen in her famous role as Rosalind, and Miss Pauline French, an exceedingly beautiful and exquisite actress, will make her debut as Celia.

The sale of reserved seats and boxes will begin at the Columbia theater on Monday morning, September 16th, at 9 o'clock. Arrangements have also been made with Manager Vining of the railway company for special trains and cable cars for the accommodation of the public. As the performance will begin promptly at 2 o'clock the public are urged upon to be in their places early. A large force of assistants and ushers have been provided for to seat the audience as quickly as possible. Each row of seats on the grand stand being raised a few inches above the one before it, it thus affords a fine view of the players from every part of the lawn, with accommodations for over 5000 people.

A MASONIC MEETING.

There Will Be an Interesting Gathering Tonight at Berkeley.

Durant Lodge, No. 268, F. and A. M., of Berkeley will have an unusually important and interesting meeting this evening. Two brothers, Dr. J. Morrison of San Pablo and Hugh Morrison of Berkeley, will be raised to the degree of Master Mason.

Grand Master Stevens of the California jurisdiction, accompanied by a number of grand officers, will pay the lodge the first official visit of grand officers which has been made in eight years.

Grand Lecturer Harry C. Bush will give critical attention to the manner in which the degree work is administered. A banquet will follow the conferring of the degrees.

AS OTHERS SEE US.

Mrs. Katherine B. Fisher, who died in Oakland September 4th, had been so long and closely connected in various ways with our churches, and withal was so marked a character as a woman and a teacher, that these columns should not fail to make note of her departure. She was the daughter of a well-known and influential pastor, the Rev. Dr. Arms of Norwich, Conn., and a brother of hers, Rev. William F. Arms, is now pastor at Essex, Conn. She early became a teacher and pursued her calling in the South for a time. Her husband, with whom she has tarried these thirty-five or more years, has always been among the most faithful promoters of our church life. She herself became a member of the First church in this city under Mr. Lacy's ministry, and under the ministry of the present writer, both in the Oakland First church and in Plymouth avenue church, was often very helpful and inspiring. Her capabilities of helpfulness were very large. Hers was a mind that was, however, alert and inquiring. She did not like grooves out of which there were no or few deviations. The things she did not know were fascinating to her. She was sometimes drawn strongly toward the Episcopal church, in which, before her marriage, she had been confirmed. Again her intellect was very open toward ideas that were not hallowed by any historic traditions. Her love of literature was a passion. Her freshness of interest in her calling, especially as the head of the department of English literature in the Oakland High school, was a constant stimulus to her scholars, even though she had reached 67 years and had carried the routine of this service so long. She was buried from the church of her fathers, in the circle of which she had enjoyed so many friendships, and on the great and simple verities of which she had again and again come back to find her only rest.—San Francisco Pacific.

DEATH AND DESTRUCTION.

The Eastern Coast Visited by a Terrible Storm.

Many Persons Struck by Lightning as the Tempest Raged.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—A heavy storm struck City Island last night. The display of lightning was terrifying.

Judge Van Cott and a kinswoman, Mme. Albert, were on the veranda of the judge's house at High Island while the clouds were gathering and the winds growing higher.

The judge went into his orchard to secure a tent that was flapping and Mme Albert finally decided to go into the house.

Just as she arose from her chair a bolt of lightning struck her and she fell dead. The electricity burned off her eyebrows and eyelashes, tore her straw hat in tatters and melted the pins in her hair.

On the back porch of the same house sat Joseph Allcolos, a veteran of the civil war. The same bolt knocked the pipe he was smoking out of his mouth.

It then jumped to a post three feet away and split it into splinters.

Allcolos was not hurt, but the walls of the cottage were scarred as if by red hot pokers.

The cyclone struck the village of Cape Vincent just as a large excursion, homeward bound from the Jefferson county fair at Watertown was about to take the boat for Kingston, Ont.

The Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg railway station collapsed.

George Godfrey and Thomas Arnell of Cape Vincent received injuries from which they died.

A large number of persons were injured, several of whom it is feared will die.

The storm was particularly severe at the east end of Long Island.

Just before sunset the wind rose. Then there was a lull and it seemed as if the heavens had opened.

Rain came down in torrents, while the sheets of blinding lightning frightened women and children and drove the bravest men indoors.

The wind, while it lasted, had a hurricane's force.

Trees were leveled to the ground and telegraph and telephone wires were blown down in many places in the suburbs of New York. The lightning struck in several places.

At Roselyn Mrs. Oliver Bennett was outdoors when the storm broke. The lightning struck her and ran down her right side, leaving bluish-black streaks, but did not kill her.

Several farm houses near Watertown were struck by lightning and burned. The roads were washed out in places and fallen trees block the highway in many parts of the country. It was the most severe storm in years, although lasting only about an hour.

The storm was the severest of the season at Oyster Bay. Lightning struck and burned a barn owned by Thomas Young Jr., a New York broker, killed one of the horses and stunned the coachman, Thomas Palmer, who was unconscious for several hours.

At West Sayville Seymour Burr was struck by lightning and severely burned. His condition is critical. Telegraph and telephone wires and poles were broken down there and communication was cut off.

Telegraph wires and trees were blown down at Port Jefferson and the force of the wind smashed the plate glass windows in some of the shops.

The heavy cover of Dr. Jones' water tank was carried eight yards off, where it brought up against a fence, demolishing it.

Up the Hudson the storm took the form of a whirlwind. In Nyac many houses were flooded and the streets were turned into streams. Cross walks were swept away and deep ruts washed into the roads.

Haverstraw also suffered, many brickyards having been flooded.

CONFIDENCE RETURNING.

It Looks Now as if the Gold Drainage Will Soon Be Ended.

A Perceptible Growth of Public Trust Noted in the Markets.

Special Correspondence to The Tribune.
NEW YORK, September 7, 1895.

The course of the financial markets is indicative of a steady growth of public trust. Each succeeding week, the wave of confidence gains increased force and is steadily carrying before it all the obstructions of distrust. It is more and more recognized that the elements which are making for improvement stand associated with natural forces; while those which have been unsettling confidence have been connected with the more instruments of commerce. It still remains a question whether the latter factors—especially the condition of the treasury and the silver agitation—can materially obstruct the great natural recuperative forces that are now asserting their influence from one end of the country to the other and through the entire range of our industry. Perhaps the best answer to this question is in the fact that, for the last six months, the recuperative forces have been steadily gaining ascendency over those tending to derangement and distrust.

A more positive argument for confidence than this fact affords could hardly be conceived. It implies a settled conviction in the public mind that, with a sound condition of the material interests of the country, the way will ere long be found for removing the fiscal and monetary conditions that now stand in the way to absolute confidence. And that conviction is a rational one. For although it may not be, at this moment, generally apparent exactly when or how these financial derangements will be readjusted, yet there is nothing like an impossibility or even a substantial difficulty in the way of that achievement.

The gold question is beset by no such serious difficulty as a substantial deficiency of supply; the trouble there lies simply in a departure from the usual distribution and reservoirs and circulation and use of the metal. That disarrangement has arisen from no uncontrollable cause, but simply from a mistaken course in the fiscal usages of the treasury, which had the effect of depriving the banks of their customary receipts of gold from the government at the clearing house, thereby compelling them to almost entirely suspend gold payments and throwing the whole gold movement into suspension, to the detriment chiefly of the treasury itself. This confusion is susceptible of remedy the moment the treasury and the banks can be brought into conference, with a view to the restoration of their old relations in this matter, with such modification or safeguards as, under the circumstances may appear advisable. In the meantime, the loan syndicate continues its valuable services to the government by supplying the treasury with gold as fast as it is taken from the reserve for export; and having persisted in that course to the extent they already have, it seems safe to assume that they will continue this support until the foreign exchanges have turned in our favor.

ARRANGING AN UNDERSTANDING.

The stage in affairs being reached, new possibilities will appear, favorable to the Syndicate crowning its remedial work by bringing the banks and Treasury to an understanding that will finally settle this embarrassing question. Judging from ordinary precedent, the current exports of gold may be expected to be followed within a moderate period, by imports of specie. Arguing from the way in which the Syndicate has been able to control the exports of gold and the foreign exchanges for months past, it is reasonable to assume that, if it were desirable in order to achieve an important purpose, they could, under the present plethora of gold in the European banks, swell the reflux of it to this side of the Atlantic.

The result of these movements would appear in a material increase of the stock of gold at this center. This replenishment of the specie in the city banks would remove the chief practical objection they have felt to a resumption of their former relations with the treasury. My information leads me to look forward to this approaching situation as the point at which the banks will return to the payment of customs duties chiefly in gold and to providing gold for export, the treasury at the same time settling its balances at the clearing house in gold; while the syndicate will retire from its services, leaving the circulation of gold restored to its normal condition.

The gold question having been thus settled, there need be little further fear about the silver agitation. The treasury reserve having been again place upon a safe foundation, the consequent recovery of confidence at home and abroad will produce a revival of business and a rise in all values which will annihilate the pretense that the depression of business and the fall in prices have been caused by the "demonetization of silver;" and the free coinage of that metal will be relegated to the dead issues of popular ignorance.

THE PROBLEM OF LIFE.

'Tis but a fleeting hour:
'Tis but a passing shower,
Till life and all its dreams have fled,
To mingle with the dying and the dead.

By some are honors most highly won,
By others are duties most bravely done;
But to all must life end where it begun:
With the setting of this earthly sun.

'Tis true that all things must
To their native element return;
The bosom of the mother earth,
Shall be thy body's urn.

And so to the life eternal
Must thy spirit soul return,
For God, the Almighty Father,
Is surely thy spirit's urn.

For would you live this earthly life
Of vain regrets and daily strife,
Were it not to reach that higher goal,
That life eternal, where dwells the soul?

It Gives New Life.

A well known citizen prostrated with the heat during the hot weather, was relieved by drinking a glass of the invigorating wine sold by Charles A. Appeldorn at his Oakland chowder house on Washington street near Seventh street. The wine inspired him with new life and was a sample of the many kinds sold by Mr. Appeldorn.

FRIDAY..... SEPTEMBER 13, 1895.

The news from Honolulu is that 35 deaths have occurred in that port from cholera, or from a disease greatly resembling it. It does not mitigate the evil that except in two instances, those attacked were natives. It is clear that the disease was brought from Asiatic ports by a passenger steamer. There is no cause for alarm here. As far as is known, not a case of cholera has been brought to this coast by any vessel coming from a foreign port. If it should prevail extensively at Honolulu it would greatly hinder Island commerce for a while.

The pardon of Liliukalani, ex-queen of Hawaii, had been anticipated for some time. She had renounced all her rights as a sovereign and had promised to behave herself as a citizen. It is evident that the authorities had no fear of the woman. Her reign of mischief has closed. It is probable that some property concession may be made for her benefit. At this time the deposed sovereign appears to be one whom few respect who know her history, and none fear, unless it be a few simple-minded natives.

One of the papers read before the recent meeting of the Science Association was on the growth of cities. The principal point made was that the social and material forces now in operation would in time change the course of population from concentration to distribution. The Boston Herald makes these comments

"We are in the midst of marvelous economic changes, produced by advances in science and invention, that must inevitably affect the world's great centers of population to an enormous extent. Improvements and revolutions in transit methods, systems of transportation and industrial operations will naturally profoundly modify the causes that have induced concentration of population in the presence of great urban aggregations. It is absolutely impossible to predict the nature of these changes although it looks as if the great improvements in transit facilities that appear to be in prospect might operate to relieve the congestion of dense populations, and cause a more uniform distribution of population over the land—in other words, bring the country into the city and carry the city out over the country.'

It is probable that the extension of electric roads may tend towards distribution. But at present this effect appears to be wholly of a suburban character, while the tendency to the concentration of population in cities was never stronger than it is now.

The Refuse of a City.

One of the most difficult sanitary questions of the day is about the disposal of garbage of a city. Where there is accessible tide water dumping has been made with the expectation that the tidal current would carry all the refuse out of sight. In New York, where the plan of carrying garbage out to sea has been folowed for many years, that method has become very unsatisfactory. The shores and beaches of the bay were lined with the refuse which wind and tides had brought back. New York is now trying the experiment of a crematory and expects to find in that a rational solution of the problem. If one crematory is satisfactory others will be erected.

Of course this waste is the solid matter. A considerable part of it will float on the water. That has been the trouble in disposing of waste matter in that way. The dumping grounds nearly everywhere become a nuisance. Even the ground filled in by that method is not satisfactory. It is not safe for house lots. The feculant matter is near the surface. Dumps are the primitive resort. The waste of the city must be disposed of in some way. Some objections have been raised to the cremating process. It is probably the best sanitary device now known. The smoke might be offensive. But in the improved crematories there is said to be no smoke.

Crude petroleum is now very cheap. It can probably be laid down in this city for one dollar a barrel and perhaps for less. That is the best inflammable substance known for destroying garbage. It would settle the question of smoke. The crematory process would not necessarily set aside covered dump carts. There would be the same amount of garbage to be transported to some particular spot to be consumed by fire.

The Cup and the Contest.

The international contest has resulted in disappointment to all parties. Never before had two yachts so well matched contended for the prize. What was expected was a contest to the finish that might possibly include five races. These, it was hoped, would be made in all weathers and all winds, so that in the end there could be no doubt as to which is the better boat. The reason assigned by the Englishman for withdrawing from the contest will not satisfy most people. The excursion boats of which he complained were as much in the way of the American yacht as the other. It was almost impossible to keep them at the regulation distance. But there is no published evidence that they actually hindered either yacht in making the race.

One can hardly escape the conviction that the Englishman had other reasons for throwing up the contest. He found on the first trial that the American had the better boat. If she could win in comparatively still water and with a light wind it was moral'y certain that she could win in a half gale. In the second race the Defender, disabled as she was by the foul of the Valkyrie, was seen to be the better boat in the judgment of experts. It is clear that Dunraven had come to the same conclusion. It would sound better at home and be a sort of heart's ease to national pride to say that the Englishman withdrew because he could no have a fair trial. It softens the defeat as it were.

It could not be certainly known which was the superior boat until at least one race had been sailed. That settled the question in the minds of experts. The best craft that British naval skill and science could devise had been matched against the best that American skill could construct. It does not change the result in this respect, that the Englishman withdrew before the final contest. He proceeded far enough to satisfy himself as to the difference in favor of the American yacht, and certainly did not want to accentuate his defeat by another trial. The disappointment is that the Englishman was not game to the last.

A Question of Pavements.

The old, rich and conservative city of Hartford is now agitating the question of asphalt pavements. The Courant states its position to this effect:

'We want the best. Block asphalt, very properly has been given its opportunity. A like opportunity should be given to sheet asphalt, which has already a wider use as well as more friends. In selecting the asphalt to be used, we ought to have the very best, and we ought to get that best at the best possible rate for Hartford rather than for the contractors. This seems a sound platform and a safe footing. But it is the misfortune of the whole asphalt industry that each sub-division of it has such very unpleasant things to say of others."

The two materials in competition are the Trinidad asphalt and the rock asphalt of California. Both may make very good or a very bad pavement. The California asphalt is now working its way into many of the Eastern cities. The best of this is probably the best in the world. There is a great deal of difference in the quality, even when taken from a single district. The best ought to contain not less than 10 per cent of oil not differing greatly from crude petroleum. It laid two inches thick on a concrete bed that has been well rolled it will make one of the best pavements known. If laid on a poor foundation it will not stand the crushing power of heavy loads.

These facts are well enough known here where the failures have been numerous. They are stated for the benefit of persons at a distance. There are millions of tons of asphalt rock in this State. If it can be converted into good pavements in Eastern cities, so much the better. It will all depend upon honest work and not only that, but work done according to the best standard that has ever been adopted here for asphalt pavements.

Women as Preachers.

It is reported that the wife of the pastor of the Second Unitarian church in San Francisco has ceased to minister occasionally in that church because some dissatisfaction has been expressed on the part of the congregation with the employment of a woman as a preacher. This custom prevails to some extent in a few of the denominations. The more conservative ones have always refused to ordain women as ministers. They are never seen in that capacity in the pulpits of the Catholic church nor in the Protestant Episcopal, Presbyterian and Congregational churches and are seldom fully commissioned in the Methodist churches.

The conservative feeling is still very strong that a woman ought not to assume the functions of an ordained minister. But the conservative feeling has been just as strong against the entrance of women into the professions of law and medicine. They have broken down the old barriers to some extent. In short, women physicians are now found in almost every State. Some of them are reaping large professional rewards.

Women have endowed hospitals and have created departments for themselves in medical colleges. The graduates increase from year to year. Women as lawyers have not made much of a figure at the bar, and it is doubtful if they ever will. When one appears in that profession the circumstance furnishes an item of news for the curious, but no assurance that any professional fame is to be won.

Perhaps in time some of the conservative opposition to the appearance of women in the pulpit may disappear. It is so strong now that there is little prospect that the leading denominations will confer ministerial orders upon women. Even if they were admitted to all the pulpits of the land they would be subject to the same discriminating and critical judgment that is at all times applied to men who fill the pulpits of the churches. There would be some who might preach to edification and some who would not. Some might draw audiences and others repel them. Great tragic actresses are not the less great on account of their sex. It may be that the time will come when a woman of talent will not be counted less desirable as a preacher because she is a woman. But it can hardly be said that that time has fully come.

The Sacramento Bee exploits the great celebration at Sacramento in a paper that will be memorable as signalizing a new era in that city. Sacramento has not only been well advertised at home, but it has been well done in papers at a distance. The Bee has done the handsome thing. Twenty-five years hence the local historian who writes about that city will find a great deal of good history in the local papers that have exploited the great celebration.

There is not a little speculation just now as to which political party will prevail in the coming election in Utah. The prospects seem to favor the Republicans. In 1892 Utah, which had a long time been Democratic, gave the Republican delegate to Congress a plurality of 2 806 votes. Last year the Republicans had an average plurality of 1,827 and they have elected delegates enough to control the Constitutional Convention. These facts, while not conclusive, indicate that the Republicans will have the upper hand at the next election.

Japan has recently contracted in England for five war vessels to cost an aggregate of $25,000,000. There is the color of extravagance in this expenditure. But then this is only a small part of the sum which Japan is to receive from China as a war indemnity. These ships are bought not from any fear of future trouble with China. Russia is the shadow that is looming up. Japan is comparatively a poor country, and it is not so rich now as it was before the war with China. A great armament will further impoverish the people.

NOTES AND EXCERPTS.

Kedesh the city of Naphtali, where Barak and Deborah assembled the tribes of Israel has been sought for by M. E. Gautier and not found. Two spots in the valley of the Orontes were supposed to be the place, a tumuli on a spur of Mount Lebanon, near the Lake of Homs and an island in the lake. Excavations were made in both, with the conclusion that neither is Kedesh. But on the island a series of interesting buildings one above the other was found, beginning with the Byzantine period and going back through the Greco-Phoenician to the bronze and stone ages.

Snaefell, on the Isle of Man, 2000 feet above the sea level, is now ascended by means of the first mountain electric road in Great Britain. The road is four and three-quarter miles long, with a continuous gradient of one foot in twelve.

French mutuals in France pay a tax to the State, and consequently a record of the bettings is kept. Last year Paris bet $37 800,000 in this form alone on horse races. There is no account of how much passed through the hands of the bookmakers and private agencies.

Father Kerr, who died recently in South Africa, was a grandson of the sixth Marquis of Lothian and served with distinction in the navy during the Crimean war. In 1867 he became a priest, and after acting as chaplain to the Marquis of Ripon when he was Governor-General of India, joined the Zambesi mission, where he died.

Living in the open air all summer has improved the Pope's health, which was never better than it is now. He is entirely free from the fainting spells that used to come upon him in the spring months and when pressed with business Dr. Lapponi says: "If nothing unforeseen happens, the Holy Father's constitution is so sound that he may well attain his hundredth year."

Nail biting according to a French doctor, is hereditary. Almost one-third of the French school children bite their nails, and the girls are worse than the boys.

A queer Arabian Nights tale comes from the Punjab. A few weeks ago a party of weavers formed a marriage procession and started for a village in Ferozpore. The bridegroom was bald and blind of one eye, and his father feared the bride's parents would refuse him so the weavers advised him to present a barber's boy who was with them as the groom. The barber was dressed in the groom's wedding garments and was accepted. When the marriage was over and they had returned home the weaver demanded his bride, but the barber refused to give her up, and now they have gone to law to settle the question.

An important linguistic expedition into Africa has just been completed by the Rev. Charles Robinson, who was sent out by the Haussa Association to find material for a Haussa dictionary. He first went to Tripoli and Tunis, where there are Haussa colonies, and then by way of the Niger and the Benue reached Kano, the commercial center of Haussa land. In returning from Kano to Egga on the Niger, he traversed 425 miles where no European had been. He brought back 3000 new words for a dictionary, materials for a Haussa grammar and native manuscripts containing history and historical and religious songs. The Haussa is the most important language of northern Africa. The people who speak it extend from the Niger region across to Soudan, and cover a territory nearly a thousand miles square; they are very industrious and are the only nation that Mr. Stanley met that esteemed books.

Mrs. Nat Collins, the cattle queen of Montana, who has been up to Chicago disposing of a bunch of steers, is thus described by one of the newspapers of that city: "She is neither a new woman nor typical of the Wild West, but a big woman, motherly looking and kind hearted. She is probably well up into the fifties, darkly tanned and would tip the scale at 200 pounds. She wore a shiny black skirt yesterday of heavy silk, a blue shirt waist with mother of pearl cuff buttons, a black belt and changeable tie knotted in jaunty fashion. Instead of the traditional sailor hat a black open straw bonnet with nodding sprays of mignonette.

The most beautiful gown at the Vanderbilt ball was worn by the wife of Senator Brice of Ohio. The Vanderbilts with all of their millions, didn't show up anything that touched it. A butting match between a white man who claimed to have the hardest head in town and a negro took place at St. Louis the other day. There was only one round, and then the white man was hauled off to a hospital with a broken nose and a fractured jaw. The negro got the purse and wasn't phased by the collision.

Some years ago an Indiana widower with a son married a widow with a daughter. The other day the stepbrother and stepsister were married at Madison and the neighbors made a great fuss about it, though they are no more kin than if one had been born in Patagonia and the other in Alaska.

The summer girl at Bar Harbor is feeling exceedingly melancholy. The swimming pool, which has been in the course of construction for two years or more, and which was to have been the finest of its kind in America, is to be sold this week at auction; that is, the pile of buildings which was to constitute the outer shell. The pool was to have been filled with hot sea water, as the water at Bar Harbor is far too cold for sea bathing, and besides there is no beach. Indeed one would have to fall off the rocks to get into the surf, notwithstanding enterprising journals have been describing Mrs. Potter Palmer's bathing suit all summer.

SUMNER IS SUSPENDED.

He Is Ordered Off the Rolls of the Navy for Six Months.

A Reprimand Is Also to Be Given Him for Dereliction of Duty.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The Navy Department today made public its action in the case of Captain Sumner, late commander of the U. S. cruiser Columbia, tried by court-martial at Brooklyn navy yard on charges growing out of injury sustained by his vessel in docking at Southampton in July.

The first charge was culpable inefficiency in the performance of his duty.

The court-martial found him guilty in a less degree than charged, in that he did not have proper preparations made for docking.

The court ignored that portion of the charge alleging that as a consequence of that failure the boat was subjected to severe strains, causing damage to her hull and necessitating repairs costing about $1,000.

The captain was found guilty of suffering the vessel to be hazarded in violation of naval regulations.

He was found guilty of a third charge of neglect of duty and the specification that he paid the charge of docking without protest was proved.

The sentence of the court is as follows:

"To be suspended from duty only for a period of six months on waiting orders of pay and to be reprimanded by the honorable Secretary of the Navy."

ACMES VICTORIOUS.

They Carry Off Wrestling Honors at the Olympic Club.

At the Olympic wrestling tournament last night Gus La Rue and J. C. Williamson of the Acme Club won their respective bouts. They easily defeated Ambruster and Brill for which feat each was awarded a handsome $35 medal.

A large delegation of Acme men went to see the sport and were wild with delight at the excellent work of the fellow members.

Gus La Rue and U. P. Ambruster were billed for the first bout. Ambruster won the first throw but Gus knew what he was about and after letting the Olympian wind himself he threw him twice, winning the match.

Though ten pounds lighter than Brill, Williamson won from him in two straight downs.

After the games Joe Acton, the professional wrestler said that little La Rue would make a world beater in time.

THE RAIN RECORD.

Weather Clerk Sanborn Says It Will Be a Wet Season.

Sanborn the florist says that this is going to be a rainy season and the records to date bear out his assertion.

The season begins July 1st. On the 4th of that month there was a rainfall of .02 of an inch. There was then a dry spell, the next rain falling on the 10th of this month, when the precipitation was .17 of an inch.

Yesterday there was another downpour, the fall up to 1 o'clock in the afternoon amounting to .37 of an inch.

From that hour up to the time the storm ceased last night there was an additional fall of .07 on an inch, making a total for the season of 1.13 inches, as against .20 of an inch last year.

NO REASON EVER GIVEN.

Milton Strong's Wife Deserted Him, But Never Told Why.

She Wrote Constantly for Money, But Declined to Return Home.

Milton G Strong, a well-known butcher of Alameda who has resided in the Encinal City for twenty years past, was granted a divorce today by Judge Greene from his wife Emma L. Strong on the ground of desertion.

There is a rather strange story behind the case. The couple were married in 1870. They came to California and settled in Alameda, where their life was as happy as could be desired. Nothing occurred to mar the smooth and even tenor of the Strong household until nine years ago. Strong was doing well in his business at that time and a trip to the East was suggested. Mrs. Strong's father and mother resided in Illinois. Their daughter was anxious to visit them and finally the couple, in 1886, departed for Illinois on a visit.

Strong returned to Alameda in November of that year and it was understood that as soon as his wife desired to come home he would go back to Illinois for her. Letters passed between them, but strange to relate, after the third or fourth Mrs. Strong failed to reply to her husband's frequent and anxious inquiries. She could not be induced to say when she would be ready to return She never would discuss the question in any of her subsequent communications to her husband. These were mainly demands for money

Strong waited a year and a half before breaking up the little home they had in Alameda. Finally he sold out some of the household effects and stored the remainder. He could stand it no longer.

Mrs. Strong began to travel. She went to Idaho with her parents and dwelt in various places. Strong sent her some money, $100 at one time was forwarded to be used in securing transportation to Alameda, but the coin was never used in that way During the four years preceding the commencement of the suit he had sent his wife regularly $40 a month.

Mrs. Strong finally reached Washington, where she settled in Spokane Falls The suit for divorce was filed a year ago or more Efforts were made to serve a summons upon Mrs. Strong but it was not successful as her exact whereabouts were unknown As soon as the location was realized, the necessary publication of the commencement of the action was made. She did not heed the matter a great deal. When efforts were made by her attorneys to secure a disposition from her, word reached E. A. Sherman Jr., who had charge of her end of the case in Alameda, that she was mentally incompetent and unable to make oath to anything She had hired two attorneys there, but they were not diligent in preparing their case.

In April of this year Strong was obliged to pay $100 to his wife of nine years ago for counsel fees as she prepared no way to fight the case. But the delays have been interminable and Judge Greene finally decided to proceed with it. Several witnesses were called including Robert McDonald, D. W. Martin, James Daniel and the plaintiff. Their stories were fully corroborated by each other.

Responding to questions from his attorney, George W. Reed, Strong said he could never get an explanation from his wife as to the cause of her desertion. She had never intimated that she was displeased with her position and Strong, who was gradually let into the secrets of her heart, found that she had no desire to return to her home and husband.

A MAGNANIMOUS ATTORNEY

Judge Gibson Allows a Default Judgment in His Favor Set Aside.

Judge E. M. Gibson is magnanimous. He secured a judgment by default a few days ago on a suit brought against Mrs. Mary Moss, widow of the late Franklin Moss, to recover $500 attorney's fees for services rendered the old man prior to his death. Mrs. Moss' attorneys, however, had a consultation with Judge Gibson today, which resulted in the default judgment being set aside. There was some oversight on the part of a clerk in the office of the attorneys which caused the default to be entered. Judge Gibson thinks, however, that he can afford to be easy with his antagonists as he believes he has a "sure thing" on the case. A stipulation was filed in the Superior Court this morning whereby the default was set aside on an order by Judge Ellsworth.

STEADILY RECOVERING.

Further Change for the Better in Richard Valentine's Condition.

Further improvement was noted today in the case of Richard P. Valentine, who has been lying at the receiving hospital since last Tuesday as a result of a collision with an electric car at Tenth and Jefferson streets The physicians think he was recovering remarkably and it is believed he will be so far along by Sunday that he can be removed to his home. The injured man has gained considerable strength since yesterday and his general condition is as encouraging today as it was discouraging two days ago. Valentine has had the very best of treatment and care while at the hospital, and much has been due to the excellent service there rendered.

WILL HOLD ON.

Welles Whitmore Defends the Franklin Street Franchise.

Welles Whitmore, to whom, with E. K. Alsip of Sacramento, was granted a franchise by the council to build an electric street railway from the corner of Fourteenth and Franklin street to Berkeley, says there is no danger that the rails laid under that franchise on Franklin street at the intersection of Fourteenth street will be pulled up and there is no probability either that the franchise in question will be declared forfeited by the council

"I do not think," said Mr. Whitmore, "that the franchise will be declared forfeited by the council. Mr. Bassett has been saying a great deal about those two rails laid at Fourteenth and Franklin streets. He has been trying to make us a good deal of trouble, but it is all because we beat him in getting the franchise. Davie is behind him and he is mad also because we got the franchise. But we do not mind it. Those tracks will not be removed. The franchise has not yet expired. We have done all the work required to be done by it under the franchise. The rails at Fourteenth street were put down within the required limit in the franchise, namely, six months. The next work under the franchise was to be done within three years after the doing of the first work. Two years must yet elapse before we shall be required to do any more work on the road. The proposed line runs from Fourteenth and Franklin on Franklin to Twentieth, to Webster, Broadway, College avenue and then turns around on certain streets in Berkeley."

FOUR MONTHS IN JAIL.

Frank Silva Escapes With a Rather Light Sentence.

Frank Silva, who had a desperate fight some months ago with Daniel Jones, a watchman at Market street wharf, in which the latter was shot by Silva, was sent to the county jail today by Judge Frick for four months. Silva was held to answer for trial on a charge of assault to commit murder. He pleaded guilty on Wednesday to assault with a deadly weapon. Judge Frick thought from the testimony given in the police court that Silva had acted under great provocation. He therefore made the judgment light.

LITERARY NOTES.

The Midland Monthly for September is an admirable number. The initial article is on "Grant and Galena" by Leigh Leslie and is aptly illustrated. Narcessa Macy Smith gives "Reminiscences of John Brown," and the Midland War Sketches by Col. A. G. Hatry this time furnish "Scenes and Incidents of the Battle of Chickamauga."

A new name of notable repute appears among the contributions to Donahoe's Magazine in the September issue. Mgr. Charles de Harlez, the eminent professor of the University of Louvain whose place among European scholars is in the front rank, gives the first instalment of an essay on "Buddhism and Christianity." The learned professor addresses himself to those critics of the religion of Christ, who put forth the absurd claim that the latter is only a copy and an offshoot of the Buddhist faith, and demonstrates the hollow fallacy of their theories in an article replete with interesting facts about Buddhism and fascinatingly written. Another article of timely import is that of Mabelle Justice on "The Passion Play in America." It will be new and interesting intelligence to many Americans that the sacred drama of The Crucifixion, popularly supposed to be indigenous and peculiar to Oberammergau, is enacted regularly on American soil as a religious exercise under the guidance of Jesuit missionaries, among certain Indian tribes of British Columbia.

F. M. Lupton, of 106 Reade street, New York, is doing something remarkable in the literary line. He is issuing in a cheap but complete series a dozen works such as Gulliver's Travels all in one binding for 25 cents. In the "Arm Chair Library" Edgar Allan Poe's "The Gold Bug," Stanley Weyman's "The Man in Black," and similar high class works of fiction retail for ten cents.

"Out of Due Season," which has just been issued by Appleton's Library, is described as "A Mezzotint by Adeline Sergeant." The authoress will be readily recalled by her "The Mistress of the Quest" and "The Story of a Penitent Soul," and her latest production more than sustains her reputation. It is a book that cannot be read without arousing strong emotions, for the chords of the heart are played on by a master hand It is one of the most readable books of the season.

The American Magazine of Civics is keeping up its good work. The September number contains ably written essays on up to date political matters, a notable article being on "The Abolition of Poverty," by Whidden Graham. (New York, 38 Park Row, 25 cents)

Music for September contains as a frontispiece an excellent portrait of Rubenstein, and also recollections of the great master by Julius Rodenberg. The recollections are all personal and one is brought in absolute contact with the great genius. Camille Saint Saens also contributes an article on the same subject.

The success of the Livre de Lecture et de Conversation, published a year ago by D. C. Heath & Co., of Boston, in their "Heath's Modern Language Series," has induced them and the author to furnish Lectures Courantes, a similar but more advanced book. Like the Livre de Lecture et de Conversation, this book is designed for female colleges, seminaries and high schools, and contains reading, conversation and composition for second year pupils, who in the first year have done the equivalent of the former book.

So many are the questions asked daily at the book counters of the large stores for a new cook book or a new book on the proper manner of serving that for the benefit of such inquirers it is mentioned that bright little monthly magazine, Table Talk, whose chief aim is to aid housekeepers over these rough places and is considered the American authority upon all subjects of interest in the home. It is published in Philadelphia, and a line to the office there, mentioning where you saw this notice, will secure a sample copy free. The September issue contains a valuable article by Marion Talbot, dean of Chicago University, on "Domes tic Science in the Colleges." In addition to the regular departments, "The Housekeepers' Inquiries," "The New Bill of Fare," and "Fashionable Luncheon and Tea Toilets" there will be found articles on hardwood floors and their care, the lemon, mention of books for September reading, and so on.

Lloyd Osbourne, the stepson of Robert Louis Stevenson, has written for the October Scribner an account of "Mr. Stevenson's Home-life at Vailima." This is the first account by a member of Mr. Stevenson's own household and is the truest and most sympathetic that has yet appeared. It gives a remarkable account of Stevenson's attitude toward the native chiefs and the patriarchal life that he led among them.

Do you wish to wear the insignia, or the lapel button of an American Order, or Patriotic Hereditary Society of the United States? Then get The Historical Register (which is the monthly gazette of these associations) for September and find out how you can do so. It gives the requirements for membership and eligibility rules of all the American patriotic societies whose membership is based upon American military or civil service of an ancestor. The frontispiece is the beautiful insignia of the Society of the War of 1812, done in proper colors and embossed. The usual space is devoted to American historical matters and contains a large amount of valuable information which cannot fail to be appreciated by the intelligent. Published by the Historical Register Publishing Company, Philadelphia. Subscription $3 a year.

The Southern number of The New Cycle comes to us well illustrated, well written and well printed—a credit to its publishers and to the women of the South who have contributed so largely to its attractive matter. Among the contributors are Mrs. Olivia H. Grosvenor of Memphis, Mrs. Fanny Ledyard Hudson and Katharine Nobles of New Orleans, Annie Bozeman Lytton of Mobile, Mrs. L. Crozier French of Knoxville, Mrs. Letitia H. Wrenshall of Baltimore, Mrs. M. L. McLendon and Mrs. E. G. McCabe, of Atlanta; Mary McNeil Scott of Mobile and many others.

The Atlantic Monthly for September contains the first installment of a three-part story by Charles Egbert Craddock, entitled "The Mystery of Witch-Face Mountain." The second of Dr. John Fiske's historical papers has for a subject John Smith in Virginia, in which he reopens vigorously the discussion in regard to this interesting character. Bradford Torrey contributes another Tennessee sketch, Chickamauga, which will be of special interest in view of this summer's memorable gathering at Lookout Mountain. The paper in the August issue by James Schouler upon President Polk's Diary is ably supplemented in this issue by "President Polk's Administration" by the same author.

George W. Smalley, for many years the London correspondent of the New York Tribune, enjoyed years of social intercourse with Professor Huxley in London and was his intimate friend. He has written for the October Scribner a most appreciative paper on Mr. Huxley.

Messrs. Houghton, Mifflin and Company announce to their correspondents and friends with deep regret the death, on the 25th inst., of the honored head of their house, Henry Oscar Houghton. For a year past Mr. Houghton's health has been seriously impaired, but he continued to give attention to details of business and was in his office but a few days before his death. His surviving associates will study to keep before themselves the same high aims which distinguished him in his long career as printer and publisher.

Lloyd Osbourne, in his account of Robert Louis Stevenson's home-life in Samoa in the October Scribner, says that Mr Stevenson's family of Samoans generally consisted of from thirteen to twenty-one young men who were most loyal to their chief. He had a remarkable system of discipline that developed this household into one of extraordinary interest. "Unquestioning and absolute obedience was insisted upon. No order once given was ever altered or modified. Every man had his work outlined for him in advance and several even possessed type-written lists of their various duties. Little proclamations and notices were often posted up in order to correct petty irregularities."

Under the present management Romance steadily improves, and the September number offers a goodly variety to its readers. Among the best of the stories is "The Flowing Source," by Quiller-Couch, who stands in the front rank of modern English writers of fiction, and Jules Claretie, J. M. Barrie and Max Pemberton are represented by well selected tales. The cover is attractive and should aid in selling this readable little magazine.

PROTECTING HIS TREES.

G. G. Baker Hires an Officer to Watch His Grove of Redwoods.

The Glade Infested by Vandals Who Wield Their Hatchets Mercilessly.

George G. Baker, the real estate man, owns a tract of land between Piedmont and East Oakland of which he is very proud. Upon the property stands a natural grove of redwood trees. It is one of the very few in this section of the State and Baker is anxious to preserve the magnificent growth of forestry from destruction. Most of the trees are young. None of them are more than twenty-five or thirty feet high and there are some thousand or more on the tract.

Ever since Baker bought the property he has been greatly worried over the depredations of seekers for evergreen and foliage for decorating purposes. Many of the saplings have been chopped down, and the efforts made to prevent the destruction of the grove have been almost futile up to date.

Baker, however, is going to call upon the strong arm of the law to protect his prized trees. He sought Sheriff White today. Accompanying him was a stout young man who, Baker said, had been guardian of the grove for some time past, but had met with indifferent success because he was not clothed with the authority of the law. So Baker urged the sheriff to appoint the young man a deputy sheriff. The compensation for his services will be attended to by Baker.

"Why, do you know that church people go out to the grove," said Baker, angrily, "and chop the tops of the trees off for decorations. Many others have been there and not only carved off the foliage but have cut down the young trees and left them to die. Now that grove is too precious to be ruthlessly destroyed and I am going to protect those trees. It will be a sorry affair if, hereafter, my watchman apprehends any miscreants."

READY FOR PAYMENT.

The Great Mora Claim Is to Be Disposed of Tomorrow.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Methods for the payment of the Mora claim have been definitely arranged and the draft is prepared for transfer tomorrow.

It will call for an equivalent in English pounds sterling of $1,499,000, made payable to Secretary of State Olney.

The loss of $51,000 from the amount $1,500,000 originally agreed upon is due to the difference between the value of a Spanish peso and an American gold dollar.

INTERESTING TO SUFFERERS

Upon the wish of Mr. Henry Schrag, proprietor of the Club Livery Stables in this city, we the undersigned hereby testify that we have known him for years and know that he has been crippled and a great sufferer from rheumatism for the past six years, unable to attend to any business and unable to find any relief notwithstanding his constantly consulting physicians.

Since three weeks he has been treated by Dr. Wulff with electricity applied after a new method, the doctor's own invention, and the change in the man is something wonderful; he can walk straight again and attend daily to his business, which he had not done for years.

DEATH DISMISSED IT.

Mrs. Annie Cameron's Appeal to the Supreme Court.

The death of Mrs. Annie L. Cameron has caused the dismissal of the appeal she took to the Supreme Court upon her conviction in connection with an altercation had some years ago with a leading real estate dealer. A remittitur from the Supreme Court dismissing the people "upon a suggestion of the death of the appellant," was filed with the county clerk today.

MAKES GROSS CHARGES.

Charles Martin Throwing Many Ugly Shadows Over His Wife.

A Divorce Case That Has Culminated in Very Revolting Evidence.

The divorce suit of Florence Martin against her husband Charles Martin from whom she is seeking a divorce on the ground of cruelty, has been awarded the first prize by Superior Court habitues for absolutely vile testimony.

The husband, who has entered a cross complaint in the case has occupied the witness stand for two days past in Judge Ellsworth's court where the case is on trial and his narrative of the domestic affairs of the Martin household has been without exception unutterably filthy. He has related to the minutest detail the habits of his wife and the methods of housekeeping and care of the family in a manner which has been almost revolting in its nastiness.

The trial has attracted a great crowd of curious and morbid spectators who have reveled in the disgusting details in a manner that sadly reflects upon their better tastes.

Mrs. Martin had her story told some days ago and her husband is now trying to offset her charges with a mass of testimony which is as unsavory as it is discreditable.

In many respects the case is without a parallel and for that reason has caused unusual attention to be drawn to it. Martin occupied the stand the entire morning and his examination had not been concluded when the noon recess was taken. His wife's attorney had a long cross examination in view and the case is likely to be prolonged for several days yet. The fight is very bitter. There are two young children, but no property interests at stake. The family troubles have been carried from the time the couple settled in Fruitvale and finally moved to Lorin. At the latter place most of the difficulties occurred.

A REMARKABLE CURE.

Case of Mr. Henry Schrag, Proprietor Club Livery Stables, Fourteenth and Webster Streets.

Oakland, Sept. 5th, 1895.

Six years ago I was taken suddenly ill with a lame back, and consulted Dr. Mayer and Dr. Simond of San Francisco, and later Dr. Williamson, Dr. J. W. Robertson, and Dr. Leo Newmark, all of San Francisco. Some of the doctors diagnosed my case as rheumatism, others as lumbago, but their treatment did not benefit me any. I then went to the Byron Hot Springs, remained there six weeks and still no relief. After this, having doctored for six long years, I tried, as a last resort, an electric chain invented by Dr. J. M. Wulff and now after having used same according to directions for about three weeks I feel that I finally found a remedy that has so far done me that much good that I can attend to my business, which I have not been able to do for years, and I have very little, if any, doubt that by conscientiously following the doctor's directions, I will ultimately get entirely cured. The relief I have so far, is far beyond what I ever expected. I know and feel that the treatment has done wonders for me.

Very truly,

HENRY SCHRAG.

TO BE A MONTE CARLO.

Niagara Falls Is to Have a Magnificent Club House.

A Gigantic, Permanent Convention Hall Also to Be Erected.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 13.—The Express says:

Niagara Falls is to be the convention city of the future and the Monte Carlo of America.

Several plans are far advanced looking to the establishment of one of the most gigantic permanent convention halls ever conceived on this side of the Atlantic, and the erection of a club house which will be the wonder of the world.

Niagara Falls in future is going to be all that Saratoga has been, only on a scale surpassing anything ever thought of.

It is said the men interested in the scheme represent more than $100,000,000 in money and that they are able to carry the thing through without a hitch.

It is said that the club house to be erected will cost not less than $500,000, and will be run after the plan of Mitchell's house at Saratoga.

Both Mitchell and Daly are interested in the scheme, besides others whose names cannot be learned.

BORDER BANDITS.

Five Prominent Citizens Jailed as a Result of the Warfare.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

FORT SMITH, Ark., Sept. 13.—Geo. McElroy, Henry Hook, Charles Hook, Dr. John McBland and Thomas Stuttlebeam, prominent and respectable citizens of the Indian Nation, have been convicted in the United States court on four charges of deadly assault and arson.

Their case grew out of the attack by vigilantes upon the homes of Bruce and Eugene Miller, harborers of outlaws, near Jennings, O. T., on April 16th, 1894.

In the fight "Dutch John" was killed and Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, aged 70, and Herman Miller, aged 3, were wounded and both of the Millers' houses burned.

The defendants were tried and acquitted of the murder of "Dutch John."

They have been very conspicuous in their warfare upon the border bandits.

A MISSING MAN.

He Had Considerable Money and Foul Play Is Feared.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 13.—William E. Cannon, a wholesale jeweler of this city, well known throughout Missouri and Kansas and a man of considerable wealth, has been missing since Monday.

He has been suffering from malaria and fears are entertained for his safety.

He had considerable money about him when last seen.

Cannon is six feet tall, of slender build, has blue eyes, light hair and light blonde mustache and is 35 years of age.

NEARLY $5000 NOW.

The Fund for the Wilmerding School Grows Steadily.

The Wilmerding School committee held a meeting last night. The reports of promised subscriptions were gratifying and the committee realizing that little time remains within which to raise the necessary amount are working with redoubled energy.

The residents of West Oakland want the school located in that end of town but are working hard to secure it for Oakland anyhow. Mr. King, who is prosecuting the canvass in that neighborhood reported that several hundred dollars have been promised.

The ladies have interested themselves in the school project and are doing good work. Voluntary subscriptions are still coming in, the latest being $100 from William Clift.

The report of the meeting last night showed a fund of nearly $5000.

HE ADVISES BLOODSHED.

A Prominent Alabama Populist on the Rights of Voters.

If the Opposition Is Not Recognized It Should Assert Itself.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 13.—Col. D. S. Troy, one of the leading lawyers of the State, who recently joined the Populist party in the interest of honest elections and free silver, as he said, and whose plan for honest elections and a free silver convention, to meet in Birmingham November 13th next was adopted by the Populists, is out in a two column article in the State organ of the Populists, which makes interesting reading.

Colonel Troy endeavors to explain under what circumstances the use of force at voting places would be legal and justifiable.

He regards the wilful refusal of the county officials to have in the board of election inspectors an intelligent representative of the opposition whenever practical to do so as sufficient evidence of a fraudulent purpose to debauch the election franchise and an honest, law-abiding citizen, he asserts, has the same right to prevent the election being held by them as he has to prevent any other violation of the law in his presence.

He thinks that under these circumstances whatever force is necessary to stop the elections should be used, even though blood has to be shed.

MURDERED.

A Ghastly Tragedy Unearthed in Oklahoma.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

GUTHRIE, O. T., Sept. 13.—A week ago William Holland, a stockman living near Concord, disappeared, as did also his band of cattle.

His body has been found buried near his ranch with the head shot away and several knife stabs in the breast.

Forty of the cattle have been recovered.

It is believed that two armed strangers who visited Holland's ranch committed the crime.

FORMALLY RATIFIED.

Rev. Dr. Law Is Now Official Pastor of the Church of the Advent.

The vestry of the Church of the Advent in East Oakland has ratified the call by the parishioners of Rev. V. Marshall Law as pastor of that church. Mr. Law has been acting as pastor of the Church of the Advent since the resignation of Dr. Lathrop. He will now be formally and publicly installed as pastor by the bishop.

The news is welcomed not only by Dr. Law's congregation but by the community in general for although he has been in Oakland but a short time he has already proved himself to be one of the most able clergymen on the coast. He is a deep thinker and well read and has the happy faculty of being able to apply his information for the benefit of others. He is a decided acquisition to the ministerial circles of the city.

MAY FIGHT WITH SPAIN.

Omnious Preparations Being Made in Official Circles.

It Is Thought That Grover Intends Recognizing Cuba's Rebels.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—A special to a local paper from Washington says:

"Information as to the recent secret work in the Navy Department has leaked out and the result is sufficient to justify the belief that President Cleveland is meditating seriously the possibility of hostilities between Spain and the United States in the near future.

"Whether the dispatch is due to a desire to recognize the Cubans as belligerents or an intention to be in a position to enforce the Mora claim is uncertain, but it cannot be denied that the State and Navy Department have been unusually active in the last few weeks. Certain branches of the Navy Department are now devoting their attention to the Cuban matter almost exclusively.

"Acting under recent orders from Secretary Herbert, some of the officers have been working extra time securing data whose character is such as to indicate that the President and Secretary Olney recognize the necessity of preparing for active intervention in the affairs of Cuba.

"Exhaustive reports have been prepared for Secretary Herbert and the President on naval conditions for a descent on Cuba. The question of transports and the facilities for landing troops on the island has been looked into thoroughly and the results filed with the Secretary of the Navy."

DELAYED BY REQUEST.

City Attorney Peirsol Talks About the Street Car Cases.

City Attorney Peirsol was asked this morning what he had to say in reply to the statement by Councilman Bassett that an injunction preventing the Board of Public Works from pulling up the unused street car tracks on Adeline, Market and other streets in West Oakland had not been given the attention in the courts which the importance of the subject demanded.

Mr. Peirsol said: "A temporary injunction holds until it is disposed of. I have filed my answer to the complaint made by the railroad company. I did that within the time allowed by law. After I had filed the answer I received a request from the property owners along the street car lines in question, asking that Sam Bell McKee and Maj. Mhoon be allowed to come into the case. The people who made the request are opposed to the maintenance of the tracks on the streets in question and wanted Mr. McKee and Maj. Mhoon to come in to help me in the matter. Maj. Mhoon has been away from the city for some time and I do not know when he will return. I do not think that he has got here yet. The delay has not been occasioned by my action."

TO GET THE BEST MEN.

Trials to Be Held for the Coming Championship Contests.

Crum Will Have to Beat Wefers Before He Can Compete.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The publication of the official entries for the A. A. U. championship meeting has caused a great deal of speculation among all those who are interested in the final make-up of the international team.

Outside of the sprints there is very little speculation, because the first and second men who will wear the mercury foot colors are practically decided upon.

But uncertainty prevails regarding the sprints.

On Labor Day Crum defeated Lee, Goodwin and Wefers, and at Manhattan Field last week Wefers defeated Crum and Lee, so that it is a difficult matter to decide who are the two best men in America.

Should Crum win both events on Saturday he is sure of a place on the team, and those who have seen the speedy Westerner run predict a sure victory for him.

On present form the contest should be between Crum and Wefers, as Lee has fallen off perceptibly and is running yards behind his old form.

Champion Burke is in very good form and the Boston man is said to have a very fair chance of winning the quarter mile. Townsend, Goodwin and Coombes are also fast men.

The bicycle race will be the most representative class A event held in this section of the country this season. Among the starters is Hughes of Syracuse, who is a very fast man and may win; Dawson and Dickey, of the New York Athletic club, and Roome, Hunter and Darmer of the New Jersey Athletic Club.

Charles Kilpatrick, the peerless half mile runner, is in championship form and experts think he will win. Hipple and Remington will make a good run for second place. All the cracks are entered in the hurdle race, Stephen, Chase and Syms being among them.

W. B. Rolers, Bloss Sheldon, Sweeney and others will contest in the broad jump. The high jump promises to be a sensational affair. Sweeney, the world's record holder, states that he will endeavor to break his record of 6 feet 5¾ inches.

President Curtis has received a letter from the London Athletic Club team and the Cambridge team, thanking him for the invitation to attend the championship meeting, and they will attend in a body.

THE Y. W. C. A.

Everybody Pleased With the Handsome New Gavel.

The members of the Y. W. C. A. held a pleasant reception to their Oakland friends yesterday afternoon in their handsome home at 1821 Franklin street.

Owing to the unpleasant weather the ladies from San Francisco did not attend though they had intended to. Once inside the rooms, those present soon forgot the beating rain without and spent a most enjoyable afternoon.

During the reception Miss Marlette gave two delightful readings while music was furnished by two of St. John's choristers, Frank and Guy Kerner. These lads delighted the ladies by their singing and violin playing.

The gavel which had excited so much interest was placed on exhibition. It was designed by the ladies and made by Shreve and is the prettiest little hammer that ever called a meeting to order. It is of curly California red wood and gold and is thoroughly emblematic of the Western State.

On the handle is a gold plate bearing the inscription "Presented to the International Board of Y. W. C. A. by the Y. W. C. A. of Oakland and San Francisco." Before this is a minute scene of the Golden State and an oak leaf, representing Oakland, it being a gift from the associations of the two cities.

Mrs. P. D. Brown, who is at present in Montreal with her husband, intends visiting the convention if Mr. Brown's health permits. To her will be given the honor of presenting the gavel, which will be forwarded to her shortly.

Among those present yesterday were: Mrs. Wolfenden, Mrs. Sharon, Mrs. Mygatt, Mrs. Fryer, wife of the gentleman recently appointed to the seat of Oriental languages at Berkeley, Mrs. Graves, Mrs. Staples, Mrs. Van Kirk, Mrs. D. W. C. Gaskill, Miss Grace Bernard with nine Normal school pupils, Mrs. Halstead, Mrs. Burns, Mrs. Smith, Miss Stella Ames and others.

NATURE FOR THE STAGE.

A Charming Performance to Be Given at Sutro Heights.

"As You Like It" to Be Given by an Accomplished Company.

Shakespeare's pastoral comedy, "As You Like It," is always extraordinarily pleasing to the theater-goer who wishes for his entertainment a combination of the merry and the sad, the philosophical and the poetical. It is a play full of good characterization, and every character according to its humor indulges its inclination, to good and evil, as the idea suggests itself. The incidents are not so much outward as inward and subjective. The humor and caprice of persons in their influence one upon another is the basis of the whole action and the cause at the same time of the fantastical character of the piece.

The great bard borrowed the whole plan of the piece from a pastural romance by Thomas Lodge, called "Rosalynde," published about 1590, and at that time it was probably the nearest approach to opera known in that day, for in the original there were many songs and choruses introduced which in "As You Like It" are omitted, though Shakespeare either preserved or wrote four original numbers. Four of the important characters of the piece are unknown in Lodge's pastoral, to-wit: The Clown, Touchstone, Jacques, the melancholy William, the country clown and Audrey, the stupid goat herdress.

In the forthcoming performance of the most beautiful comedy on Sutro Heights the public will have an opportunity of witnessing a representation that has the dignity of the court, the fragrance of the country, the scent of the wood, the tone of solitude, and the sunshine and ripple of merry companionship. In fact, if he would like, the banished Duke, see

"Tongues in trees, books in the running brooks,
Sermons in stones and good in everything"

He must attend the performance on Saturday, 21st inst. Those in charge of the presentation of Shakespeare's beautiful comedy, "As You Like It" on Sutro Heights, which will be given on Saturday afternoon next promptly at 2 o'clock, have been making careful preparations, and there is every reason to believe that in the selection of the players and in the arrangement of the lawn, at Sutro Heights most excellent facilities will be afforded for a perfect performance that will delight every one. It would be almost impossible to describe the beauty of such a performance. Wherever one has been given it has never failed to create the greatest enthusiasm.

The production is made under the auspices and for the benefit of the Channing Auxiliary and the Society for Christian Work. The ladies, however, do not ask patronage from the fact that it is to help their charity, but because an exceptionally excellent performance by professionals is an assured fact. A grand stand will be built to seat 5000 persons, and over thirty private boxes have been arranged for in full view of the stage.

The scenes will be particularly realistic, as the trees on the stage will be real and the disposition of the ground is such that an unobstructed view of the players may be had from all parts of the amphitheater and private boxes. A feature of the performance will be the singing by the University of California Glee Club, who have for some time past been rehearsing the songs, "What Shall He Have That Killed the Deer," "The Cuckoo Song" and others of the original music.

In the cast there will also be Mr. C J. Reichman, the handsome, accomplished leading man of Lily Langtry's Company. The costumes have been made expressly for this production, and all the minor parts will be in the hands of thoroughly trained and well-known people. Of course Miss Rose Coghlan will be seen in her famous role as Rosalind, and Miss Pauline French, an exceedingly beautiful and exquisite actress, will make her debut as Celia.

The sale of reserved seats and boxes will begin at the Columbia theater on Monday morning, September 16th, at 9 o'clock. Arrangements have also been made with Manager Vining of the railway company for special trains and cable cars for the accommodation of the public. As the performance will begin promptly at 2 o'clock the public are urged upon to be in their places early. A large force of assistants and ushers have been provided for to seat the audience as quickly as possible. Each row of seats on the grand stand being raised a few inches above the one before it, it thus affords a fine view of the players from every part of the lawn, with accommodations for over 5000 people.

A MASONIC MEETING.

There Will Be an Interesting Gathering Tonight at Berkeley.

Durant Lodge, No. 268, F. and A. M., of Berkeley will have an unusually important and interesting meeting this evening. Two brothers, Dr. J. Morrison of San Pablo and Hugh Morrison of Berkeley, will be raised to the degree of Master Mason.

Grand Master Stevens of the California jurisdiction, accompanied by a number of grand officers, will pay the lodge the first official visit of grand officers which has been made in eight years.

Grand Lecturer Harry C. Bush will give critical attention to the manner in which the degree work is administered. A banquet will follow the conferring of the degrees.

AS OTHERS SEE US.

Mrs. Katherine B. Fisher, who died in Oakland September 4th, had been so long and closely connected in various ways with our churches, and withal was so marked a character as a woman and a teacher, that these columns should not fail to make note of her departure. She was the daughter of a well-known and influential pastor, the Rev. Dr. Arms of Norwich, Conn., and a brother of hers, Rev. William F. Arms, is now pastor at Essex, Conn. She early became a teacher and pursued her calling in the South for a time. Her husband, with whom she has tarried these thirty-five or more years, has always been among the most faithful promoters of our church life. She herself became a member of the First church in this city under Mr. Lacy's ministry, and under the ministry of the present writer, both in the Oakland First church and in Plymouth avenue church, was often very helpful and inspiring. Her capabilities of helpfulness were very large. Hers was a mind that was, however, alert and inquiring. She did not like grooves out of which there were no or few deviations. The things she did not know were fascinating to her. She was sometimes drawn strongly toward the Episcopal church, in which, before her marriage, she had been confirmed. Again her intellect was very open toward ideas that were not hallowed by any historic traditions. Her love of literature was a passion. Her freshness of interest in her calling, especially as the head of the department of English literature in the Oakland High school, was a constant stimulus to her scholars, even though she had reached 67 years and had carried the routine of this service so long. She was buried from the church of her fathers, in the circle of which she had enjoyed so many friendships, and on the great and simple verities of which she had again and again come back to find her only real rest.—San Francisco Pacific.

DEATH AND DESTRUCTION.

The Eastern Coast Visited by a Terrible Storm.

Many Persons Struck by Lightning as the Tempest Raged.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—A heavy storm struck City Island last night. The display of lightning was terrifying.

Judge Van Cott and a kinswoman, Mme Albert, were on the veranda of the judge's house at High Island while the clouds were gathering and the winds growing higher.

The judge went into his orchard to secure a tent that was flapping and Mme. Albert finally decided to go into the house.

Just as she arose from her chair a bolt of lightning struck her and she fell dead. The electricity burned off her eyebrows and eyelashes, tore her straw hat in tatters and melted the pins in her hair.

On the back porch of the same house sat Josph Alcolos, a veteran of the civil war. The same bolt knocked the pipe he was smoking out of his mouth.

It then jumped to a post three feet away and split it into splinters.

Alcolos was not hurt, but the walls of the cottage were scarred as if by red hot pokers.

The cyclone struck the village of Cape Vincent just as a large excursion, homeward bound from the Jefferson county fair at Watertown was about to take the boat for Kingston, Ont.

The Rome Watertown and Ogdensburg railway station collarsed.

George Godfrey and Thomas Arnell of Cape Vincent received injuries from which they died.

A large number of persons were injured, several of whom it is feared will die.

The storm was particularly severe at the east end of Long Island.

Just before sunset the wind rose. Then there was a lull and it seemed as if the heavens had opened.

Rain came down in torrents, while the sheets of blinding lightning frightened women and children and drove the bravest men indoors.

The wind, while it lasted, had a hurricane's force.

Trees were leveled to the ground and telegraph and telephone wires were blown down in many places in the suburbs of New York. The lightning struck in several places.

At Roselyn Mrs. Oliver Bennett was outdoors when the storm broke. The lightning struck her and ran down her right side, leaving bluish-black streaks, but did not kill her.

Several farm houses near Watertown were struck by lightning and burned. The roads were washed out in places and fallen trees block the highway in many parts of the country. It was the most severe storm in years although lasting only about an hour.

The storm was the severest of the season at Oyster Bay. Lightning struck and burned a barn owned by Thomas Young Jr. a New York broker killed one of the horses and stunned the coachman, Thomas Palmer, who was unconscious for several hours.

At West Sayville Seymour Burr was struck by lightning and severely burned. His condition is critical. Telegraph and telephone wires and poles were broken down there and communication was cut off.

Telegraph wires and trees were blown down at Port Jefferson and the force of the wind smashed the plate glass windows in some of the shops.

The heavy cover of Dr. Jones' water tank was carried eight yards off, where it brought up against a fence, demolishing it.

Up the Hudson the storm took the form of a whirlwind. In Nyac many houses were flooded and the streets were turned into streams. Cross walks were swept away and deep ruts washed into the roads.

Haverstraw also suffered, many brickyards having been flooded.

CONFIDENCE RETURNING.

It Looks Now as if the Gold Drainage Will Soon Be Ended.

A Perceptible Growth of Public Trust Noted in the Markets.

Special Correspondence to The Tribune.
NEW YORK, September 7, 1895.

The course of the financial markets is indicative of a steady growth of public trust. Each succeeding week, the wave of confidence gains increased force and is steadily carrying before it all the obstructions of distrust. It is more and more recognized that the elements which are making for improvement stand associated with natural forces, while those which have been unsettling confidence have been connected with the mere instruments of commerce. It still remains a question whether the latter factors—especially the condition of the treasury and the silver agitation—can materially obstruct the great natural recuperative forces that are now asserting their influence from one end of the country to the other and through the entire range of our industry. Perhaps the best answer to this question is in the fact that, for the last six months, the recuperative forces have been steadily gaining ascendency over those tending to derangement and distrust.

A more positive argument for confidence than this fact affords could hardly be conceived. It implies a settled conviction in the public mind that with a sound condition of the material interests of the country, the way will ere long be found for removing the fiscal and monetary conditions that now stand in the way to absolute confidence. And that conviction is a rational one. For although it may not be at this moment, generally apparent exactly when or how these financial derangements will be readjusted, yet there is nothing like an impossibility or even a substantial difficulty in the way of that achievement.

The gold question is beset by no such serious difficulty as a substantial deficiency of supply; the trouble there lies simply in a departure from the usual distribution and reservoirs and circulation and use of the metal. That disarrangement has arisen from no uncontrollable cause, but simply from a mistaken course in the fiscal usages of the treasury, which had the effect of depriving the banks of their customary receipts of gold from the government at the clearing house, thereby compelling them to almost entirely suspend gold payments and throwing the whole gold movement into suspension, to the detriment chiefly of the treasury itself. This confusion is susceptible of remedy the moment the treasury and the banks can be brought into conference, with a view to the restoration of their old relations in this matter, with such modification or safeguards as, under the circumstances may appear advisable. In the meantime, the loan syndicate continues its valuable services to the government by supplying the treasury with gold as fast as it is taken from the reserve for export, and having persisted in that course to the extent they already have it seems safe to assume that they will continue this support until the foreign exchanges have turned in our favor.

ARRANGING AN UNDERSTANDING.

The stage in affairs being reached, new possibilities will appear, favorable to the Syndicate crowning its remedial work by bringing the banks and Treasury to an understanding that will finally settle this embarrassing question. Judging from ordinary precedent, the current exports of gold may be expected to be followed within a moderate period, by imports of specie. Arguing from the way in which the Syndicate has been able to control the exports of gold and the foreign exchanges for months past, it is reasonable to assume that, if it were desirable in order to achieve an important purpose, they could, under the present plethora of gold in the European banks, swell the return of it to this side of the Atlantic.

The result of these movements would appear in a material increase of the stock of gold at this center. This replenishment of the specie in the city banks would remove the chief practical objection they have felt to a resumption of their former relations with the treasury. My information leads me to look forward to this approaching situation as the point at which the banks will return to the payment of customs duties chiefly in gold and to providing gold for export, the treasury at the same time settling its balances at the clearing house in gold, while the syndicate will retire from its services, leaving the circulation of gold restored to its normal condition.

The gold question having been thus settled, there need be little further fear about the silver agitation. The treasury reserve having been again place upon a safe foundation, the consequent recovery of confidence at home and abroad will produce a revival of business and a rise in all values which will annihilate the pretense that the depression of business and the fall in prices have been caused by the "demonetization of silver," and the free coinage of that metal will be relegated to the dead issues of popular ignorance.

THE PROBLEM OF LIFE.

'Tis but a fleeting hour;
'Tis but a passing shower,
Till life and all its dreams have fled,
To mingle with the dying and the dead.

By some are honors most highly won,
By others are duties most bravely done;
But to all must life end where it began
With the setting of this earthly sun.

'Tis true that all things must
To their native element return,
The bosom of the mother earth,
Shall be thy body's urn

And so to the life eternal
Must thy spirit soul return,
For God, the Almighty Father,
Is surely thy spirit's urn.

For would you live this earthly life
Of vain regrets and daily strife,
Were it not to reach that higher goal,
That life eternal, where dwells the soul?

The work of looking after luggage is now done by specialists in their line. Among these the People's Express and Transfer Company is in the lead. It calls for your trunks at your home or your hotel and checks them for you to any part of the United States. When you reach your destination your baggage is there also. It Gives New Life.

A well known citizen prostrated with the heat during the hot weather, was relieved by drinking a glass of the invigorating wine sold by Charles A. Appeldorn at his Oakland chowder house on Washington street near Seventh street. The wine inspired him with new life and was a sample of the many kinds sold by Mr. Appeldorn.

TO BE A MONTE CARLO.

Niagara Falls Is to Have a Magnificent Club House.

A Gigantic, Permanent Convention Hall Also to Be Erected.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 13.—The Express says:

Niagara Falls is to be the convention city of the future and the Monte Carlo of America.

Several plans are far advanced looking to the establishment of one of the most gigantic permanent convention halls ever conceived on this side of the Atlantic, and the erection of a club house which will be the wonder of the world.

Niagara Falls in future is going to be all that Saratoga has been, only on a scale surpassing anything ever thought of.

It is said the men interested in the scheme represent more than $100,000,000 in money and that they are able to carry the thing through without a hitch.

It is said that the club house to be erected will cost not less than $500,000, and will be run after the plan of Mitchell's house at Saratoga.

Both Mitchell and Daly are interested in the scheme, besides others whose names cannot be learned.

BORDER BANDITS.

Five Prominent Citizens Jailed as a Result of the Warfare.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

FORT SMITH Ark., Sept. 13.—Geo. McElroy, Henry Hook, Charles Hook, Dr. John McClland and Thomas Stufflebeam, prominent and respectable citizens of the Indian Nation, have been convicted in the United States court on four charges of deadly assault and arson.

Their case grew out of the attack by vigilantes upon the homes of Bruce and Eugene Miller, harborers of outlaws, near Jennings, O. T., on April 16th, 1894 In the fight 'Dutch John' was killed and Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, aged 70, and Herman Miller, aged 3, were wounded and both of the Millers' houses burned.

The defendants were tried and acquitted of the murder of "Dutch John."

They have been very conspicuous in their warfare upon the border bandits.

A MISSING MAN.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 13.—William E Cannon, a wholesale jeweler of this city, well known throughout Missouri and Kansas and a man of considerable wealth, has been missing since Monday.

He has been suffering from malaria and fears are entertained for his safety.

He had considerable money about him when last seen.

Cannon is six feet tall, of slender build, has blue eyes, light hair and light blonde mustache and is 35 years of age.

The Fund for the Wilmerding School Grows Steadily.

The Wilmerding School committee held a meeting last night. The reports of promised subscriptions were gratifying and the committee realizing that little time remains within which to raise the necessary amount are working with redoubled energy.

The residents of West Oakland want the school located in that end of town but are working hard to secure it for Oakland anyhow. Mr. King, who is prosecuting the canvass in that neighborhood reported that several hundred dollars have been promised.

The ladies have interested themselves in the school project and are doing good work. Voluntary subscriptions are still coming in, the latest being $100 from William Clift.

The report of the meeting last night showed a fund of nearly $5000.

HE ADVISES BLOODSHED.

A Prominent Alabama Populist on the Rights of Voters.

If the Opposition Is Not Recognized It Should Assert Itself.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 13.—Col. D S. Troy, one of the leading lawyers of the State, who recently joined the Populist party in the interest of honest elections and free silver, as he said, and whose plan for honest elections and a free silver convention, to meet in Birmingham November 13th next was adopted by the Populists, is out in a two column article in the State organ of the Populists, which makes interesting reading.

Colonel Troy endeavors to explain under what circumstances the use of force at voting places would be legal and justifiable.

He regards the wilful refusal of the county officials to have in the board of election inspectors an intelligent representative of the opposition whenever practical to do so as sufficient evidence of a fraudulent purpose to debauch the election franchise and an honest, law-abiding citizen, he asserts, has the same right to prevent the election being held by them as he has to prevent any other violation of the law in his presence.

He thinks that under these circumstances whatever force is necessary to stop the elections should be used, even though blood has to be shed.

MURDERED.

A Ghastly Tragedy Unearthed in Oklahoma.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

GUTHRIE, O. T., Sept. 13.—A week ago William Holland, a stockman living near Concord, disappeared, as did also his band of cattle.

His body has been found buried near his ranch with the head shot away and several knife stabs in the breast

Forty of the cattle have been recovered.

It is believed that two armed strangers who visited Holland's ranch committed the crime.

FORMALLY RATIFIED.

Rev. Dr. Law Is Now Official Pastor of the Church of the Advent.

The vestry of the Church of the Advent in East Oakland has ratified the call by the parishioners of Rev. V. Marshall Law as pastor of that church. Mr. Law has been acting as pastor of the Church of the Advent since the resignation of Dr. Lathrop. He will now be formally and publicly installed as pastor by the bishop.

The news is welcomed not only by Dr. Law's congregation but by the community in general for although he has been in Oakland but a short time he has already proved himself to be one of the most able clergymen on the coast. He is a deep thinker and well read and has the happy faculty of being able to apply his information for the benefit of others. He is a decided acquisition to the ministerial circles of the city.

MAY FIGHT WITH SPAIN.

Omnious Preparations Being Made in Official Circles.

It Is Thought That Grover Intends Recognizing Cuba's Rebels.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

CHICAGO, Sept 13.—A special to a local paper from Washington says:

"Information as to the recent secret work in the Navy Department has leaked out and the result is sufficient to justify the belief that President Cleveland is meditating seriously the possibility of hostilities between Spain and the United States in the near future.

"Whether the dispatch is due to a desire to recognize the Cubans as belligerents or an intention to be in a position to enforce the Mora claim is uncertain, but it cannot be denied that the State and Navy Department have been unusually active in the last few weeks. Certain branches of the Navy Department are now devoting their attention to the Cuban matter almost exclusively.

"Acting under recent orders from Secretary Herbert, some of the officers have been working extra time securing data whose character is such as to indicate that the President and Secretary Olney recognize the necessity of preparing for active intervention in the affairs of Cuba.

"Exhaustive reports, have been prepared for Secretary Herbert and the President on naval conditions for a descent on Cuba. The question of transports and the facilities for landing troops on the island has been looked into thoroughly and the results filed with the Secretary of the Navy."

DELAYED BY REQUEST.

City Attorney Peirsol Talks About the Street Car Cases.

City Attorney Peirsol was asked this morning what he had to say in reply to the statement by Councilman Bassett that an injunction preventing the Board of Public Works from pulling up the unused street car tracks on Adeline, Market and other streets in West Oakland had not been given the attention in the courts which the importance of the subject demanded.

Mr Peirsol said: "A temporary injunction holds until it is disposed of. I have filed my answer to the complaint made by the railroad company. I did that within the time allowed by law. After I had filed the answer I received a request from the property owners along the street car lines in question, asking that Sam Bell McKee and Maj. Mhoon be allowed to come into the case. The people who made the request are opposed to the maintenance of the tracks on the streets in question and wanted Mr. McKee and Maj. Mhoon to come in to help me in the matter. Maj. Mhoon has been away from the city for some time and I do not know when he will return. I do not think that he has got here yet The delay has not been occasioned by my action."

TO GET THE BEST MEN.

Trials to Be Held for the Coming Championship Contests.

Crum Will Have to Beat Wefers Before He Can Compete.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The publication of the official entries for the A. A. U. championship meeting has caused a great deal of speculation among all those who are interested in the final make-up of the international team.

Outside of the sprints there is very little speculation, because the first and second men who will wear the mercury foot colors are practically decided upon.

But uncertainty prevails regarding the sprints.

On Labor Day Crum defeated Lee, Goodwin and Wefers, and at Manhattan Field last week Wefers defeated Crum and Lee, so that it is a difficult matter to decide who are the two best men in America.

Should Crum win both events on Saturday he is sure of a place on the team, and those who have seen the speedy Westerner run predict a sure victory for him.

On present form the contest should be between Crum and Wefers, as Lee has fallen off perceptibly and is running yards behind his old form.

Champion Burke is in very good form and the Boston man is said to have a very fair chance of winning the quarter mile. Townsend, Goodwin and Coombes are also fast men.

The bicycle race will be the most representative class A event held in this section of the country this season. Among the starters is Hughes of Syracuse, who is a very fast man and may win. Dawson and Dickey of the New York Athletic club and Roome, Hunter and Darmer of the New Jersey Athletic Club.

Charles Kilpatrick, the peerless half mile runner, is in championship form and experts think he will win. Hipple and Remington will make a good run for second place. All the cracks are entered in the hurdle race, Stephen, Chase and Syms being among them

W. B. Rolers, Bloss Sheldon, Sweeney and others will contest in the broad jump. The high jump promises to be a sensational affair. Sweeney, the world's record holder, states that he will endeavor to break his record of 6 feet 5¾ inches

President Curtis has received a letter from the London Athletic Club team and the Cambridge team, thanking him for the invitation to attend the championship meeting, and they will attend in a body.

THE Y. W. C. A.

Everybody Pleased With the Handsome New Gavel.

The members of the Y. W. C. A. held a pleasant reception to their Oakland friends yesterday afternoon in their handsome home at 1021 Franklin street.

Owing to the unpleasant weather the ladies from San Francisco did not attend though they had intended to. Once inside the rooms, those present soon forgot the beating rain without and spent a most enjoyable afternoon.

During the reception Miss Marlette gave two delightful readings while music was furnished by two of St. John's choristers, Frankford Guy Kerner. These lads delighted the ladies by their singing and violin playing.

The gavel which had excited so much interest was placed on exhibition. It was designed by the ladies and made by Shreve and is the prettiest little hammer that ever called a meeting to order. It is of early California red wood and gold and is thoroughly emblematic of the Western State

On the handle is a gold plate bearing the inscription "Presented to the International Board of Y. W. C. A. by the Y. W. C. A. of Oakland and San Francisco" Before this is a miniature scene of the Golden State and an oak leaf, representing Oakland, it being a gift from the associations of the two cities

Mrs. P. D. Brown, who is at present in Montreal with her husband, intends visiting the convention if Mr Brown's health permits. To her will be given the honor of presenting the gavel, which will be forwarded to her shortly.

Among those present yesterday were: Mrs. Wolfenden, Mrs. Sharon, Mrs. Taggart, Mrs. Tryer, wife of the gentleman recently appointed to the seat of Oriental languages at Berkeley, Mrs. Graves, Mrs. Staples, Mrs. Van Kirk, Mrs. D. W. C. Gaskill, Miss Grace Bernard with nine Normal school pupils, Mrs. Halstead, Mrs. Burns, Mrs. Smith, Miss Stella Ames and others.

A CHILDREN'S CHORUS.

Professor Tomlins Arranges a Fine Musical Event.

Professor William L. Tomlins, musical director of the Columbian Exposition and acknowledged as the peer of any choral leader in the United States, will conduct the grand concert to be given next Monday evening at the First Congregational church. A chorus of 150 children, trained by Professor Tomlins, will be a feature of the concert. In addition there will be a number of distinguished soloists on the programme. The tickets have been placed at the very reasonable figure of 50 cents each. There has been a widespread interest taken in Professor Tomlins' methods and a very large audience will, it is confidently expected, hear Monday evening's musical treat.
